This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

+ Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
+ Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
+ Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
+ Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

GENERAL HEADQUARTERS, STATE OF NEW YORK,
ADJUTANT-GENERAL'S OFFICE,
ALBANY, December 30, 1905.

Hon. FRANK W. HIGGINS,

Governor and Commander-in-Chief, State of New York:

Sir.—I have the honor to submit the following as my report as Adjutant-General for the past year, 1905:

NATIONAL GUARD.

The organization, otherwise known as the organized militia, remains in force practically the same as stated in my last report, with the following changes:

Upon the recommendation of the commanding officer of the National Guard, the regimental organization of the First Regiment and the battalion organizations of the Fourth and Tenth Battalion were discontinued; the First Regiment was reorganized; Major Charles H. Hitchcock, late major of the First Regiment, was appointed to command and headquarters was established at Binghamton. A new regiment, designated the Tenth, was organized. Colonel Charles A. Denike was appointed to command, and headquarters was located at Albany.

The Seventeenth Separate Company, Second Brigade, Flushing, was transferred to the Third Brigade and attached to the Tenth Regiment.

The strength of the National Guard on September 30, 1904, was 899 commissioned officers and 14,078 enlisted men, aggregating 14,977 men. On September 30, 1905, its strength was 916 commissioned officers and 13,795 enlisted men, making the aggregate strength 14,711, showing a net loss in actual strength during the past year of 265 men.

There were the following changes in the personnel: total gains, 4,469; total losses, 4,734, a net loss in strength of 265 men as set forth in the following statement:

2. Resolved, That in the opinion of this board the executive officer of the national match should always be an officer of the regular establishment.

3. Resolved, That the National Rifle Association be requested to prepare suitable by-laws for affiliated clubs, and when the by-laws have been approved and the clubs become affiliated, the results of the practice should be collected by the National Rifle Association and forwarded to The Military Secretary of the Army annually.

4. Resolved, That rifles of private makers, conforming in all respects to the following:

A. The piece must be capable of using the standard Government cartridge;
B. It must be the same length and weight;
C It must be fitted with a sight similar in design to one of the standard military sights as adopted by the War Department; when viewed and stamped by the National Rifle Association, shall be permitted to be used by clubs duly affiliated with the National Rifle Association for qualification as national marksmen, and in matches where the rules permit any military rifle.

RULES AND REGULATIONS.*

The following regulations have been agreed upon by the National Board for the Promotion of Rifle Practice, appointed by the Secretary of War under authority of an act of Congress for the national match and other team competitions, individual matches, etc., and will, by direction of the Secretary of War, govern accordingly:

1. OFFICERS OF THE COMPETITIONS.—The executive officer will have control of the range for the conduct of the matches, and his decision shall be final.

2. The post adjutant, post quartermaster, and range officers will report to the executive officer, at his headquarters, each morning of the meeting at 8 o'clock, when the range officers will be assigned to their several stations and given their badge of office. A range officer desiring to be relieved from his post of duty will report to the executive officer, so that a substitute may be detailed. The post adjutant and post quartermaster, or their deputies, will be on duty continuously at headquarters.

3. The range officers will supervise the marking and scoring; they will see that the competitors do not evade any of the regulations; they will test the trigger pull of and examine at any time the rifles used by competitors and inspect the ammunition before the beginning of all matches, and will certify on the score cards to the scores made, after verifying same with the blackboard.

4. In individual matches the range officer will certify to the date, hour, and style of arm on the entry tickets of competitors about to begin their score, and when the score is finished he will certify to the same on both original ticket and coupon; the latter he will tear off and deposit in scorer's box, returning the original to the competitor.

5. In team matches the range officer will, at the completion of the score at each range, verify the scores on the score card with the blackboard, and see that they agree; when the match is finished he will add up the totals, certify to the correctness of same and return the card or cards to the statistical office.

6. The statistical officers will assign the competitors to targets and to order of firing, their determinations being generally made by lot. They will verify the addtions of the scores as reported by the scorekeepers, grade them in order of excellence, and prepare the results for official announcement.

7. During the shooting of all team competitions, a range officer shall be detailed to the pit at each distance who shall remain in the pit until the firing at that distance is finished. One representative from each team shall be selected by the team captain at each distance (before the drawing of the targets at that distance) who shall receive from the executive officer a card directing him to remain in the target pit during the firing at the distance about to be begun. The representatives from the various teams in the target pit will call to the attention of the range officer in the pit any irregularity of marking or other matter deemed by them necessary, and the decision of the range officer on the spot as to the matter complained of will be final and binding.

8. During the progress of a match or competition, no one except the officers on duty at the range, the competitors and scorekeepers, will be permitted within the ropes without special permission of the officer in charge.

9. The squads of competitors will be stationed five yards in rear of firing point, where each competitor must remain until called by the scorekeeper or range officer to take his position at the firing point and until he has completed his score.

10. All expression on the part of the competitor of approbation or disappointment, with reference to any scores made by himself or others, must not be uttered loud enough to be heard at the firing point.

11. PROTESTS.—Protests and objections must not be directly submitted to the officer in charge, but to one of the range officers. In case a competitor considers the decision of the latter unwarranted by the facts as presented, he may appeal to the executive officer. Final appeals from decisions of the executive officer must be made in writing and forwarded through that officer to the executive committee of the National Rifle Association or the association under whose auspices the meeting is being held. In national contests an appeal may be taken from the executive committee of the National Rifle Association to the national board authorized by act of Congress, etc., whose decision shall be final.

12. SCORING AND MARKING.—Hits in the different divisions of the targets and ricochets will be signaled and recorded as prescribed in the Small Arms Firing Regulations. Ricochets count as hits.

13. The exact location of all bullet holes will be marked by a spotter, which will be shown on the target.

14. All shots fired by the competitor after he has taken his place at the firing point, and it is his turn to fire—the target being ready—will be considered in his score, even if his piece is not directed toward the target, or is accidentally discharged.

15. Shots fired upon the wrong target will be entered upon the score of the man firing as a miss.

*The rules agreed upon by the national board have been adopted by the National Rifle Association of America and affiliated clubs.

16. In slow fire, if two shots strike a target at the same or nearly the same time, both will be signaled, and if a shot was just fired from the firing point assigned to that target, the hit having the higher of the two values signaled will be entered in the competitor's score, and no record made of the other hit.

17. The scorekeepers will be seated close to and in the rear of the firing-point stakes, and will, as each shot is signaled, announce in an audible tone the name of the competitor, the value of the shot, and number on score card, marking same on the blackboard and competitor's card. At the conclusion of the score of each competitor the scorekeeper will repeat his name and total score, and request the range officer on duty at that target to verify the blackboard and score card (no scores will be allowed unless recorded on a blackboard by the scorer as shot).

18. Competitors must pay attention to the score as announced and recorded, so that any error may be promptly investigated. The recorded value of any shot will not be changed after the following shot has been fired, unless some special message with reference to it is received from one of the range officers in the target pit.

19. Any alteration of a scoring card must be witnessed by the officer in charge of the firing point and indorsed with his initials.

20. At all the meetings where a number of men engage in the same matches or competitive firing, the labor of the statistical officers will be greatly lightened, and the prompt announcement of the score facilitated by giving to each competitor a number by which he is known throughout the firing, if practicable.

21. In individual matches, each competitor should be given a score card stating his target and order of firing, and containing a blank space for the record of shots fired, and for the signatures of the scorer and a range officer. These score cards should be printed on cardboard, using different colors for different ranges if practicable; but for all kinds of firing employing the same color for the same distance, as for instance: all score cards for 200 yards, yellow; for 300 yards, red; for 500 yards, blue; for 600 yards, white, etc. This rule will prevent such a mistake as a competitor shooting on a 300-yard score card, with its particular assignment of target, at 200 yards, as the scorekeeper quickly becomes familiar with the color corresponding to each distance. As scores are completed, a range officer detailed for that purpose should, without waiting for all the firing to cease, collect the records of the scores and transmit them to the statistical officers, who will enter them into the permanent record and their totals upon the bulletin sheets prepared for that purpose.

22. In skirmish fire, after the run is completed and the signal "Cease firing" has been sounded and repeated twice, the markers will examine the targets, the range officers will record the total hits on each, and the results will be communicated by means of prepared score cards to the statistical officers. In this fire the precautions with regard to the use of a red pencil in marking shot holes will be observed.

23. ARMS.—Team matches.—In all military matches the following arms only will be used, unless otherwise provided for in special conditions:

The United States Army magazine rifle and carbine, .30 caliber.

24. Individual matches (not exclusively military). The rifles and carbines allowed in competitions are as follows:

(a) Any military rifle.
(b) Any rifle.

They must comply with the following conditions:

Any military: Any military rifle that has been viewed and stamped by the National Rifle Association in accordance with the resolution heretofore adopted for this puspose by the National Board for the Promotion of Rifle Practice. (See page 5, of this order.)

Any rifle: No restriction as to weight, caliber, sights, or trigger pull, except that rifles with less than two pounds trigger pull must be provided with safety lock.

25. SIGHTS (MILITARY RIFLES).—The aiming notch, or the aperture of the slide, may be slightly widened or opened to accommodate individual peculiarities of eyesight, but no other alteration or filing of the regular service sights, or the use of spirit levels, will be permitted. The front or rear sights may, however, be blackened according to the judgment of the competitor. The use of permanently affixed micrometers, orthoptic eyepieces, telescope sights, spirit levels, temporary shades, or any other device will not be allowed, unless specially provided for in the conditions of the match.

Competitors in team or individual matches may use field glasses or small telescopes, such as might reasonably be carried in the field as a part of a soldier's equipment.

26. TRIGGER PULL.—The trigger pull must always be at least 3 pounds, and will be tested (holding the barrel vertically) by a range officer, before firing, each day and at each range.

27. Competitors will submit their arms for further inspection whenever required.

28. AMMUNITION.—Unless the use of other ammunition is distinctly authorized, the ammunition used will be the service cartridge for the arm, as manufactured and issued by the Ordinance Department. Any competitor having any ammunition in his belt or about his person when he takes his place at the firing stand, other than that authorized, will be immediately disbarred, and his score will not count for record.

29. FIRING, ORDER OF, ETC.—Military competitors will wear the service uniform, with or without blouse and with the belt. Sheds or shelters for the firer will not be permitted at the firing point at any range. Competitors must be present at the firing points punctually at the time, or in order stated on their score cards; no application on the part of a competitor for any alteration in his assignment will be entertained, except that team captains may change the order of firing of the members of their teams if they so desire.

30. In competitions or matches embracing more than one distance, the firing will be commenced at the shortest distance, and be followed in order by each of the longer distances, the firing at the longest range being held last.

31. In competitions, slow fire in any one day will be completed for all ranges before being followed by rapid fire.

32. In individual matches that are squadded, the squadding of the competitors will be done before the beginning of the match.

33. In slow fire, the competitors will place themselves at the firing point by twos and will fire alternately, the odd number of each pair being on the right and firing first.

34. In slow fire, if, just as the shot is fired, the target is withdrawn from the firing position, the scorer at that firing point will at once report the fact to one of the range officers, who, if upon investigation is satisfied that the case is as represented, will direct that the shot fired be not considered and that the competitor fire another shot.

35. In slow fire, competitors will not be hurried in their firing, but such slight delay permitted after each shot as they may desire; provided the time of firing the total score with rifle and carbine does not exceed an average of one minute per shot for ranges of 600 yards and less, and of two minutes per shot for ranges above 600 yards, no time credit being allowed.

If an accident to a target, or any other cause over which the competitor has no control, prevents him from completing his score within a reasonable interval, he will be permitted such additional time as a range officer may decide. The executive officer shall have power to extend the time in his discretion.

36. RAPID FIRE.—Target.—F at both ranges.

Procedure.—The magazine is filled, one cartridge loaded therefrom, and the piece then held at position "ready." At a signal given at the firing point (trumpet or telephone) the target appears, remains in sight twenty seconds at 200 yards and thirty seconds at 500 yards, then disappears. No sighting shots will be permitted. The competitor attempts to fire five shots, emptying the magazine and firing at will, without command, from the instant any portion of the target appears until it has completely disappeared. Each unfired cartridge counts as a miss. In case of a defective cartridge or disabled piece the practice is repeated.

Time is regulated at the target, the signal at the firing point being given as a warning to the noncommissioned officer, or person, in the pit in charge of the target that all is ready at the firing point for the target to appear.

Marking, rapid fire.—In rapid fire, with rifle or carbine, at the disappearing target, the noncommissioned officer, or person, in charge of the target, at the signal from the firing point, commands "Ready." As soon as all is in readiness to run up the target, he commands "Up." exactly twenty seconds after the target is in position he commands "Down," having preceded this command two or three seconds by the warning command "Ready." The target must be exposed and withdrawn as quickly as possible.

The number and value of the hits are signaled with the usual disks in the usual manner after the score has been fired, the number of misses being carefully indicated by the flag as a check on the accuracy of the number of hits signaled.

When the single rolling, or Cushing, target is used the method of marking will be varied to meet the conditions.

In rapid fire with the pistol at the disappearing target the manipulation of the target is as in rapid fire with the rifle or carbine, except that the target remains exposed ten, or eight, seconds instead of twenty.

37. Targets in fixed-distance team firing will be drawn at each range by team captains at the executive officer's headquarters.

38. Targets for skirmish firing, where teams run together, will be drawn by competitors immediately preceding the commencement of the runs. In skirmish competitions by teams, targets will be assigned by a range officer.

39. No two competitors shall shoot in any competition with the same rifle; nor shall a competitor change his rifle during any competition, unless his first rifle has become unserviceable through an accident, which must be verified by a range officer. Wilful or intentional violation of this regulation will warrant the officer in charge, in his discretion, excluding the offender from further competition.

40. CLEANING.—Pieces can only be cleaned upon the completion of a score. In competitions at more than one distance cleaning will be permitted between distances. While, with these restrictions, cleaning will be permitted, it will not be required. Cleaning will be allowed between shots when it is so specified in the conditions of the match.

41. Revolver and pistol.—In match shooting, competitors may clean their arms between scores or between series of shots, providing such cleaning does not delay the firing beyond the limit provided for in the conditions of the match.

42. COACHING.—No coaching or communication of any kind with men at the firing point will be permitted except by the team captain, and then only for the sole purpose of preventing infractions of the conditions of the match.

When competing for the Dryden Trophy, or in other special team matches, coaching is authorized.

43. In team matches, at least three yards in rear of each firing point, there will be permitted one team captain, one coach, and one spotter, who may observe the firings of the members of their team and check the value of each shot as called by the scorer. The captain, coach, and spotter shall not be permitted to shield a competitor from the wind, throw a shade upon his sight, or aid him in any other way.

44. In skirmish competitions by teams, the teams will run under the command of the team captain, who may coach his men on the run. One or more range officers will accompany each team to see that the conditions of the match are not violated.

45. SIGHTING SHOTS.—In all matches pool targets shall be abolished, and two sighting shots at each range, slow fire, provided for, which must be taken. Whenever, because of storm, or for any other reason, the executive officer shall potpone an unfinished match, two sighting shots will be allowed on the unfinished score of each man when the match is resumed.

46. TIES.—Ties will be decided as follows:

(a) In individual shooting, at known distances—

(1) When the firing takes place at more than one distance, by the total score made at the longest distance, and if still a tie, and there be three or more distances in the competition, by the total score at the second distance, and so on for each of the successive distances.

(2) By the fewest misses in the entire score.

(3) By the fewest outers in the entire score.

(4) By the fewest inners in the entire score.

(5) If still a tie, by inverse order of shooting, singly from the last to the first.

(6) By firing single shots at the longest range.

(7) In case a tie is of the highest possible score, extra shots will be fired by those tieing until the tie is broken.

Digitized by Google

(b) In team shooting at known distances—
(1) By the aggregate of the total scores made at the different distances in inverse order.
(2) By the fewest misses in the entire score.
(3) By the fewest outers in the entire score.
(4) By the fewest inners in the entire score.
(5) By the totals, for the team, of the final shot of each competitor.
(6) By the totals, for the team, of these successive closing shots in inverse order.

When the ties are to be divided, it must be so stated in the conditions of the match; but the winners may by mutual consent divide the prizes.

47. Ties, when rapid fire is included in the match, will be decided as follows:

(a) In slow and rapid fire—
(1) By the highest total score made in rapid fire; if still a tie, by the highest score made in rapid fire at 500 yards; if still a tie, by the highest score in rapid fire at 300 yards; if still a tie, by the highest score in rapid fire at 200 yards. In the same manner the decision will be regulated by the highest total scores in succession made at 600, 500, 300, and 200 yards, slow fire.
(2) By the fewest misses in rapid fire.
(3) By the greatest number of hits on figure in rapid fire.
(4) By the fewest misses in slow fire.
(5) By the fewest outers in slow fire.
(6) By the fewest inners in slow fire.
(7) If still a tie, by firing single shots at the longest range, slow fire.

48. In skirmish fire—
(1) By the greatest number of penalties imposed.
(2) By the greatest number of hits.
(3) By the fewest hits in kneeling figures.
(4) If still a tie, a special run in skirmish fire.

49. Ties, when rapid and skirmish fires are included in the aggregate score, will be decided by giving precedence to the competitor having the best total score in the skirmish fire. If the scores in the skirmish fire are also of the same total, the order of merit for that fire (and therefore the final order of merit) will be determined in accordance with paragraph 47.

50. PENALTIES.—No two competitors shall in any match or competition use the same rifle, unless it is a special condition of the match, nor shall a competitor change his rifle during any competition, unless it has become unserviceable, which fact must be verified by a range officer. Wilful violation of this regulation will warrant the executive officer (in his discretion) in excluding the competitor from further competition.

51. Any person, whether a competitor or not, interfering with any of the firing squads, or annoying them in any way, will be warned to desist, and if he repeats the offense he will be at once ordered off the range grounds.

52. Any competitor—
(a) Who shall fire in a name other than that under which he entered, or who shall fire twice for the same prize, unless permitted by the conditions of the competition to do so;
(b) Who shall be guilty of any conduct considered by the executive committee to be discreditable;
(c) Who shall be guilty of falsifying his score or being accessory thereto;
(d) Who shall offer a bribe of any kind to any employee or other person;
(e) Who shall be detected in an evasion of the conditions prescribed for the conducting of any match;
(f) Who shall refuse to obey any instructions of the executive officer or a range officer;
(g) Who shall be guilty of disorderly conduct or being intoxicated, shall, upon the offense being proved to the satisfaction of the executive committee, forfeit all his entrance fees, be forever disqualified from competing at any time in the meetings of the Association, and shall not be entitled to have any prize won by him at the time of meeting awarded to him.

53. POSITIONS.—Rifle and carbine.—The following positions only will be permitted in competitive firing; At 200 yards, the standing position, the body and arm being free from any artificial support; at 300 yards, sitting or kneeling; at 500, 600, 800, 900, and 1,000 yards, prone, with head toward target.

The use of the strap as a sling permitted at all ranges, provided it is attached to its proper swivels and is used only in connection with the arm of the competitor as a brace.

54. ENTRIES.—Competitors who make entries for any match will be ruled out and will forfeit their entrance fees if not on the range at the hour designated for the match.

55. Entry tickets must be marked with the purchaser's name at the time of the purchase; they may be transferred to another name with the consent of the executive officer; any erasure or substitution of a purchaser's name on a ticket, not made by the statistical officer, will forfeit the ticket.

56. All entries made in individual matches after the opening of the meeting will be post entries.

57. No entry fee will be refunded unless the competitor is prevented by sickness from appearing on the range, and then only on order of the executive officer.

58. Team captains can expedite matters by securing from the statistical officer blank forms of entry in advance, and having them filled out with the names of the team, which should be written plainly and in full, with military rank, if any.

59. Entry tickets for individual matches will not be exchanged under any circumstances.

60. All entries not otherwise provided for in the program must be made not later than thirty minutes before the hour for calling the match.

61. All civilians, as well as members of the organized militia, Army, Navy, and Marine Corps, are eligible to compete in all the individual matches that are open to everybody, provided they shoot with the arm called for in the conditions of the match.

62. HANDICAP.—In all team and individual matches the carbine will be allowed a handicap of 4 per cent at 600 yards; 6 per cent at 800, 900, and 1,000 yards.

63. No handicap will be allowed unless noted on score card by a range officer. Competitors must see that this is done.

64. CHALLENGES.—If a competitor desires to challenge his shot just fired, either for alleged incorrect marking or from failure of any record from the pit of such shot, he must pay 50 cents.

Digitized by Google

If competitors' challenge is sustained, the money will be returned to him. If a competitor in the national match desires to challenge his shot just fired for alleged incorrect marking, he must pay $1. If the competitor's challenge is sustained, the money will be returned to him.

65. HOURS OF FIRING.—Assembly will be sounded and firing begun at 8 o'clock a. m. and "Cease firing" will be sounded at 6 p. m., unless otherwise ordered by the executive officer.

66. The range will be closed for an hour in the middle of the day for lunch.

67. SKIRMISH FIRING.—In skirmish fire, twenty cartridges will be issued before each run to each competitor and the latter will not be permitted to have any other cartridges about his person. If any cartridge fails to explode it will be replaced by the scorer with a new one. If a gun becomes disabled, the incomplete score will not be considered, but the competitor will repeat the run. Hits, direct or ricochet, will be scored.

68. In individual skirmish competitions no two competitors from the same team shall be allowed to skirmish on adjoining targets.

69. SKIRMISH FIRING.—In skirmish competitions the group target "G" will be used, one group for each skirmisher. Targets in line, with intervals of not less than 5 yards between centers of groups. The value of shots: hit, direct or ricochet, on lying figure, 5; kneeling 4; miss, 0. Hits on or within the steel frame only count.

70. In skirmish competitions, each competitor will fire twenty shots, 700 to 200 yards. Six halts at the following distances: 600, 500, 400, 350, 300, and 200 yards. At all distances, with the exception of the 200 yards, the time limit will be thirty seconds, and at the 200 yards twenty seconds. Any authorized position for firing will be permitted.

71. SKIRMISH FIRE.—Target.—Group target G. One group for each skirmisher. Targets in line, with intervals of not less than 5 yards between centers of groups.

Procedure.—A squad of convenient number is formed in line opposite the targets at a distance exceeding 600 yards; twenty rounds of ammunition per man are issued; magazines are filled and cut off, and, in accordance with Infantry Drill Regulations, the line is advanced in quick time to the 600-yard firing line. Here the line is halted and each skirmisher, withour further command, takes one of the authorized positions and at the preparatory command fot firing loads his piece from the belt.

The commands for firing are: 1. Fire two rounds, 2. At 600 yards, 3. At the targets, 4. COMMENCE FIRING. After the command of execution the firing opens at will and each skirmisher fires two rounds within the time limit of thirty seconds, the piece being used as a single-loader. At the expiration of time limit the command "Cease firing" will have been given.

The firing having ceased, the advance is resumed and continued to the 500-yard firing line, where two rounds are fired in the same manner as at 600 yards; the advance then continues to the 400 and 350 yard firing lines, at each of which three rounds are similarly fired, and then to 300 and 200 yards, at each of which five rounds are fired from the magazine. The time limit at 200 yards, it should be noted, is twenty instead of thirty seconds, as at the other halts. Commands, in all cases, conform to the Infantry Drill Regulations.

The advance between 600 and 200 yards will be, between any two successive halts, the first half at quick and the second at double time; and it is enjoined upon the range officer to see that the double time is maintained as nearly as possible according to Infantry Drill Regulations, i. e., length of step 36 inches, and cadence 180 steps per minute. The firing is completed at 200 yards.

Pieces will not be loaded during the advance, but only at the preparatory command for firing after a halt.

The time limit extends from the last note of "commence firing" to the last note of "cease firing." The range officer will see that the signals are properly sounded, not permitting the last note of "cease firing" to be unduly prolonged. For each shot fired by the competitor before the commencement or after the close of the time limit, or for each shot fired in excess of the number ordered for the halt, five points will be deducted from his score. Five points will also be deducted for a failure to fire the number prescribed for a halt. A defective cartridge may be replaced by a file closer, but must be turned in before the advance is resumed. The substituted cartridge must be fired, if at all, at the halt where the misfire occurred and before "cease firing" shall have been sounded. A piece disabled through no fault of the firer entitles the latter to another run.

Competitors will not be permitted to advance nearer than 200 yards from the targets.

When more than twenty hits are found in a group target, the score will not be counted, and the competitor will make another run.

In this class of fire the muzzle of the rifle must be pointed toward the targets when marching or at the halts.

72. In skirmish competitions, where teams run as teams, the team captain will direct the firing of the team under the supervision of a range officer. The aggregate value of all shots in all the figures of the groups will be the team's total for the run.

73. In skirmish competitions, where teams run together, the firing will be directed by a range officer detailed for that purpose. Each competitor will be assigned to a group target. No two competitors from the same team will be allowed to skirmish on adjoining groups.

74. GENERAL.—In case any member of a team becomes ill during the shooting, the executive officer may, in his discretion, upon certificate of the post surgeon, permit the substitution of an alternate member of the same team in place of the one taken ill.

75. Prizes not claimed within thirty days after having been won shall be forfetited to the Association.

76. No arms shall be loaded except at the firing point, the muzzle of the rifle, pistol, or revolver being kept in the direction of the target till the arm is either discharged or unloaded.

77. These regulations and such special rules or directions as the executive officer may give must be rigidly complied with by competitors and all other persons upon the range grounds.

78. Competitors and all others connected with the competitions must make themselves acquainted with the foregoing regulations as well as with the conditions of competitive firing in which they may be participating, as the plea of ignorance of either of them will not be entertained.

EXTRACT FROM THE ACT OF CONGRESS APPROVED AUGUST 6 1894.

Provided, That nothing in the Act entitled "An Act to increase the number of officers of the Army to be detailed to colleges," approved November third, eighteen hundred and ninety-three, shall be so construed as to prevent, limit, or restrict the detail of retired officers of the Army at institutions of learning under the provisions of section twelve hundred and sixty, Revised Statutes, and the Act making appropriations for the support of the Army, and so forth, approved May fourth, eighteen hundred and eighty, forbid the issue of ordnance and ordnance stores, as provided in the Act approved September twenty-sixth, eighteen hundred and eighty-eight, amending section twelve hundred and twenty-five, Revised Statutes, to the

EXTRACT FROM THE ACT OF CONGRESS APPROVED FEBRUARY 26, 1901.

SECTION 1. * * * That section twelve hundred and twenty-five of the Revised Statutes concerning the detail of officers of the Army and Navy to educational institutions, be, and the same is hereby, amended so as to permit the president to detail under the provisions of that Act, and in addition to the detail of the officers of the Army and Navy now authorized to be detailed under the existing provisions of said Act, such retired officers of the Army and Navy of the United States as in his judgment may be required for that purpose, to act as instructors in military drill and tactics in schools in the United States, where such instruction shall have been authorized by the educational authorities thereof, and where the services of such instructors shall have been applied for by said authorities.

SEC. 2. That no detail shall be made under this Act to any school unless it shall pay the cost of commutation of quarters of the retired officers detailed thereto and the extra-duty pay to which the latter may be entitled by law to receive for the performance of special duty: Provided, That no detail shall be made under the provisions of this Act unless the officers to be detailed are willing to accept such position without compensation from the Government other than their retired pay.

SEC. 3. That the Secretary of War is authorized to issue at his discretion, and under proper regulations to be prescribed by him, out of ordnance and ordnance stores belonging to the Government, and which can be spared for that purpose, upon the approval of the governors of the respective States, such number of the same as may be required for military instruction and practice by such school, and the Secretary shall require a bond in each case, for double the value of the property, for the care and safe-keeping thereof and for the return of the same when required.

The details authorized by section 1260, Revised Statutes, as amended by the act approved May 4, 1880, and by the act approved February 26, 1901, will be in addition to, the number allowed by section 1225, Revised Statutes, and the amendments thereof, and may be made to incorporated institutions of learning of the requisite grade in any State, without reference to population or to the number of officers already serving therein.

2. The following apportionment, in accordance with the foregoing laws and the census of 1900, is adopted, and details will be made in accordance therewith:

CLASSIFICATION.

3. The following regulations, in regard to the detail of officers of the Army at established colleges, universities, etc., within the United States, are prescribed by the President, under the above laws

All institutions, within the meaning of section 1225, Revised Statutes of the United States, and of the acts of Congress amendatory thereof, shall, for purposes of the detail of officers of the Army, active and retired, as professors of military science and tactics and of the course of military instruction to be pursued thereat, be divided into four classes, as follows:

CLASS A.—Military schools or colleges, i. e., those whose organization is essentially military and one of whose primary objects is the acquisition of a high degree of military drill and discipline.

CLASS B.—Agricultural schools established under the provisions of the act of Congress of July 2, 1862, and which are required by said act to include military tactics in their curriculum.

CLASS C.—All schools not essentially military which maintain a course of military instruction equal or superior in character and hours of instruction to that requried from institutions of Class B.

CLASS D.—All other schools at which officers of the Army may be detailed and which do not maintain a course of military instruction equal to that required of intitutions of Class B, and at which such instruction is regarded as nominal.

4. The War Department will classify all institutions and make necessary changes of classification.

5. The six institutions, which may be annually reported as hereinafter provided, whose students have exhibtied the greatest application and proficiency in military training and knowledge shall be specially designated, in addition to the above classification, as "Distinguished Institutions," and the year or years in which distinguished shall be added.

DETAILS OF OFFICERS.

6. No officer who has not had five years' service as such, nor any officer not of the line of the Army, shall be eligible for detail as professor of military science and tactics. All details from the retired list shall, under the provisions of act of November 3, 1893, be included in the limited number of details authorized by that act.

7. Details shall be made to begin with the school term; and in the case of officers of the active list shall be for a period of three years, except when the detail becomes vacant from any cause, the unexpired term of such officer, if six months or less, shall be added to the three years' detail of his successor; otherwise the detail shall terminate two years after the close of the school year in which the professor of military science and tactics begins his duties as such. The detail of a retired officer shall be for four years. No retired officer above the rank of major shall be detailed as a professor of military science and tactics unless in connection with his duties as such he is to hold the position of president, superintendent, or principal of the institution.

8. When an officer is detailed to relieve another as professor of military science and tactics, he shall report at the institution to which assigned not less than two weeks prior to the departure of his predecessor.

9. Applications for the detail of officers must be addressed by the president of the institution to The Military Secretary of the Army and be accompanied by the last printed catalogue and a certificate as to the number of male students the institution has the capacity in buildings, apparatus, and instructors, to educate at one and the same time; the number of such students in actual attendance at the time of application, or, if the application is made during vacation, the number actually in attendance during the session immediately preceding it; and the number over 15 years of age. The certificate must also show the grade of the institution, the degrees it confers, and whether or not it is a land-grant school, or a military school.

10. Where a State has more than one school endowed by the national land grant, under the act approved July 2, 1862, the school which is reported by the governor of the State as most nearly meeting the requirements of existing law shall be held to have the first claim to the officer allotted to the State for detail at a land grant college.

11. When application is made for the detail of an officer of the Army at an institution to which an officer had not theretofore been assigned, it shall be visited by an inspector or other suitable officer, who shall report to the War Department whether such a detail should be made.

12. No detail of professor of military science and tactics shall be made at any institution which does not guarantee to maintain at least 100 pupils under military instruction.

DUTIES OF OFFICERS.

13. The professor of military science and tactics shall render a quarterly report to The Military Secretary of the Army of the whole number of undergraduate students in the institution capable of performing military duty, the number required by the institution to be enrolled as military students, the average attendance at drills, the number absent, the number and kind of drills, recitations and lectures, or other instruction had during the quarter, and the number reported for discipline. He shall retain copies of all reports and correspondence and transfer them to the officer who may succeed him, or forward them to the office of The Military Secretary of the Army should the detail expire. On the graduation of every class he shall obtain from the president of the college and report to The Military Secretary of the Army the names of such students belonging to the class as have shown special aptitude for military service, and furnish a copy thereof to the adjutant-general of the State for his information. At those institutions which grade the department of military science and tactics equally with the other important branches of instruction, and which make proficiency in that department a requisite for securing a diploma, the names of the three most distinguished students in said department shall, when graduated, be inserted in the United States Army Register.

14. The military department shall be subject to inspection under the authority of the President of the United States; such inspections to be made, when practicable, in the months of April or May. The inspecting officer shall, upon his arrival at the institution, report to the president or other administrative officer, in order to obtain from him the necessary facilities for the performance of his duty. A copy of the report of inspection will be furnished the president of the institution by the War Department.

15. The officer detailed as professor of military science and tactics shall reside at or near the institution to which assigned, and when in the performance of his military duties shall appear in proper uniform. He shall, in his relations to the institution, observe the general usages and regulations therein established affecting the duties and obligations of other members of the faculty. He shall not perform any other duties than those of instructor in military science and tactics, except by special permission of the War Department.

16. It is the duty of the professor of military science and tactics to enforce proper military discipline at all times when students are under military instruction, and in case of serious breaches of discipline or misconduct, to report the same to the proper authorities of the institution, according to its established methods. In case no suitable action is taken by the authorities of the institution, the professor of military science and tactics shall report the facts to The Military Secretary of the Army.

ORGANIZATION.

17. Pupils under military instruction shall be organized into companies and battalions of infantry, the drill and administration of which shall conform, as far as possible, to that of the Army.

18. All rules and orders relating to the organization and government of the military students; the appointment, promotion, and change of officers, and all other orders affecting the military department, except those relating to routine duty, shall be made and promulgated by the professor of military science and tactics after being approved by the chief administrative officer of the institution.

19. Upon occasions of military ceremony, in the execution of drills, guard duty, and when students are receiving any other practical military instruction, they shall appear in the uniform prescribed by the institution. They shall be held strictly accountable for the arms and accouterments issued to them.

20. In the administration of each cadet battalion the adjutant, assisted by the sergeant-major, shall keep a better book, an order look, a roster, and a consolidated morning-report book. The quartermaser, assisted by the quartermaster sergeant, shall keep a book containing a record of all issues of Government property, with the receipts of those to whom issued. Each captain shall keep a morning-report book and, where necessary for the regulation of duty, a roster.

INSTRUCTION.

21. At every institution of Class B, at which a professor of military science and tactics is detailed, it shall be provided in its regular schedule of studies that at least three hours per week for two years, or the equivalent thereof, shall be assigned for instruction in the military department, not less than two-thirds of the total time to be devoted to practical drill, including guard mounting and other military ceremonies, and the remainder to theoretical instruction.

22. The character of instruction will vary according to the nature of the institutions and the facilities afforded, but instruction of Classes A, B, and C shall include practical instruction in the following subjects:

Infantry drill regulations.
Field service regulations.
Manual of guard duty.
Firing regulations for small arms.

Digitized by Google

23. Theoretical instruction shall include the portions of the above subjects covered by the practical instruction, and may be supplemented by lectures.

DISTINGUISHED INSTITUTIONS.

24. The reports of the regular inspection of the colleges and schools to which officers of the Army are detailed as professors of military science and tactics will hereafter be submitted annually to the General Staff for its critical examinations; and the Chief of Staff shall report to the Secretary of War from the institutions which have maintained a high standard the six whose students have exhibited the greatest application and proficiency in military training and knowledge.

The President of the United States authorizes the announcement that an appointment as second lieutenant in the Regular Army will be awarded annually to an honor graduate of each of the six institutions thus designated, provided that sufficient vacancies exist after the appointment of graduates of the Military Academy at West Point and the successful competitors in the annual examination of enlisted men. By the term honor graduates is understood a graduate whose attainments in scholarship have been so marked as to receive the approbation of the president of the school or college, and whose proficiency in military training and knowledge and intelligent attention to duty have merited the approbation of the professor of military science and tactics.

The student recommended must be a member of the graduating class of the year in which the appointment is made, must be a citizen of the United States, unmarried, not less than twenty-one nor more than twenty-seven years years of age, of exemplary habits and good moral character, and must be able to pass the examination required by existing regulations of candidates for appointment from civil life to the grade of second lieutenant in the Regular Army.

In each of the six institutions designated, the president and the professor of military science and tactics, acting jointly, will select two honor graduates, one as principal and one as alternate. In case the president and the professor of military science and tactics can not agree in the selection, they will forward separate reports for the consideration and decision of the Chief of Staff. In case of the failure of the principal, the alternate shall, if he successfully pass the examination, be given the appointment.

ISSUE OF ARMS, ETC.

25. The following are the regulations prescribed for the issue of arms, etc., required for military instruction and practice at colleges, universities, etc., under section 1225, Revised Statutes, and the amendments thereof:

26. As the appropriations for the supply of ordnance and ordnance stores to the Army are very limited, and as the language of the law restricts the issues that can be made to colleges to such as "can be spared for that purpose," issues of ordnance and ordnance stores to colleges will be limited to arms and the equipments and implements necessary to enable them to be used by the students for purposes of drill, parade, and similar exercises, but not for field and encampment purposes.

27. Only such ordnance and ordnance stores as are enumerated in the following paragraphs will be issued for the purpose of military instruction to each selected college and university having an officer of the Army stationed thereat.

28. The field pieces of artillery, with their carriages and implements, will be limited to the following, viz:

2 muzzle-loading wrought-iron rifled guns, caliber 3 inches.
2 carriages and limbers for 3-inch gun.
2 gunner's haversacks.
2 trail handspikes.
4 lanyards.
2 priming wires.
4 sponges and rammers, 3-inch.
4 sponge covers, 3-inch.
2 tube pouches.
4 thumb stalls.
2 tompions, 3-inch.
2 vent covers.
1 pendulum hausse, 3-inch.
1 pendulum-hausse seat.
1 pendulum-hausse pouch.
2 paulins, 12 by 15 feet.
Targets, streamers, and marking disk for institutions of Classes "B" and "C."

29. When in the opinion of the Chief of Ordnance the supply on hand will permit, there may be issued in lieu of the foregoing two of the 3.2 inch breech-loading steel field guns, with their carriages and implements, as above.

30. The small arms issued to any college will be the Springfield "Cadet" rifles, similar to those which were supplied the United States Military Academy at West Point, but in no case will the number of rifles issued be in excess of the number of male students in regular attendance and actually receiving military instruction.

31. The accouterments to be issued with the Cadet rifles will consist of a bayonet scabbard, cartridge box, gun sling, waist belt, and waist-belt plate.

32. The service noncommissioned officer's sword can be issued for the use of the officers and noncommissioned officers of the Corps of Cadets. The sliding frog will enable these swords to be worn on the ordinary waist belt.

33. A limited number of cavalry sabers and belts (for purposes of instruction only) will be issued when satisfactory evidence of their necessity is presented.

34. Issue of the above stores will be made by the Chief of Ordnance to any selected institution upon its filing a bond in the penal sum of double the value of the property, conditioned that it will fully insure, take good care of, and duly keep and account for the same, and will, when required by the Secretary of War, duly return the same, within thirty days, in good order, to the Chief of Ordnance, United States Army, or such other officer or person as the Secretary of War may designate to receive them.

35. For practice firing, the following allowances of ammunition will be made annually to each of the various institutions, viz: One hundred blank cartridges and 300 friction primers for 3-inch, or for 3.2-inch breech-loading gun, as the case may be. Projectiles will not be issued for the field guns.

36. Ammunition for rifle target practice will be issued annually at the rate of 50 carbine ball cartridges (or their equivalent value in reloading material, reloading tools, or target supplies) for each cadet actually engaged in target practice, but there shall not be issued to any college more than 7,500 ball cartridges in any one year. Where it is not deemed practicable to have target practice, a limited quantity of rifle blank cartridges will be furnished for instruction in firing. This ammunition will be issued upon requisition to be forwarded to the Chief of Ordnance by the presidents or superintendents of the institutions; and as annual allowances date in all cases from July 1 of each year, requisitions should be forwarded before or as soon after that date as practicable for the current year's supply. Undrawn allowances of one year can not be drawn in the succeeding year.

37. The reloading material, reloading tools, and target supplies which can be drawn as part of the ammunition allowance for target practice are:

(a) Reloading materials, consisting of—
Small-arms powder.
Carbine bullets.
Round balls.
Cartridge primers.

(b) Reloading tools, consisting of—
1 set of hand reloading tools (bench reloading tools are not issued to colleges).

(c) 1 bullet mold, casting 4 balls.
1 melting ladle.
1 pouring ladle.

(d) Target supplies, consisting of—
Paper targets A and B, and centers for these targets.
Paper targets for gallery practice.
Pasters, white and black.

38. When tools for reloading rifle cartridges or implements for casting lead balls for gallery practice have been issued to colleges, the parts required to keep them in good order may be issued when requested, and charged against the money value of the annual ammunition allowance.

39. All ordnance and ordnance stores issued to colleges must be kept insured by the college authorities for their full invoice value, as shown in the bond, and the Chief of Ordnance promptly informed when and where the insurance is placed.

40. The transportation of ordnance and ordnance stores from the Government arsenals to institutions of learning, and from institutions of learning back to Government arsenals, is always without expense to the United States.

41. The colleges to which issues of ordnance and ordnance stores are made, under bonds given as required by law, will be required to keep said property in like good and serviceable condition as when issued by the Government, and for this purpose the spare parts, implements and appendages necessary for this purpose will be sold to them at cost price on application to the Chief of Ordance.

42. When ordnance and ordnance stores are returned to the Ordnance Department by any institution of learning, they will be carefully examined when received at the arsenal, and if they are found imperfect or unserviceable by reason of carelessness or other causes than legitimate use in service, the damage will have to be made good to the United States.

43. The cost of all missing property must be made good to the United States.

44. When any of the ordnance or ordnance stores become unfit for further use the president of the college will report the fact to the Chief of Ordnance and he will authorize the college to send them to an arsenal without expense to the United States. On reaching the arsenal the property will be inspected by an officer of the Ordnance Department and if its condition is found to be due to the ordinary incidents of service it may be replaced with serviceable stores of like character, but if its condition is found to be due to carelessness or other than legitimate causes the extent of damage or value of missing stores will be determined by the Chief of Ordnance and must be paid by the college before any new issue of stores is made.

45. The guns and carriages must not be allowed to remain out doors with only the paulins as a protection from the weather, but they must be housed in a suitable shed and habitually kept there except when used for drills or saluting purposes.

46. Regular property returns will be rendered quarterly to the Chief of Ordnance by each president or superintendent of an institution supplied with arms, etc., accounting for all ordnance and ordnance stores issued to the institution under his charge. These returns will be made on the blank forms to be supplied by the Chief of Ordnance.

47. Failure on the part of any institution of learning to comply with the foregoing regulations, or any others that may be prescribed by the Chief of Ordnance for the care, preservation or accountability of any ordnance or ordnance stores issued to it by the United States, will be considered sufficient cause for the prompt withdrawal by the Secretary of War of the Government property in its possession.

48. Whenever any institution shall fail to return the public property in its charge within thirty days after demand made by the Secretary of War, the delinquency will be peremptorily referred to the Attorney-General, that the bond of the institution may forthwith be put in suit.

49. The following is the form of bond to be executed previous to the issue of ordnance and ordnance stores, viz.:

FORM OF BOND.

and bound to the United States of America in the penal sum of eight thousand four hundred and seventy-two dollars and ninety cents* ($8,472.90), for the payment of which well and truly to be made to the Secretary of War, or to such officer or person whom he may designate, we do bind ourselves and each of us, our successors, heirs, executors and administrators for and in the whole, jointly and severally, firmly by these presents. I, Elmer S. Dundy, hereby certify that the sureties who have signed the foregoing bond are personally known to me, and that each is responsible and sufficient to insure the payment of the entire penalty named therein.

ELMER S. DUNDY,
Judge of the District Court of the United States, in and for the State of Illinois.

THE FOLLOWING INSTRUCTIONS MUST BE STRICTLY OBSERVED IN PREPARING THE BOND REQUIRED TO BE FURNISHED THE CHIEF OF ORDNANCE, U. S. A., BEFORE ANY ARMS, ETC., CAN BE OBTAINED BY ANY COLLEGE.

50. A copy of the record of the adoption of the resolution of the board of directors or governing body of the institution including also the record of the resolution itself, authorizing the president to execute the bond on behalf of the corporation, authenticated by the signature of the secretary and the corporate seal, must accompany the bond.

51. A copy of the charter or articles of incorporation, authenticated by the secretary of state, is also required.

52. The sureties must sign and seal the bond. The seal must be attached opposite the signature of each person and must be a seal of wax, wafer, or other adhesive substance, not a mere scroll with a pen. Their names must be written in the body of the bond, together with their residence, including town, county, State, or Territory.

53. Two witnesses are required to each signature.

54. There must be two sureties when individuals are the sureties. Each surety must make oath that he is worth some specific sum, equal to the full amount of the penalty, over and above all his debts and liabilities. Two persons must not join in one affidavit. Each one must subscribe and acknowledge his own oath separately. The sufficiency of the sureties must be certified to by some United States judge or district attorney, whose official character must be certified to by the clerk of his court, such certificate to be on or attached to the bond.

55. Incorporated surety companies which have complied with the requirements of the War Department will also be accepted as surety on the bond, and in this case only one surety is required.

56. A college corporation desiring ordnance or ordnance stores for the use of the college must furnish evidence that some one is authorized to execute in its behalf the bond which the law requires.

57. This authority can only be given by the governing body of the corporation, i. e., the body invested with authority to employ the faculty and make all other contracts in its behalf and designated in the charter of the corporation as board of regents, board of trustees, etc., and this body must give the authority in the formal way in which it does other business, the action taken being recorded as a part of the proceedings of the meetings at which it was taken. The evidence of this authority required to be furnished to this office will be an extract from the record of the proceedings of the board of regents, or board of trustees, showing that the board met in its official capacity, that a resolution was offered authorizing some person by name to execute the required bond for the corporation, and that this resolution was adopted; and this extract must be certified, under the corporate seal, to be a true extract from the record of the proceedings of the board, by the secretary or other custodian of the records. His certificate that the authority has been conferred, or that such a resolution was passed, is not sufficient. The record speaks for itself, and a copy of so much of it should be furnished as will show that it purports to be a record of the board, that the resolution was offered, and that it was passed.

58. Great pains should be taken to use the name given the corporation by its charter, and to mention in the resolution the particular bond to be given.

59. It is desired that a copy of the charter be sent to the Chief of Ordnance, United States Army, Washington, District of Columbia; also a copy (accompanied by certificate under corporate seal) of so much of the record of the election of the officers of the corporation as will show the election of the particular officer who is to execute the bond.

In calling for form of bond it should be stated—
First. If the principals and sureties are individuals.
Second. If the principal is a corporation and surety an individual.
Third. If principal is an individual and surety a corporation.
Fourth. If both principal and surety are corporations.
As indicated above, there are four forms of bond, as follows:
Form K. When both principal and sureties are individuals.
Form L. When principal is a corporation and sureties are individuals.
Form M. When principal is an individual and surety is a corporation.
Form N. When both principal and surety are corporations.
In calling for the blank forms of bond, they may be called for as "Form K," "Form L," etc. [1030060, M. S. O.]

WAR DEPARTMENT, WASHINGTON, October 10, 1905.

The following is published to the Army for the information and guidance of all concerned:

WAR DEPARTMENT, WASHINGTON, October 6, 1905.

ORDERS:

With a view to a thorough enforcement of the laws which require that all supplies for the Army shall be purchased "where the same can be purchased the cheapest, quality and cost of transportation and the interests of the Government considered," and that "such contracts shall be made with the lowest responsible bidders," the following instructions are published for the information and guidance of officers charged with the procurement of supplies for the several branches of the military establishment, and strict compliance therewith is enjoined, viz.:

1. Advertisements for supplies should contain the instruction to bidders, who are not manufacturers of the goods called for, to submit the name of the manufacturer from whom such goods are to be obtained, unless it be manifestly impracticable to furnish this information.

2. Lack of commercial standing on the part of the bidder or inadequate facilities or plant on the part of the manufacturer will constitute good and sufficient grounds for the rejection of bids. Abnormally low bids should be subjected to the strictest scrutiny and comparison with prevailing market rates.

3. All bids received from contractors who have failed unjustifiably to fill former contracts with the Government shall be rejected.

4. Careful investigation will be made of the financial status of individual bondsmen offering themselves as sureties on contractor's bonds, and no bonds of individuals will be accepted until it is conclusively shown to the satisfaction of the contracting officer that such bonds afford ample security to the United States for the fulfilment of the undertaking in question.

5. Contracts once executed will be strictly construed and no variation from standards or specifications will be permitted or authorized. If it be demonstrated that contract requirements are unreasonable, or that the prescribed tests are not practical, or that for any reason the stipulations can not be rigidly applied or enforced, such contract must not be modified but may be annulled with the approval of the Secretary of War, if for the best interests of the Government; and after again inviting competition from bidders, who are fully informed of the changed requirements, a new award and contract can be entered into. To sanction variations or to relax stringency in any particular of an existing contract is irregular, and is likely to give the contractor an advantage which is unfair to competitors whose proposals were based on the expectation of being held to the strictest observance of the published requirements.

6. Raw material used by manufacturers in furnishing finished products will be as frequently inspected as the interests of the Government require by inspectors especially qualified for such work, subject to frequent supervision by a commissioned officer.

7. All supplies furnished under contract or otherwise will be subjected, whenever practicable, to the personal inspection of a commissioned officer at the time of delivery; otherwise such inspections will be made by civilian inspectors under his personal supervision subject to test and verification at irregular intervals and at unannounced times by such officer.

8. Commissioned officers charged with such inspections and with the supervision of civilian inspectors must qualify themselves by study, observation, and practice for such supervision as shall effectively protect the Government interests.

GENERAL ORDERS, No. 191.

WAR DEPARTMENT,
WASHINGTON, November 13, 1905.

I. Under the provisions of paragraph 888, Army Regulations, the Inspector-General's Department is charged with the inspections necessary of each division and department headquarters to determine whether or not the prescribed methods of official business are strictly carried out. Report of inspections made under this order will be submitted to the Secretary of War through military channels, and after action has been taken upon the irregularities noted in the reports they will be returned to the Inspector-General. [1069332, M. S. O.]

II. Hereafter, at each administrative headquarters of the Army, the following methods will be observed in the keeping of records and the transaction of official business:

No record shall be kept in any office at a military headquarters respecting matters of which an established record or file is kept in any other office of the same headquarters to which the matter covered thereby properly pertains, but information shall be obtained from the latter source on application therefor as occasion may require. Thus, no record will be made in the office of the military secretary (or adjutant) of a paper destined for the action of another office, except when the commander desires to take some previous action, and generally only such papers will be filed in the office of the military secretary (or adjutant) as do not pertain to the business of any of the subordinate offices.

Mail received in any office will be opened promptly and each communication will be stamped with the name of the office and date of receipt. Communications pertaining to the business of the office will then be separated from those pertaining to the business of other offices; the latter will then be marked with the initials of the office to which they pertain and at once sent to the proper offices; the former, if of sufficient importance to be made of record, will then be briefed and entered.

Each staff officer is responsible that communications sent to him are promptly acted upon In a case requiring the action of the commander, the staff officer will submit the case to him through the chief of staff (military secretary or adjutant) with a memorandum, when necessary, giving a summary of the case and containing his recommendations as to proper action.

In case of routine papers to be forwarded, or returned to higher authority, the staff officer will submit them with indorsement prepared for signature of the commander; if to be returned or transmitted, with instructions or remarks, the indorsement will be prepared for signature of the military secretary (or adjutant).

When acted upon by the commander the proper steps to carry such action into effect will be taken by the chief of staff (military secretary or adjutant) and the papers returned to the office of record, when it will be finally disposed of, i. e., filed, forwarded, transmitted, or returned, without further indorsement or action of that office, except to note disposition in the record.
[1069332, M. S. O.]

III. The clothing account of each man hereafter joining an organization will be kept on the prescribed blank, "Descriptive List, Military record, and Statement of Accounts of Enlisted Men." In order to put the loose-leaf system in full effect at the earliest convenient date, organization commanders are authorized to transfer accounts from the "Clothing Book" to the prescribed blank.

One battalion of the Fifth Unitd States Infantry, about 265 strong, commanded by Maj. F. P. Fremont, his staff being First Lieut. J. K. Partello and Second Lieut. N. J. Wiley, Fifth Infantry, and one battalion of the Twenty-third United States Infantry, about 145 strong, commanded by Maj. Charles M. Truitt, his staff being First Lieut. F. T. Woodbury, Medical Department, First Lieut. S. O. Fuqua, Twenty-third Infantry, and Second Lieut. W. F. Robinson, Eighth Infantry, were on duty at Sea Girt during the competitions.

COMPETING TEAMS.

In the national competition 37 teams participated. Of these, 5 were from the permanent establishment, 30 from the States, 1 from Hawaii, and 1 from the District of Columbia. It was very gratifying, indeed, to find that the country at large took such a lively interest in target practice as to send 32 teams. This number would have been larger if lack of available money had not prevented other States and Territories from sending teams.

The governors and military authorities in the States of New York, Ohio, New Jersey, Massachusetts, Illinois, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Minnesota, Washington, Iowa, Maryland, Maine, Wisconsin, Georgia, Connecticut, Oregon, Florida, Michigan, Kansas, Vermont, Montana, South Carolina, California, Texas, West Virginia, Delaware, Missouri, Nebraska, Indiana, and Tennessee, in the Territory of Hawaii, and the commanding general, National Guard of the District of Columbia, will, I hope, be highly commended by the President, the Secretary of War, and the Chief of Staff, for their zeal, energy, and patriotism in sending teams to take part in the national competition, for the reason that it is a long step in the direction of getting those sections of the country vitally interested in target practice. It needs no argument to prove that not even a small degree of military efficiency can be attained by troops unless they are good rifle shots. The teams sent to the national competition from the different sections of the country mingled with and shot against the finest rifle shots in the world. All of the competitors could not win prizes, but the information gathered by them will be taken back to their homes and gradually disseminated among those who were not so fortunate as to attend. By this means a large number of our young men will become interested in, and learn something of, the most essential and valuable duties of a soldier. This matter will be more fully dealt with under the head of "Recommendations."

NATIONAL INDIVIDUAL COMPETITION.

There were 656 entries for this event, which number was twice as large as had been expected, judging from the experience of the two previous years. It will be seen, by reference to the orders regulating the competition (General Orders, No. 41, War Department, March 15, 1905), that in addition to prizes for the twelve highest scores, there were prizes for the highest scores in slow, rapid, and skirmish firing, respectively. To determine the winners of the latter prizes, it was necessary for all the competitors to fire through each event and to make one skirmish run. In order to save much available time, however, all competitors but the 96 men with the highest aggregate scores, and also all of those who had made a score of less than 65 on their first skirmish run, were thrown out after that run for the reason that the men thrown out had no chance to win a prize.

NATIONAL PISTOL COMPETITION.

There were 118 entries for this event. After shooting through the course, it was found that there were 11 ties for the best rapid-fire score, for which there was a prize. No ruling for passing upon these ties is laid down and it was decided to allow each of these men to fire 5 shots, rapid fire, at 50 yards to settle the ties. This was done and resulted in Capt. George E. Cook, Fourth Maryland Infantry, winning the rapid-fire prize.

The pistol required to be used in the match is described as "the United States service pistol, Colt's or Smith & Wesson, caliber .38; length of barrel as issued to troops; trigger pull not less than 4 pounds." There were a number of inquiries as to whether the Smith & Wesson, caliber .38, with a 6½-inch barrel, could be used. It was found upon inquiry that the only caliber .38, Colt's or Smith & Wesson, issued to troops by the Army or Navy, is fitted with a 6-inch barrel; for this reason the 6½-inch barrels were ruled out and the length of barrel was confined to 6 inches. The handles of some of the pistols allowed in the match were different from those issued to the service in that they were checked and perhaps in some instances made of gutta-percha. This, however, has nothing to do, one way or the other, with the shooting qualities of the weapon, and is generally a matter of fancy with the owner. In connection with this matter, I have been told by a number of civilians that it is very difficult to procure a revolver exactly like the service arm, so that I am fully satisfied that all material conditions of the match were fulfilled when the caliber was .38, the barrel 6 inches, the make Colt's or Smith & Wesson, the trigger pull not less than 4 pounds, and the sights similar to those on the service pistols.

NATIONAL PISTOL COMPETITION.

Slow fire, 75 yards; timed fire, 25 and 50 yards; rapid fire, 15 and 25 yards. Began on August 28 and ended August 28, 1905, with the exception of the ties in rapid fire, which were fired off September 1, 1905.

In order to avoid delay, the following notice was given to competitors:

In rapid and skirmish fire in the national individual match and in the revolver match, competitors who do not take their places promptly at the proper firing point when their names are called by the range officer, will not be allowed to continue in these matches.

The following resolutions were also agreed to by all team captains participating in the Third National Competition:

1. That in marking skirmish targets, hits on the paper silhouettes shall alone be counted.
2. That in the case of misfire on the skirmish line, the competitor shall be at liberty to draw another cartridge from the belt and fire it at that range within the time limit. This done, the alleged defective cartridge shall be shown to the range officer; if it proves defective, the competitor shall be entitled to another cartridge for use at a future halt, and if not considered defective the cartridge shall be returned to the competitor for use at a future halt.
3. That every shot fired in the national competition shall be marked without charge.
4. That it is the unanimous opinion of the team captains participating in the national competition of 1905 that communication should be allowed between members of teams at the firing point, in slow fire.

In order to save time, the team captains all agreed to shoot the rapid fire at 200 yards at the "F" target pasted on the "A" target frame, in view of the fact that 32 "A" target frames were available, while but 18 "B" target frames were the most that were available at any one place. This arrangement eliminated all 2's.

I take this opportunity to state that the military authorities of the State of New Jersey, with Governor Edwin C. Stokes as commander-in-chief, did everything in their power, and rendered every assistance practicable, toward facilitating the progress of the competitions and making the troops and competitors comfortable in camp.

RECOMMENDATIONS.

1. RELATIVE TO THE ESTABLISHMENT OF A TARGET RANGE.—In order to obtain a suitable target range on which to conduct the national competitions, I recommend that the range at Fort Riley, Kans., be completed as soon as possible. Ten thousand dollars have been spent upon this range, and it will require at least $10,000 more to put it in first-class condition. The cost of this range was originally estimated at $20,000, but only $10,000 were allowed. The location of the Riley range makes it the most available point in the United States for the construction, with a small expenditure, of a national range. It is near the geographical center of the country, and there will be no trouble from the adjacent locality in the shape of injunctions. It will admit of placing fifty targets on one butt, which will allow each team to shoot at the same time and, of course, under the same conditions, an absolutely essential feature in a national—or any—competition. This can not be done on a small range.

Provision should be made for the accommodation of an increased number of competitors, as there is every reason to believe that the attendance at these competitions will be larger in future than it was at the recent ones.

In the construction of a target range much time and annoyance can be saved by having electrical connection between each target and the firing point, so as to enable the markers to know when a shot is fired by the proper person at his target. This would, of course, be in addition to the usual telephonic connections already installed on the Riley range. To illustrate: When a shot is fired by the proper person at target 10, the scorer at the firing point touches a button once, which gives one signal in the pit at target 10, and notifies the marker that a shot has just been fired; he will then examine the target and mark the result. As the matter now stands it is generally impossible for the marker at target 10 to know when a shot is fired at that target by the proper person, and in the event of the proper competitor missing target 10, it can not be marked until the call is made through the telephone. This state of affairs causes more delay and annoyance in shooting, particularly at long ranges, than anything else.

I earnestly recommend that a suitable officer be directed to make a careful inspection of the Fort Riley range as soon as practicable, with a view to finding out exactly what is necessary in the shape of grading, targets, telephones, and electrical connections between each firing point and target at each range, range houses, water connections, and buildings for storing, repairing, and pasting targets.

A suitable pit with storage place and room for pasting up skirmish targets should also be constructed just in rear of the skirmish figures, where the markers will be safe and where the targets from the last preceding run can be marked and pasted while the next run is being made. As soon as a run is finished the targets can be taken behind the butt and a fresh set put up for the next run. By managing this work properly, a skirmish run may be made with ease in fifteen minutes or less time, with as many competitors as there are targets. No more time than is absolutely necessary should be consumed in these competitions, for the reason that the members of the National Guard who participate are obliged to temporarily give up their business, and they, of course, are anxious to get away as soon as possible.

In fitting up the range at Fort Riley, tent floors should be provided for all tents used by the competitors, range officers, markers, and scorers, for the reason that many of them have not been accustomed to sleeping in tents, and during the short period occupied with the competitions it is desirable to keep them in as good health as practicable. A one-story mess building and cook kitchen, with suitable cooking ranges, should be built to accommodate at least 1,000 competitors. It is not a good plan to have enlisted competitors mess with organizations on duty at the competition, for various reasons, one of which is that it makes necessary the sudden expansion of the company cooking arrangements in the field, and the cooks who have been cooking for 50 or 60 men are required to provide for perhaps twice that number, who are of a class that can not give assistance to the cooks. Two plans have been used for providing messing arrangements for competitions. One is to make arrangements with some caterer to supply three meals per day during certain hours, and to furnish him with cooking ranges, tables, dishes, kitchens, and mess rooms, benches, etc. Another plan, which is thought to be more preferable, is to have a commissary officer run a suitable mess for all competitors and range officers, and charge the cost for meals and serving. This latter plan will be without loss to the United States, and will be a valuable experience for some officer of the Commissary Department, or of the line.

2. RELATIVE TO THE INFANTRY AND CAVALRY OF THE ORGANIZED MILITIA PARTICIPATING WITH THE REGULAR ARMY IN THE DIVISION COMPETITIONS.—A recommendation similar to the following was made in 1903 by the National Board for the Promotion of Rifle Practice, and was approved by the Secretary of War. It is proposed that in the division competitions, hereafter, each company of infantry and troop of cavalry in the organized militia of all States in the geographical limits of the division send one representative to compete in those competitions for the same prizes for which the regulars shoot, and that the United States pay the expenses of these competitors, the same as it does for the Army.

This plan has been objected to on account of its making it more difficult for the Army to win prizes; but this, if true, would not be a valid objection because the United States offers these prizes for the purpose of encouraging expert rifle and revolver shooting. The plan here proposed will in all probability increase the number of prizes won by the Regular Army, and will in addition give the greatest impetus possible toward encouraging expert rifle and revolver shots in the National Guard. As an illustration, take the Atlantic Division, which is the largest. There are 912 companies of infantry and 46 troops of cavalry in the militia of all the States within the geographical limits of this division, making a total of 958 companies and troops, from each of which the governor would be invited to send a competitor to the division shoot. If they all came, there would be 958 men from the National Guard and, probably, 104 men from the Regular Army, making a total of 1,062 competitors in the division shoot. According to the Small Arms Firing Regulations, the team selected from among 104 competitors would consist of but 20 men, while the team selected from among 1,062 competitors would contain 212 men, each of whom would be entitled to a medal. The cost of the additional medals would be very small.

It needs but a casual glance at this plan to see what it means for rifle shooting all over the country. Within a very few years the knowledge and experience gained by men from each organization attending these division competitions would be disseminated through the entire organization and would awaken an interest and enthusiasm relative to rifle and revolver shooting at the very points where most needed, that is, in the companies and troops. If these once become interested in this matter, it will be a question of a comparatively short time when our National Guard will have nine-tenths of the qualifications of a first-class soldier for the line of battle. On the other hand, if the United States does not adopt some plan by which men from each company and troop in the National Guard can meet and shoot with the best military shots in the world, I see little hope for getting these organizations thoroughly interested in shooting, and unless they are interested they will never get near the top mark. The military facilities available for an emergency in our country are very small and insignificant compared with our population and extent of territory, and it is certainly very little for the United States to place all we have in first-class condition for the line of battle. If a man is a good rifle shot it will be easy to make him a first-class soldier for the line of battle within twenty days, and if he can ride well, is a good carbine and revolver shot, experienced officers such as we have will soon turn him into good cavalry.

The cost of sending officers and enlisted men of the National Guard to the division competitions would not be large. In the following estimate of that cost, the pay per day of an enlisted man is figured at 60 cents, a sergeant's pay; his commutation while en route going and coming, $1.50 per day, and the cost of feeding him during the competition 75 cents per day. Officers sent as competitors would not be above the rank of captain, and, for the purposes of this estimate, it is assumed that one-third of the competitors sent will be commissioned officers and that one-half of these officers will be captains and the other half lieutenants. This will enable us to figure the daily pay of the officers at $4.50 and allow them, for convenience in figures, actual transportation the same as enlisted men, although the officers should have mileage going and coming. The time occupied in travel would be a little different in the four divisions, and eight days could be figured upon as the duration of the competition. If it is thought that the expense is too much to try this plan in all the divisions, it may be suggested that it be tried in the Southwestern and Pacific Divisions where the expense would be insignificant.

The estimated cost of attendance at the United States division small-arms competitions of officers and enlisted men of the organized militia, in accordance with the plans suggested above, is as follows:

Within one hour after the conclusion of the national competition all competitors and teams were requested to assemble at one point where the result of the competition was announced and the individual prizes distributed. The National Trophy was won by the New York team, the Hilton Trophy by the United States Infantry team, and the bronze Soldier of Marathon by the Ohio team. These were shipped by express, charges paid, to the proper custodians for this year, and letters were written to the adjutant-general of the State of New York, to The Military Secretary of the Army, and to the adjutant-general of the State of Ohio, respectively, notifying them as to the winners of these trophies and the disposition made thereof.

I take this opportunity to heartily thank the range officers from the Army, Navy, and Marine Corps, and the clerks, markers, and scorers from the Army, for their excellent service and close attention to work during the competition.

Attached hereto are exhibits "A," "B," and "C," showing the scores made in team, individual rifle, and revolver shooting.

Very respectfully,

W. P. HALL,
Brigadier-General, Military Secretary,
Executive Officer, National Match.

CIRCULAR, No. 22.

WAR DEPARTMENT,
WASHINGTON, April 29, 1905.

The following decisions have been made and are published to the Army for the information and guidance of all concerned:

1. METHOD OF COMPUTING SERVICE IN DETERMINING PURCHASE PRICE OF DISCHARGE UNDER GENERAL ORDERS, No. 48, WAR DEPARTMENT, 1904.—The act of June 16, 1890, which authorizes discharges by purchase, vests in the President the power to prescribe the rules and conditions under which such discharges from the service can be obtained, and the executive instructions in that regard are embodied in General Orders, No. 48, War Department, of 1904. The rules so established contain the requirement that—

"Only complete enlistments of three years, increased or decreased by short periods in cases where soldiers were held in service or discharged before expiration of service for the convenience of the Government, will be considered in determining the ordinal number of an enlistment."

The purchase price is thus made to depend on the serial number of the enlistment and in each successive period of enlisted service varies with the year, the price diminishing by one-third for each successive year of the enlistment. This variation in purchase price is expressed in years of service; in the fourth enlistment, for example, the first year is designated by the term "after nine years' service" instead of "the first year," "the second year," and so on. In other words, it does not seem to have been the intention of the Executive in the preparation of General Orders, No. 48, of 1904, to confer a benefit upon an enlisted man in respect to the purchase of his discharge solely by reason of length of enlisted service, but to make the price of discharge to depend upon the number of enlistments served, irrespective of their length and to reduce such price by one-third for each year of a particular enlistment.—[Opinion of the Judge Advocate General, March 30, 1905, approved by the Assistant Secretary of War, April 1, 1905.] [994194, M. S. O.]

2. CONSTRUCTION OF CAVALRY DRILL REGULATIONS.—Paragraph 12. This paragraph does not specifically require the pieces to be brought to the order when the men execute, 1. IN PLACE; 2. HALT; but in view of the fact that the Infantry Drill Regulations (1904) will probably ultimately be made to apply to cavalry drill (dismounted) with the new rifle, the analogy of paragraph 54 (10th), Infantry Drill Regulations, should be followed in this movement, and the pieces be brought to order arms.

Paragraph 123. As the inspector approaches the right of the squad, the entire squad should execute inspection pistol.

Paragraph 375. When the trooper is dismounted, the carbine should never be in the scabbard, on account of the liability of the horse pulling away or rolling.

The paragraph is construed to mean that when dismounted the trooper should never have his carbine in the scabbard except at the preparatory command for mounting.

Paragraph 382. The ready referred to in this paragraph is the position described in paragraph 92, when the trooper is dismounted, and not the ready described in paragraph 379.

Paragraphs prescribing posts of the group leaders in extended order cavalry drill, mounted.

While allowing great latitude to the necessary movements of the squad leader, the Cavalry Drill Regulations contemplate different normal positions for the squad leader when (1) the squad is acting alone, and (2) when it is acting in conjunction with other squads under a platoon or troop commander.

1. When acting alone.—The squad leader in leading his squad into position or when about to give commands to that effect is (parapraghs 412, 494, 500) two yards in front of the guide, but (paragraph 496) he may merely announce the guide and indicate the point of direction if he does not desire the squad to follow him. In deployments the squad leader (the instructor) superintends the deployment from the rear (paragraph 501), and when halted takes post two yards in rear of the center.

2. When the squad is acting with other squads of a platoon or troop.—Except when deployed as skirmishers, the group leaders (paragraph 656) take post as in close order, but may take such position as will best enable them to direct their groups. Upon deployment of the squad, each leader (paragraph 667) takes his place in line of skirmishers. The Cavalry Drill Regulations contemplate that even when (2) acting in conjunction with other squads, the squad leader shall take the positions described in (1) whenever his squad becomes so isolated from control of higher authority as to be practically acting alone and therefore requiring leadership.

Paragraphs 512 and 19. The rally dismounted should be executed as prescribed in paragraph 512, modified by paragraph 19, except that being armed with the carbine (with no bayonet) the troopers should come to the ready after rallying on their leader. (See paragraph 155, Infantry Drill Regulations.)

Paragraphs 570 and 571. The squad leaders should salute the first sergeant. The first sergeant does not return the salutes.

Paragraph 599. The chiefs of platoon go to the flank to dress their respective platoons only when considered necessary; ordinarily they command front, from their posts in front of their platoons, as soon as the latter appear dressed.

Paragraph 629. The chief of the base platoon should dress his platoon toward the point of rest.

Paragraph 687. The provisions of this paragraph are intended to be followed whether the right or left be in front.

Paragraph 689. The re-formation of deployed units is in line at the command, 1, Assemble; 2, MARCH, and the formation in column of fours is only executed at the command, 1, In column of fours; 2, Assemble; 3, MARCH.

Paragraph 770. The squadron being in line of platoon columns, to close in mass without gaining ground to the front, the major would command: 1. Fours right (or left). 2. MARCH. 1. Close column. 2. MARCH. When closed to nine yards distance the major wheels the squadron by fours to the left (or right) into line of platoon columns at close intervals.

Paragraph 796. The movement described in this paragraph, with the squadron in mass, should never be initiated by an interior troop except in case of emergency; and by flank troops, the deployment of skirmishers should be so ordered as to oblique away from the squadron: 1. As skirmishers. 2. On first troop. 3. Guide left. 4. MARCH, or 1. As skirmishers. 2. On fourth troop. 3. Guide right. 4. MARCH.

Paragraph 800. Being in double columns of fours with normal interval (paragraph 773), execution of the command 1. Line of platoons (or [illegible]). 2. MARCH, will leave an interval between the leading (base) platoons (or squads) of but eight yards; but on subsequent announcement of the guide by the major, this interval should be gradually corrected to the normal interval between groups of platoons or squads. Attention is invited to paragraph 773, last paragraph, which gives the major authority to extend or reduce the interval in double column, before the deployment.

Paragraph 802. The squadron should be formed in its normal order, or in such formation as the major may direct.

Paragraph 833. When acting alone the squad, platoon, or troop commander (instructor) cautions: By rushes (or by creeping) as directed in paragraph 530. He then adds 1. Forward. 2. RUSH, or 1. Forward. 2. CREEP. If the squad, platoon, or troop is acting in connection with like organizations, its commander prefixes to the command Forward, etc., the designation of the squad, platoon, or troop, such as "First Squad," "Third Troop," etc.

The word MARCH is not used, as it is intended that the movement begin at the instant of the delivery of the volley by adjoining units.

In fourth paragraph, third line, the word forward should have been printed in italics, not in small caps. The command "3. RUSH" is the command of execution, given at the instant of delivery of the first volley.

Page 407, plate 130. That part of the plate showing the position of the regimental staff is wrong; the position as prescribed in the text (paragraph 1044) is correct. There being no longer any "regimental noncommissioned officers," reference to them in paragraph 1044 should be omitted.—[Decision of the Chief of Staff, April 14, 1905.] [972020, M. S. O.]

3. CAMPAIGN BADGES FOR CONTRACT SURGEONS, DENTAL SURGEONS, AND VETERINARIANS, CAVALRY AND ARTILLERY.—A contract surgeon or dental surgeon is entitled to a campaign badge for service rendered by him in campaign as an officer or enlisted man.

Service as a veterinarian is, for the purpose of the award of campaign badges, considered as though rendered as a commissioned officer.

Campaign badges will be supplied to contract surgeons, dental surgeons, and veterinarians, cavalry and artillery, in the military service, in the same way as to commissioned officers. [Decision of the Chief of Staff, approved by the Secretary of War, April 13, 1905.]

[971210, M. S. O.]

4. AN ORAL RECOMMENDATION FOR THE AWARD OF A MEDAL OF HONOR NOT REGARDED AS AN OFFICIAL RECORD.—In connection with the recommendation of the board of officers constituted by paragraph 4, Special Orders, No. 76, Headquarters, Philippines Division, 1904, for the award to a soldier of a medal of honor, which recommendation was based on an oral recommendation made by the soldier's company commander at the time of the performance of the act of gallantry, it was held that such oral recommendation, not having been made in the manner prescribed by regulations, can not be regarded as "official records" of the War Department within the meaning of the act of Congress approved April 23, 1904, as those records are defined in War Department Circular of May 26, 1904.—[Opinion of the Judge Advocate-General, dated April 19, 1905, concurred in by the Assistant Secretary of War, April 20, 1905.] [997009, M. S. O.]

BY ORDER OF THE SECRETARY OF WAR:

GEORGE L. GILLESPIE,
Major-General, Acting Chief of Staff.

OFFICIAL:
F. C. AINSWORTH,
The Military Secretary.

SUBJECT: CIRCULAR ADDRESSED TO GOVERNORS OF STATES AND TERRITORIES AND COMMANDING GENERAL DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA MILITIA.

WAR DEPARTMENT,
OFFICE OF THE CHIEF OF ORDNANCE,
WASHINGTON, March 28, 1905.

1. Referring to Paragraph 3, section 1661, Revised Statutes, as amended, with reference to the issue of arms and equipments to the militia which directs the Secretary of War to make such regulations as he may deem necessary to protect the interests of the United States, attention is invited to the provisions of Paragraphs 283, 284, and 285, Army Regulations of 1904, which pertain to the care of arms and equipments and which should be enforced by the Governors of the different States and Territories and by the Commanding General of the Militia of the District of Columbia as being necessary for preserving the material in condition for use upon necessity, which is the object of their supply by the General Government.

2. It will be noted that these paragraphs prohibit:

(a) The taking apart of arms by enlisted men except by permission of a commissioned officer, and then only under proper supervision and in the manner prescribed in the descriptive pamphlet of the arm, issued by the Ordnance Department.

(b) The polishing of blued or browned parts, the rebluing or rebrowning of such parts, or the putting of any portion of an arm in fire.

(c) The removing of a barrel from a receiver.

(d) The mutilation of any part by filing or otherwise, and beautifying or changing the finish.

(e) The use of any dressing or polishing material on leather accoutrements, equipments, harness, etc., except the preparations supplied or approved by the Ordnance Department.

(f) All changes in equipments except the adjustments provided for in their construction for fitting them to soldiers.

3. It should be noted that Paragraph 283, A. R., 1904, makes obligatory a strict compliance with the rules for dismounting and assembling the arm by soldiers, for cleaning and care of the arm, and for repairing arms in the hands of troops, contained in the descriptive pamphlets issued by the Ordnance Department.

4. As the arms and equipments in the possession of the militia form a large part of the entire supply of the United States and as only a strict observance of the provisions of the above-mentioned paragraphs can insure such material being in a serviceable condition in case of emergency, the necessity for their enforcement is apparent.

5. Should defects be discovered in arms, accoutrements or equipments, a report describing in detail the nature and extent thereof should be submitted to the Chief of Ordnance, U. S. Army, and only those remedial measures taken that shall be authorized or prescribed by that officer. Broken parts of arms, etc., should not be turned in to this Department for any purpose by officers of the militia direct, but under proper authority, by the Governor or Adjutant General of the State or Territory to which the arms, etc., are issued. When broken bolts or other parts of U. S. arms are turned in to this Department, because of unusual breakage, as full information of the circumstances of the breakage as possible should be forwarded. Care should be taken in such cases to preserve the broken surfaces from rust.

6. Attention is invited to the laws which provide for the issue of material "for arming and equipping the militia," in the several States, Territories, and the District of Columbia. No part of the arms and equipments so issued should be turned over by the authorities of any State, or Territory, or District of Columbia to private individuals, educational institutions, independent military organizations, societies, corporations, or other organizations not a part of the organized Militia.

WILLIAM CROZIER,
Brigadier General, Chief of Ordnance.

CIRCULAR, No. 40.

WAR DEPARTMENT.
WASHINGTON, August 18, 1905.

1. Officers accountable for ordnance property are informed that the sections of the cleaning rod are no longer considered as parts of the magazine rifle or carbine, nor the bayonet as part of the magazine rifle, in accounting for these articles. Where rifles or carbines are carried on property returns as including such articles, the latter will be taken up and accounted for separately on the next semiannual return, so that they will show the total numbers of the rifles, carbines, sections of cleaning rods, and bayonets on hand.

2. The word "saber" is no longer considered as including the scabbard, and officers accountable for sabers which include scabbards will take up the scabbards separately on their next semiannual return, or they may account for the sabers which include scabbards as "sabers with scabbards."

3. In submitting requisitions for rifles, if bayonets and cleaning rods are required with them, the latter must also be asked for on the requisition. A similar course will be followed when cleaning rods are required with carbines and scabbards with sabers.

4. Officers responsible for small arms are reminded that the Ordnance Department furnishes for their safekeeping arm chests provided with suitable locks and hinges.

INSPECTIONS.

The annual inspections required by Section 14 of the Militia Act, were made by officers of the U. S. Army detailed by the War Department for that duty, and at the same time by State officers, during the first quarter of the year; the following communication was received from the Military Secretary's office:

MEMORANDUM.

Extracts from memoranda of remarks of inspecting officer in connection with the recent inspection of the Organized Militia of the State of New York.

SIGNAL CORPS.

First Company: The records show that the attendance at drill and other instructions has been very good through the drill year. There have been but few absentees. The men in the organization are taking great interest in their work, and display an unusual amount of zeal to reach a high degree of efficiency. With the exception of the new men, who have joined within the past two or three months, and who are making good progress, the company is efficient. The character of the men will average very high. The drilling was good. The instruction of the company has been in drill regulations, in the school of the soldier and company, with some instruction in riding; also in telegraph practice, line work, visual signaling, telephony, and lectures in electricity. It is thought the command would be reliable in domestic emergencies.

Second Company: The inspection of the records discloses the fact that the attendance at drills and instructions has been uniformly good, there having been but a very small number of absentees during the past drill season. The entire company displays zeal, and, with the exception of a few recruits, much efficiency. The character of the men averages very high, and it is my opinion that the command would be perfectly reliable during domestic emergencies. As regards qualifications, all except a few recruits have received instruction and have attained a considerable degree of proficiency in visual signaling, telephony, and line work. The record of drill shows that instruction has been given in company drill and in electricity. The company, their arms and equipment, and all property not in the hands of the men at inspection, as well as the armory, presented a most creditable appearance. The drilling was good, and the movements were well executed.

CAVALRY.

Squadron A: The character of the men is excellent. Their knowledge of military affairs, and the efficient manner in which they turned out for inspection reflects great credit on the squadron commander and his officers, and shows a zealous desire on the part of every member of the squadron to make the organization a military one in every sense of the word. I believe the squadron would do excellent service in case of domestic emergencies.

Troop B: This command is composed of gentlemen who are enthusiastic in the performance of the duties of militiamen. This is a relatively young organization, but from its personnel, and the enthusiasm manifested in their work, there can be no question as to their reliability in cases of domestic violence. The property of this organization was particularly well cared for and stored, and arranged with due regard to ready verification, and with a well-digested plan of arrangement that enables the command to secure their various articles of clothing and equipment under the most adverse circumstances. About 10 horses are owned by the command, but the only drill for inspection was dismounted drill. When called out for mounted work it is expected that the additional mounts necessary will be hired by the troop.

Squadron C (formerly Troop C): Character, zeal, efficiency and reliability have been well tested and proved by 85 per cent. of troop volunteering for duty during the Spanish-American War, and participating in the Porto Rican campaign. One hundred per cent. turned out in case of domestic emergency at Croton Dam in 1900. I believe the organization may be relied on in domestic emergency.

Troop D: The members of this troop seem to be exceptionally intelligent men. They have through their own efforts provided themselves with 14 Montana horses, with which instruction in riding is imparted. The troop performed the dismounted drill in a creditable manner, showing much hard work, as the troop has been organized less than a year. The captain informed me that each member of the troop had arrangements to secure a horse for use should the troop be ordered into the field for active duty. There was no mounted drill, as the mounted drill hall was too small, and the weather outside too bad to permit it. The troop has, however, a drill hall for mounted purposes about 150 feet long and of suitable width, the floor covered with tan bark, and during the coming year the troop should be able to show good results.

LIGHT ARTILLERY.

First Battery: A good class of men, of satisfactory zeal and efficiency, and, in my opinion, to be relied on in domestic emergencies if not called on for service too close to their homes among their acquaintances and friends; possibly there also.

Digitized by Google

Second Battery: Character, zeal and efficiency of men are all very good, in fact, in the main, excellent. There are a few men who are not up to the standard physically, but probably not more than in my own battery. I believe it may be relied on in domestic emergency without exception. At the artillery drill the manual of the piece was executed with smartness and precision. Wheels were changed, piece, carriage and limber were dismounted and mounted with rapidity and precision.

Third Battery: Character, zeal and efficiency of the men are excellent, and I judge the command may be relied upon in domestic emergency. It appears to be well equipped and disciplined. A mounted drill of about 20 minutes duration was very well executed by the first platoon in the drill hall. This battery is equipped as a horse battery, and the cannoneers attended the drill mounted.

Sixth Battery: It is believed the command would be reliable in domestic emergencies. The battery does not own its horses but depends entirely upon hiring necessary horses when they go into camp of instruction and the like. The guns and horse equipments are apparently well cared for, though the harness appears old and stiff and I doubt if it would stand much active service, and it is probable the gun carriages, caissons, etc., would stand but little more than the harness, etc. The character and zeal of the men seems good, but I cannot judge of their efficiency in handling the guns, as space in the armory did not permit even foot drill with the pieces. It is my opinion that the battery, as it now exists, will never be of any practical use. If armed as infantry and trained in the use of small arms, the organization might be of some use.

THIRTEENTH REGIMENT, HEAVY ARTILLERY.

Men appear generally of good character, are largely clerks, with a considerable number of mechanics, linemen, electricians and artisans. The electrician sergeants are contractors or foremen, and know their business. Some of the men do not appear up to the standard physically—due to their indoor life perhaps. The zeal of the men is illustrated by the fact that there were only five absentees. Practically all of the officers are zealous and efficient. The command may be relied on in domestic emergencies. This regiment is entitled to very great credit. Against many obstacles, and without a great deal of encouragement, it has so far mastered the highly technical service of coast artillery as to be able to render efficient service in the event of its being called upon to supplement the personnel of one of our forts. There are many ways in which the regiment could be encouraged and improved. I do not regard this as a proper place to consider them.

TWENTY-SECOND REGIMENT, ENGINEERS.

At the inspection and muster of this regiment the lines were promptly formed and the ceremony creditably executed. The general appearance of the regiment was good, the arms being in excellent condition, and the uniform neat and clean. Much interest was manifested by officers and men, who also appeared to be efficient and zealous, and are to be commended for the time they devote to drill and instruction in connection with their military work. The regiment has had no field service during the past year. The regiment can be relied upon in domestic emergencies.

FIRST BRIGADE.

Seventh Regiment of Infantry.

The appearance of this regiment at inspection was excellent. The care taken of the arms, clothing, and equipment was most marked, and the readiness for field service, satisfactory. The ceremony of inspection was rendered with a promptness and precision that was pleasing. There was an entire absence of confusion or hesitation. The steadiness of the men in ranks was very noticeable. The officers. and men are of the highest character, zealous and efficient. The ranks contain many professional and college men of long service, furnishing a trained reserve fitted for command upon which the country can draw in case of need in the future, as it has done in the past. The interest taken in target practice, and the results obtained, are especially to be commended. It can be relied upon in domestic emergencies.

Eighth Regiment of Infantry.

The appearance of this regiment at inspection was good. The officers are intelligent, zealous and efficient. The men are of good character, and are to be commended for the interest they take in drills and other military duties. The regiment was in the field at the State camp of instruction from June 18 to 25, 1904. Under the State firing regulations 246 men qualified as marksmen, 7 as sharpshooters, 4 as experts, and 5 as distinguished experts, during last target season. Out of 614 officers and men enrolled, 547 were present at inspection. Three officers and 64 men were absent. The percentage of attendance being 89 per cent. The regiment, in my opinion, can be relied upon in domestic emergencies.

Ninth Regiment of Infantry.

The general appearance of this regiment was good. One battalion was very slow in forming and preparing for inspection. The officers and men are of good character and zealous, and appeared to be efficient. As a result of the target practice last season 447 qualified as marksmen, 3 as sharpshooters, 4 as experts, and 11 as distinguished experts. The regiment has an unusually good detachment of field music. The regiment can be relied upon in domestic emergencies.

Twelfth Regiment of Infantry.

The appearance of this regiment at inspection was excellent. Officers and men wore service uniform. The men were armed with the United States magazine rifles, caliber .30, and equipped with the new caliber .30 cartridge belt with suspenders, etc., and the shelter tent; all were clean, and in very good condition. The men are of good physique, well set up, and soldierly in bearing. The inspection developed the fact that affairs of this regiment are well administered, that it is a practical organization, completely equipped and in readiness for field service. The officers are zealous and efficient, the men are of good character, and both officers and men take much interest in the regiment and their military duties, and are to be commended for the time they thus devote. The regiment took part in the maneuvers in Virginia in the fall of 1904, with credit to itself and to the National Guard of the State it represented. This regiment can be relied upon in any domestic emergency.

Sixty-ninth Regiment of Infantry.

Inspector makes no remarks.

Seventy-first Regiment of Infantry.

This regiment has labored under the disadvantage of being forced to occupy a temporary armory, which is inadequate in size, and unsuitable in arrangement. The floor space available for drill is entirely too small, with no arrangement for gallery practice or the proper storage of property. Notwithstanding these difficulties the instruction of the regiment has been satisfactorily carried on, and the clothing, arms, equipments, and other supplies, have been properly cared for, and the general appearance and condition of the regiment at inspection was surprisingly good. The officers are capable and efficient, and appeared to be interested in their military duties. The enlisted men were of good physique and bearing, are zealous and efficient, and in my opinion the regiment can be relied on in domestic emergencies.

SECOND BRIGADE.

Fourteenth Regiment of Infantry.

This regiment is composed, apparently, of men of rugged nature, principally Swedish in blood descent, with some Irish. They presented a very favorable appearance, and had the expression of men who could easily be made into excellent field soldiers of zealous effort and undoubted reliability. This command seems to deserve very favorable criticism except as to attendance, and precision in paper work.

Twenty-third Regiment of Infantry.

The personnel of this regiment is apparently very excellent. It would take some time, however, to harden the men, the majority of whom are unaccustomed to manual labor. The zeal and probable efficiency of the regiment is fine. Subject to foregoing remarks it could be relied upon in domestic emergencies. There is undoubtedly a fine esprit de corps existing. It was noted the entire regiment wore stout, comfortable, soldier-like tan shoes, that promised immunity from many sore feet if called into the field, also that the rank and file did very little gazing about while standing at attention. With the exception of the deficiencies noted in equipment, this regiment deserves a very good report.

Forty-seventh Regiment of Infantry.

Character of men, good; mechanics, laborers, clerks, etc.; financially poorer than most regiments of the National Guard of New York. Attendance at inspection and average attendance taken from State reports, shows zeal. Efficiency, good. Saw no drill; limited observation indicated inferior in drill. State reports show good target practice. Reliability in domestic emergencies doubtful in local disturbance. I should not recommend their employment in quelling labor riots, as they might have to contend with personal friends, and their imperfect discipline might not stand the strain. However, they are a good looking body of men, and would undoubtedly do good work in repelling invasion. Many of the officers seemed very zealous. Companies F and E are notably superior. It is especially apparent in this regiment that the men should be paid for attendance at drill and ceremonies enough to at least reimburse them for necessary expenses. This question should be considered.

Seventeenth Separate Company of Infantry.

Third Brigade (now Company I, 10th Regiment): Inspector makes no remarks as to character of men, zeal, efficiency, and reliability of the command in domestic emergencies.

THIRD BRIGADE.

First Regiment of Infantry.

Headquarters: Character of men, zeal, efficiency, and reliability of the command in domestic emergencies, all satisfactory.

Company A (now Company G, 10th Regiment): Inspector makes no remarks as to character of men, zeal, efficiency, and reliability of the command in domestic emergencies.

Company B (now Company H, 10th Regiment): Character of men, zeal, efficiency, and reliability of the command in domestic emergencies, all satisfactory and reliable.

Company C (now Company E, 10th Regiment): The company in its present status has never been tried in domestic emergency. The armory is centrally located, and is made a club for the company. Their interest is aroused and zeal developed by this, and the development of games of various kinds known as indoor sports. The question of efficiency in case of domestic emergency is difficult to determine without some previous record to establish a basis of judgment.

Company D (now Company F, 10th Regiment): The men of this company are of good character. They appeared to be interested and zealous, and are efficient as far as they have been instructed. They have a new rifle, and new drill regulations, and the time available for instruction during the present year will be largely taken up in learning these. This company can be relied on in domestic emergency. The company has had no field service during the past year, and no instruction in minor tactics. There is an excellent gallery range in the basement of the armory 50 yards long with four targets.

Company E: As to the reliability of the command in domestic emergencies, it would be impossible to determine from a simple inspection. The officers claimed that the men could be depended upon in such cases. All seemed to be interested in and familiar with the drill and other movements. Of course the men lacked the exactness which would come with more frequent exercises. The set up of the men can be improved upon. I witnessed a muster and inspection of the company, company drill and firings in close order, and platoon drill in extended order. Squad leaders were familiar with their duties. Commands were correctly given, and on the whole the exercises were very good.

Digitized by Google

Company F: It is believed the command would be reliable in domestic emergencies. Character, zeal and efficiency of the men, fair. Company drill in close order, good; firings, only fair; platoon extended order, fair.

Company G: The men are apparently intelligent, and it seems that it is the fault of the officers that this company is not up to the standard of efficiency it might have attained if a reasonable amount of time had been devoted to such instruction as could have been given in the cramped quarters occupied by the company. While a new armory is being built for the company the organization has been occupying a single room 20 by 100 feet, where all its property is stored. With a little effort and zeal on the part of its officers some instruction could have been given, and squad drills could have been held in this room. The attempt at drill in the manual and firings indicate that but little attempt has been made to instruct even the noncommissioned officers in any portion of the new Drill Regulations. It is believed the command would be reliable in domestic emergencies if properly officered.

Company H: It is believed the command would be reliable in domestic emergencies. Character, zeal, and efficiency of men apparently good. Company drill in close order, firings, etc., fair; platoon in extended order, fair.

Company I. The officers claim that the command would be reliable in emergencies. The drill was good. Officers and noncommissioned officers were familiar with their duties—gave correct commands, etc. The men appeared to be anxious to perform their duties properly. I inspected the company, saw it mustered, then witnessed close and extended order drill and firings. The exercises were all very good. The company uses an armory for drills. It has three ranges for gallery practice, each about 40 yards in length. Seven miles distant from the station of the company are two target ranges, which it uses for firing up to and including 1,000 yards.

Company K (now Co. K, 10th Regiment). Inspector makes no remarks as to the character of the men, zeal, efficiency, and reliability of the command in domestic emergencies.

Company L. The reliability could not be determined from inspection. The officers claimed that the command could be relied upon in emergencies. Officers and noncommissioned officers appeared to be zealous and efficient. Men showed interest in exercises and familiarity with the drill. A better cadence and more exactness would come with more frequent drills. I inspected the company, saw it mustered, and saw company drill and firings in both close and extended order. Commands were properly given. Squad leaders were familiar with their duties, and on the whole the exercises were good. Drills are held in the same armory that is used by Company E. It has four ranges for gallery practice, each about 40 yards in length. About five miles from the city the company has target practice on three ranges up to and including 1,000 yards.

Company M (now Co. M, 10th Regiment.) It is believed the command would be reliable in domestic emergencies. Character, zeal, and efficiency of men, fairly good. Company drill in close order, and platoon drill in extended order, fair.

Second Regiment of Infantry.

Headquarters: Character of men, excellent; zeal, efficiency, and reliability of the command in domestic emergencies, as proved by actual experience, highly commended by field and staff officers. The interest in the inspection was marked and worthy of commendation.

Company A: From the records, substantiated by the unanimous opinion of the company officers, the characters of the men are excellent, and their zeal, efficiency, and reliability in domestic emergencies everything that could be desired. The interest in the inspection was marked and worthy of commendation.

Company B: This company presented a very creditable appearance at inspection and muster. The officers are efficient, and take much interest in their work. The enlisted men are of good character and zealous, as indicated by the presence of all officers and enlisted men enrolled, the percentage being 100. In my opinion this company can be relied on in domestic emergencies.

Company C. The character of the men is excellent. Zeal, efficiency, and reliability of the command are highly commended by company officers. The interest in the inspection was marked and worthy of commendation.

Company D: Character of men, excellent. Zeal, efficiency, and reliability of the command commended by company commander. Interest in the inspection was marked and worthy of commendation.

Company E: The company is made up largely of employees of the General Electric Company located at this place, and which employs from ten to fourteen thousand people, with a weekly payroll of one hundred to one hundred and fifteen thousand dollars. The officers are responsible business men, and the enlisted men are of such standing, and so separated from labor unions, that the company could be counted upon if properly handled in labor troubles and similar emergencies. Militia service is favored and encouraged by the local manufacturing establishments and by the county. The efficiency is good, and zeal is kept up by athletic sports, etc.

Company F: The members of this company are in a somewhat different social strata than those of the other local company (E). This company, and Company E, same place, have been called out and performed their duties as militiamen during local disturbances and it is believed would be reliable if called upon again. The command is zealous and efficient. It shares the armory with Company E, and likewise makes the company rooms a club, and encourages sports, etc.

Company G: It is believed the command would be reliable in domestic emergencies. Character, zeal and efficiency of men apparently good. The company has had the misfortune to be without an armory or suitable place to drill and store its property; the quarters at present occupied being one room about 25 by 60 feet in which to drill and store the property except the tentage and camp equipage, which is stored in a barn. A new armory is being built, and it is expected will be ready for occupancy within two or three months. Considering the creditable showing the company makes under its present disadvantages, I believe it will make a better showing by the next annual inspection, when it will have had the advantages of comfortable and more commodious quarters.

Company H. It is believed the command would be reliable in domestic emergencies. Character, zeal and efficiency of officers and men, apparently very good. Company drill in close order, and platoon in extended order, very creditable. This has the appearance of being a very good company.

Company I: This company is composed of athletic young men of healthy appearance and vigorous constitutions. They indicate that the service at Manassas was beneficial. They have been called into service for domestic disturbances, and in each case performed their duties satisfactorily. It is believed they would prove reliable in case of such disturbances in future. Interest is aroused, and zeal manifested through the indoor sports held in the armory, which is also used as a club for the company. The armory is beautifully located, but is too far from the business center of the town in case of local disturbance. The only manufacturing in the town is some silk works employing a few people, and some few cigars are made.

Company K: The personnel of this company is very good in appearance. It is made of athletic-looking young men, and their bearing indicates that the service at Manassas had made an impression upon them. The armory is well patronized at all times as a sort of club, and interest is kept up by sports of various kinds. The company has been out several times in domestic disturbances, and once when local industries were involved, and in each case performed the duties satisfactorily. It is believed they would prove reliable in case of future domestic disturbances.

Company L: The members of this command are made to feel that the armory is their club. Their zeal is kept up by indoor sports, and similar amusements in the armory, and with neighboring teams and their efficiency by the regular prescribed drills and exercises. This company was at Manassas, and showed improvement of such a nature as to be attributable to that service.

Company M: The officers and men of this company are zealous and efficient, and can be relied on in domestic emergencies. This company has had an unusual amount of field service during the past year, having gone as an organization to the World's Fair at St. Louis, where constant instruction was given. They had a two days tour of field service at their home station, and attended the maneuvers at Manassas, Virginia, with the regiment, September 3d to 11th, making a total of 26 or 27 days field duty.

Fourth Battalion:

Headquarters: Those of the staff and noncommissioned staff of the battalion inspected appeared to be efficient, and it is thought all would be reliable in domestic emergencies. The staff of this battalion, except the major, is not at the station of the headquarters, and seldom comes together except for muster and inspection, or when the battalion goes into camp for instruction, usually once in two years, but the individual members are apparently qualified for their duties. At present there is no adjutant. Major Boyer is zealous and efficient.

Company A (now Co. A, 1st Regiment). It is believed the command would be reliable in domestic emergencies. Character, zeal, and efficiency of men, apparently good. Company drill in close order, and platoon in extended order, fairly good.

Company B (now Co. B, 1st Regiment). It is believed the command would be reliable in domestic emergencies. Character, zeal and efficiency of officers and men, apparently very good. Company drills in close order, very good; platoon, extended order, very good. From its appearance, drills, etc., I would consider this a very good company.

Company C (now Company C, 1st Regiment). This company makes a very creditable appearance. The officers seem zealous and efficient, the men intelligent, and it is thought the command would be reliable in domestic emergencies. The company drill in close order, including platoon movements, was quite creditable; the manual, fair; and platoon in extended order, good.

Company D (now Co. D, 1st Regiment). It is believed the command would be reliable in domestic emergencies. The drill in extended order by squad, section and platoon, was creditable. The company close order drill, including platoon movements, was fair; manual, fair. Character, zeal and efficiency of the men, apparently good.

Company E (now Company K, 1st Regiment). It is believed the command would be reliable in domestic emergencies. Character, zeal, and efficiency of the men, apparently fair. Company drill in close order, fair; firings and manual, poor. Platoon extended order, fair, for number of drills held since receipt of new Drill Regulations.

Company G (now Company M, 1st Regiment). It is believed the command would be reliable in domestic emergencies. Character, zeal and efficiency of officers and men, apparently very good. Company drill in close order, manual, etc., very good; platoon in extended order, poor, attributable perhaps to the fact that extensive repairs are being made to the armory, which prevented the company from having as many drills in the New Regulations as they might otherwise have had.

Tenth Battalion:

Company A (now Company A, 10th Regiment). The attendance of these men to their military obligations, and their general appearance at inspection, together with past record, indicates zeal and efficiency, together with reliability in case of domestic emergency.

Company B (now Company B, 10th Regiment). The attention to military duties and military obligations, together with their past record and present status, indicate zeal and efficiency, and that they can be relied upon in case of domestic emergencies.

Company C (now Company C, 10th Regiment). The attention to military duties and obligations, together with past record and present status, indicate a commendable zeal and efficiency, and a reliability in case of domestic emergencies.

Company D (now Company D, 10th Regiment). The attention to military duties and obligations, together with past record and present status, indicate a commendable zeal and efficiency, and a reliability in case of domestic emergencies.

FOURTH BRIGADE.

Headquarters: Character of men, and zeal, excellent; efficiency and reliability of the command in domestic emergencies, good. No changes since June 30, 1905.

Sixty-Fifth Regiment of Infantry:

The character of the officers and enlisted men of the 65th Regiment is all that may be desired. The officers and enlisted men show a great deal of zeal, and the officers are particularly efficient in the performance of duty. This regiment has been called into service twice during domestic difficulties, in 1892 and 1893, during the switchmen's strike at Buffalo, and in the latter year the lumbermen's strike in Tonawanda, New York. This regiment can be relied upon for any duty in connection with emergencies of any kind.

Seventy-Fourth Regiment of Infantry:

The officers and enlisted men of the 74th Regiment have the respect and confidence of the people of the City of Buffalo. The officers seem to be especially well selected; they are particularly energetic in the performance of their duites. The regiment, under many of its present officers, performed actual service in the riots connected with the switchmen's strike of 1892, being on guard duty at that time for 14 days. It also took part in the maneuvers at Manassas, Virginia, in 1904, being a part of the First Division under General Grant. I consider the regiment perfectly reliable, and able to acquit itself creditably in any domestic emergency which may arise. The regiment is furnished with the .30 caliber cartridge belt, with suspenders and pockets for clips, for use with the Springfield or new magazine rifle, as yet not issued. These are not satisfactory for use with loose ammunition, and as there is no present probability of the new rifle being issued to these troops, the .30 caliber woven belt should be issued.

First Battalion.

Headquarters. Officers have full dress and service uniform. First lieutenant at inspection with wrong sword knot. Surgeon carried his sabre with edge of blade to the rear. Noncommissioned officers' school (drill regulations only) has been held. Books fairly well kept; property well stored. Men appear to be of good character; officers energetic.

Company E. This company has a gallery range, about 37 yards in the armory, but has no field range available; has used the one at Fort Niagara, 13 miles distant. The armory is in very good condition, though tentage has to be stored in an attic, reached by a ladder. There has been no instruction in advance and rear guards, nor in outpost duty, since last tour of camp duty. First aid packages should be supplied for issue to men when in the field. Noncommissioned officers' school (drill regulations only) has been held. The officers appeared at inspection without gloves. The officers seemed to be energetic, and were posted in the handling of their men at drill. Three squads were exercised under their leaders in extended order; then formed into a section under command of a sergeant and drilled in extended order. The noncommissioned officers showed that they had been carefully instructed, and did well considering the amount of time they had had opportunity to use the present drill regulations. In my opinion, the organization is in a creditable condition, and would do well if called upon for service. * * * * The captain is quite energetic, seems to take great interest and pride in his company, and anxious to have everything at as high a degree of efficiency as can be attained.

Company F: The men of this company appeared to be of good character, to be active, energetic, intelligent and anxious to learn. The captain handled his men well in close order; the first lieutenant in the manual of arms, loadings and firings. The second lieutenant, in command of platoon simulated the normal attack, so far as room in the armory premitted. There was some slighting of movements in the manual, and mistakes on the part of the squad leaders; but this is probably due in a large measure to the limited number of drills under the present regulations. The officers are provided with the new full dress, dress, and service uniforms, take much interest in their work, and in keeping the armory in good order. Gallery range (160 feet) in armory; range to 600 yards (available for skirmish practice) one and one-half miles distant. Noncommissioned officers' school in drill regulations and guard manual has been held. No instruction in forming advance and rear guard, or in outpost duty since last tour of camp duty. Articles of war had not been published for nearly two years. No record of vaccination. Descriptive book would not check. No sick book (surgeon was instructed here to improve and as to necessity for record, as to whether or not disease or injury originated in line of duty). Defects were pointed out to the captain, and will doubtless be corrected. Armory was found in very good condition. I think this company would probably do well if called upon to act in any emergency. Of course the men have had no instruction in individual cooking and caring for the raiton.

Company G: Character, very good; zeal, very good. The company has purchased for its own use, blue shirts, khaki trousers, leggings, tan shoes, and blanket straps. Efficiency, very good, reliability, very good.

Company I: Character, very good; zeal, very good. Men have purchased at their own expense, 75 pairs leggings, 84 blue flannel shirts and 75 pairs khaki trousers. Efficiency, good; reliability, very good.

Company N: Character, very good; zeal, very good. The company purchased for its own use, 85 sets blanket straps; 100 blue flannel shirts, and 89 pairs khaki breeches. Efficiency, very good; reliability, very good.

Second Battalion.

Headquarters: The battalion officers and enlisted men seem to be zealous and anxious to improve themselves in military matters. The battalion was assembled at Camp Farnham, near Dunkirk, N. Y., in 1903, for camp instruction. Companies A, B, and H and Headquarters, were assembled August 20, 1904, for one day's drill in extended order. The battalion officers all seem to be capable, and in my opinion, can be relied upon for all duties in the field. The headquarters of the battalion are at Geneva, but the battalion commander, staff, and noncommissioned staff, were inspected at Rochester, owing to the fact that some of the latter were located at that place. There is no adjutant of the battalion at present.

Company A: This company presented an excellent appearance on drill. Their drill in the company movements, in close and extended order, was very creditable. Three sets of the drill in Butt's Manual were executed satisfactorily. The men seemed to have plenty of spirit and zeal, and I consider that this company would perform any duties which it might be called upon to do in a satisfactory manner. The company commander, Captain C. A. Simmons, and his lieutenants, F. S. Couchman and H. W. Morse, the first and second lieutenants respectively, are entitled to considerable credit for the high state of efficiency exhibited in the drills and appearance and condition of the company generally. First Lieutenant George H. White, Assistant Surgeon, is attached to the company as its surgeon. His medical property was found to be in good condition.

Company B: The captain has just offered his resignation, and is on leave of absence until its acceptance. The first lieutenant is in command. The officers and enlisted men exhibit sufficient zeal and efficiency, but the company will be in better condition as to reliability in emergencies when a new captain is selected and the other officers settled permanently. The company is supplied with the rifle cartridge belt, caliber .30 for clips; it should be furnished a woven ammunition belt, caliber .30 for field service. The company now has the .45 caliber woven belt. Dr. G. S. Means is the surgeon, with rank of first lieutenant. His property pertaining to the medical department appears to be well kept.

Company H. The captain is absent; ill in the Adirondacks. It is the general understanding that he will be unable to join again and take an active part with the company. The first lieutenant has recently been honorably discharged from the service of the State, and the command devolves on the second lieutenant who, as yet, is lacking in experience. The company is efficient, and can be relied upon in any emergency. The company is well drilled in the company movements, and also went through the attack formation for the squad fairly well. The company commander is handicapped by being only the second lieutenant. The company is furnished with rifle cartridge belts, caliber .30 for the use of clips. It should be furnished the woven ammunition belt for field service.

Company K: Character, zeal and reliability, very good; efficiency, good. The armory was in good condition, and the lockers and storerooms were in neat condition.

Third Battalion.

Headquarters: Character, zeal, efficiency and reliability, all very good.

Company C: From the general appearance of the company, the occupation of the members in civil life, and the very creditable manner in which it executed the various movements in company drill, I consider that the company can be relied upon to acquit itself favorably in any domestic emergency. The captain is Myron Upham. In civil life he acts as a commandant at St. John's School, Manlius, New York. He seems to be a very capable officer, and commanded the company during the drill in a very efficient manner. The first lieutenant is E. F. George, and the second lieutenant is A. H. Thompson; both officers had charge of the company for a time at drill, and both acquitted themselves satisfactorily. The medical officer is first lieutenant W. G. Hinsdale, assistant surgeon; the medical property in his charge seems to be well cared for. The company was drilled in the manual of arms, school of the company, and to a slight extent in the extended order; in the first two the drill was entirely satisfactory. The size of the hall precluded any success in attack formation in extended order, although the orders were correctly given. I have no doubt but that this would have been successful in the open.

Company D: As nearly as I can ascertain, the captain of this company (a young lawyer), was for a long time without any lieutenants. He worked hard and did all he could. About a year ago he secured two lieutenants, who had had little experience, but who bid fair to become efficient in time. Armory is old, and too small for handling full company, but is kept in good condition. It is thought that appropriation for new armory may be made by present session of State legislature. No instruction in first aid, save to men of the hospital corps. Letters-received book is indexed by page, not by serial number. There is evidently good material in this organization. More time for careful instruction, and more experience for the subalterns, will, it is thought, make it a very efficient company. I am informed that about two or three years ago it was called upon for duty in case of a labor strike and acquitted itself with credit. The captain seems to be wide awake, and I think will improve such opportunities as he may have.

Company L: Character, zeal and reliability, very good; efficiency, good. Men have provided themselves with olive-drab shirts and tan shoes at their own expense. The officers know their drill, and the armory and storerooms were in excellent order, showing that the discipline is good.

Company M: The company presents an excellent appearance, and is well drilled. The armory is in excellent condition, with a good gymnasium, and a target range for gallery practice. Company seems to have a great deal of spirit, and I think it could be relied upon for active service in any capacity or under any conditions. Captain E. S. Jennings commands the company; he has for lieutenants W. C. Chase and B. F. Johnson. The drill was very creditable and showed that much work had been done by all the members of the company. Lieutenant A. T. Hodgman is the surgeon, with the rank of first lieutenant. His instruments and equipment were in good condition. I consider the captain of this company as being exceptionably capable and efficient in the performance of his duties.

1030607 THE MILITARY SECRETARY'S OFFICE,

WAR DEPARTMENT,

WASHINGTON.

MEMORANDUM.

Extract of memoranda of inspection of the organized militia of the State of New York, showing deficiencies in arms, uniforms and equipment, as noted therein.

SIGNAL CORPS.

First Company: The gloves, shoes, shirts and underwear are the personal property of the men. Five sets of equipments are short. There are no lariats, picket pins or links. There is also a shortage of 3 overcoats, 12 axes, 5 hatchets, 10 pickaxes, 10 spades or shovels, 12 camp kettles, 1 field range, and 1 hospital tent.

Second Company: Has no khaki uniform. There is a shortage of 4 coats, 3 service breeches, 11 overcoats, 18 campaign hats, 5 blankets, 11 revolvers, 2 conical wall tents, complete, 1 hospital tent, 9 axes, 10 hatchets, 7 camp kettles, 8 pickaxes, 8 shovels or spades, and 1 Buzzacott range. Gloves, shoes, shirts and underwear are the property of the men. There are no carbines.

CAVALRY.

Squadron C: This organization is not completely armed, uniformed and equipped, owing to supplies not all having been received to meet the increased demand consequent upon converting Troop C into Squadron C, composed of two troops, though sufficient supplies were ordered.

Troop D: Has no shelter tents.

LIGHT ARTILLERY.

First Light Battery: Three more revolvers and 3 more sabres are necessary to equip the battery when filled to its minimum authorized strength. Supplies on hand are sufficient for present strength, except blankets. No shoes are reported on hand, but the men wore tan shoes at inspection.

Digitized by Google

Second Light Battery: The blankets on hand are just sufficient to issue one to each man of the maximum authorized enlisted strength, which is not sufficient for winter campaign. No flannel shirts or shoes are reported on hand, but the men wore russet shoes at inspection.

Third Light Battery: At inspection quite a number of sabres were rusty. The revolvers are an old model. More woolen blankets and a supply of tent stoves would be necessary for a winter campaign. The property return does not show any flannel shirts or shoes on hand. The men wore russet shoes at inspection, however.

Sixth Light Battery: Deficient 8 pairs leggings, 11 overcoats, 9 ponchos, to equip present enlisted command. Also deficient 17 revolvers; and the medical supplies are limited to one small field operating case and such articles as are usually carried in hospital corps and orderly pouches.

Company E: There is a shortage of one rifle, and two or three service uniforms. Has no cooking utensils, and the Buzzacott oven on hand would not be serviceable more than about a week.

Company F: Has not sufficient service uniform. Marching shoes, shelter tents and poles should be supplied. Haversacks are of very poor pattern, and should be replaced. The following tables, from the annual report of the Secretary,of War for the year 1905, show the designations and stations of the military organizations of the State of New York; their strength at the date of, and per cent. of absentees from, the special inspections held during the year in compliance with the requirements of General Orders, No. 71, War Department, December 29, 1903. The tables also show, for each organization, the number of practice marches, the number of drills, the number of days in camp of instruction, and the rifle-practice figure of merit. They also show whether the organizations are armed, uniformed, and equipped, whether they conform in organization to the Regular Army, and whether they have adopted the prescribed standard of physical examination for enlistment.

ARMAMENT AND EQUIPMENT OF THE NATIONAL GUARD.

Under the provisions of section 13 of the militia act of January 21, 1903, the United States magazine rifles, caliber .30, model 1898, and magazine carbines, caliber .30, model 1899, with necessary accoutrements and equipments, have been received by this State, without charging the value or cost thereof against the allotment.

In further compliance with the provisions of this act, there has been turned in to the Ordnance Department of the United States Army, without receiving any money credit therefor and without expense for transportation, the following property:

15,441 U. S. Springfield rifles, caliber .45.
608 U. S. Springfield carbines, caliber .45.
6,350 headless shell extractors.
509 spring vises.
1,831 tumbler punches.
15,326 screwdrivers.

The following shipment of ordnance stores has been made, the ammunition to be exchanged, round for round, for caliber .30 ammunition:

624,000 rounds rifle ball cartridges, .45 caliber, black powder.
92,500 rounds carbine ball cartridges, .45 caliber, black powder.
1,300,000 rounds blank cartridges, .45 caliber, black powder.

Information has been received from the War Department that this State will receive one battery of four guns of the new 3-inch field material, model of 1902, early during the coming year, for the equipment of the Second Battery.

During the past year the amount of equipment issued the organizations has been materially increased; the substitution of the russet leather equipment has been made as far as the appropriations will allow.

While the National Guard may be reported to be fully armed, uniformed and equipped for field service at almost any season of the year, there are existing deficiencies in clothing, camp equipage, kitchen utensils and ordnance stores, which should be supplemented to bring about uniformity and the highest degree of efficiency.

Each regimental organization requires a set of commissary chests, a medical field hospital unit equipment and the issue of the prescribed number of field desks. In many commands the present field ranges must be replaced.

THE NEW UNIFORM.

The problem of the proper uniforming of the Guard is the hardest problem presented to this office.

The present full-dress uniform is badly worn, and in some commands in such a condition as to cause unfavorable criticism.

In the past year the dress uniform has only been issued to meet the most urgent demands; the effort of this office has been confined to supplying the force with the service uniform, the new olive drab, and with complete field equipment.

Since the adoption of the new service uniform in the spring of 1903, there have been ordered from the contractor:

16,925 olive drab service coats @ $5.95.....	$100,703 75
15,900 olive drab breeches, foot, @ $3.85.....	61,215 00
1,252 olive drab service breeches, mounted, @ $4.60	5,759 20
Valuation of.....	$167,677 95

There have been issued to date to the organizations:

14,336 olive drab service coats.
13,226 olive drab service breeches, foot.
1,139 olive drab service breeches, mounted.

This has been accomplished without an additional appropriation on the part of the State, but made possible under the appropriation provided by Act of Congress for the support of the Army, approved March 2, 1903, and the procedure allowed under chapter 11, "An act relating to the equipment of the organized militia, and to authorize the sale of certain equipments to the United States, and providing for the disposition of the proceeds of the sale," Laws of 1905.

For information with reference to this transaction, I would refer you to the report transmitted as Appendix "C." "The use to which the State has employed its allotment of the United States appropriations during the year from September 1, 1904, to August 31, 1905, and to the Detailed Statement of Expenditures, under the head "Militia Equipment Fund."

Under General Orders No. 18 from this office, a board was convened to prepare new Uniform Regulations for the National Guard; a report of its work is to be found in General Orders No. 22, current series.

Proposals and bids will shortly be called for, upon such articles required and for which contracts have expired October 1st.

SMALL ARMS PRACTICE.

Great progress and efficiency has been manifested in this most important branch of instruction during the past year.

The result of the season ending October 31st is worthy of commendation; the total number of distinguished experts, experts, sharpshooters and marksmen for 1905 being 11,506, a gain of 1,101 in individual qualification over 1904.

The State of New York has again been victorious in the competition for the National Trophy; the honor being carried off by our rifle team, representing the National Guard, with 68 points more than its nearest competitor, the United States Infantry team.

This record reflects the highest credit upon our State; the officers and enlisted men are deserving of the highest commendation, and special recognition and mention is due to Lieutenant Colonel N. B. Thurston, who was charged with the duty of organizing the team and appointed captain, and to whose efforts in great part is due our success.

The report of Colonel Thurston made to this office will be found included in the report of the Commanding Officer, National Guard, also in the General Orders of the War Department included in this report.

Your attention is called to the following communication received from the Executive Officer:

HEADQUARTERS THIRD NATIONAL COMPETITION,
SEA GIRT, NEW JERSEY,

September 2, 1905.

The Adjutant-General, State of New York:

Albany, N. Y.

Sir.—I have the honor to inform you that the Third National Team Competition was completed yesterday at 5.30 p. m. There were 37 competing teams. The totals made by the six leading teams are as follows:

New York	4,528
U. S. Army Infantry	4,460
Ohio	4,431
U. S. Marine Corps	4,360
U. S. Navy	4,283
New Jersey	4,267

From the above it will be seen that the State of New York is for the third time the winner of the first prize in the National Team Match.

The "National Trophy" will be shipped to you by express, charges prepaid, as soon as practicable.

Digitized by Google

I take this occasion to heartily congratulate you on the fine shooting done through the entire match by your team.

The individual prizes awarded the winning team were turned over to your team captain, Colonel N. B. Thurston.

Very respectfully,

W. P. HALL,

Brigadier-General, Military Secretary, Executive Officer.

During the past year, a rifle team from the Seventh Regiment was authorized by special order, to compete with the team of the Queen's Westminster Volunteers (13th Middlesex) at Bisley, England, July 6th and 7th. Report of Captain Robert McLean, Seventh Regiment, will be found attached hereto as Appendix "F."

The present allowance of ammunition issued calls for an expenditure of more than half of the annual allotment to the State under section 1661, Revised Statutes; this all important branch of instruction must be supported and encouraged; the development of efficiency in the use of the arm of the service is a matter of national importance, and action should be taken by Congress, making proper appropriation, so that the issue of the necessary ammunition shall be made to the States without the same being a charge against the annual appropriation.

CAMP, FIELD AND OTHER SERVICE PERFORMED BY THE NATIONAL GUARD DURING THE PAST YEAR.

The annual encampment of the organized militia of New York was held as follows: First and Second Companies, Signal Corps, at Peekskill, June 3 to 10; Twenty-second Regiment of Engineers, at Peekskill, June 17 to 24; Sixth Light Battery of Artillery, near Binghamton, July 8 to 15; Seventh Infantry, at Peekskill, June 10 to 17; Tenth Infantry, at Peekskill, June 3 to 10; First Infantry, at Cape Vincent, July 22 to 29; Thirteenth Regiment Heavy Artillery, at Fort Terry, Plum Island, August 5 to 12; Sixty-fifth Infantry and First, Second and Third Battalions, at Farnham, August 12 to 19.

The officers and organizations of the United States Army detailed to attend these encampments were: Capt. George C. Burnell, Master Signal Electrician Frank E. Peters and Sergeant Charles R. Forbes, Signal Corps, the encampment of the First and Second Companies, Signal Corps; the United States Military Academy Detachment of Engineers, that of the Twenty-second Regiment of Engineers, and Capt. Percy P. Bishop, Artillery Corps, that of the Thirteenth Regiment Heavy Artillery. The heavy artillery regiment received practical instruction in the use of the heavy guns at Fort Terry in accordance with a schedule prepared by Captain Bishop.

The highest attendance was officers 356; enlisted men, 4,899; the average attendance, officers, 352; enlisted men, 4,808; aggregate, 5,160 men; percentage present, 79.

The report of Captain George C. Burnell, U. S. Signal Corps, is attached hereto as Appendix "G."

The report of Captain Percy P. Bishop, Artillery Corps, is attached hereto as Appendix "H."

The following organizations participated in the Inaugural Parade January 2, 1905, under the command of Brigadier-General James H. Lloyd, commanding officer, Third Brigade, acting as Grand Marshal: Troop B, the Second Regiment, Tenth Battalion and Company I, First Battalion (43rd Separate Company), and a section from the Second Battery.

At the inaugural ceremonies of President Roosevelt at Washington, D. C., on March 4, under special orders from this office, Brigadier-General George Moore Smith, commanding officer, First Brigade, was detailed to command the provisional brigade, which was composed of the following organizations, who volunteered their attendance, entirely at their own personal expense, and without any expectation whatever of reimbursement from the State:

1st Company, Signal Corps, N. G., N. Y., Captain Oscar Erlandsen.

13th Regiment, Heavy Artillery, Colonel David E. Austen.

23rd Regiment, Infantry, Colonel William A Stokes.

Company E, 12th Regiment, Captain F. L. Foster.

Squadron A, N. G., N. Y., Major Oliver B. Bridgman, commanding. was the personal escort of His Excellency, the President of the United States.

The strength of the provisional brigade was 162 officers and 2,435 enlisted men, aggregate, 2,597 men.

The reported strength of Squadron A, 16 officers and 144 enlisted men.

The report of the service of Squadron A is attached hereto as Appendix "I."

The report of Brigadier-General James McLeer upon his action in paying honors to the remains of Hiram Cronk, the last survivor of the soldiers of the War of 1812, is attached hereto as Appendix "J."

The organizations of the National Guard excused this year from the performance of field service will be called upon for such service in 1906.

NAVAL MILITIA.

The strength of the Naval Militia on September 30, 1904, was 47 commissioned officers and 581 enlisted men, aggregate 628 men; on September 30, 1905, the strength, as reported by the semi-annual returns rendered that day, was 49 commissioned officers and 602 enlisted men; aggregate, 651 men; a net gain in actual strength during the past year of 23 men.

There were the following changes in the personnel: Total gains, 163; total losses, 140. Of the gains, 123 were by original enlistment, and of the losses, 37 were by full and honorable discharge; 19 men were dishonorably discharged, and 58 were dropped from the service.

The application for permission to organize a separate division in Buffalo is still pending; before favorable action can be recommended, the annual appropriation must be increased.

These organizations should be ordered for a practice cruise and encampment during the coming year; this will require an appropriation in the supply bill.

On March 25 requisition was made on the Navy Department for further ordnance supplies as follows:

180	U. S. Magazine rifles, caliber .30, model 1898, with model 1902 rear sights with peep attachments, complete	$2,585 88
180	bayonet scabbards, caliber .30	90 00
205	gun slings, caliber .30	88 15
9	arm chests	36 00
205	woven cartridge belts, caliber .30, blue, with fasteners	358 75

The Naval Militia can now be reported as fully armed and equipped for service, and with the same magazine rifle, caliber .30, as the National Guard. This is the first time there has been a uniformity in the arm of our service.

The cost of maintenance and repairs to vessels of the United States, loaned to the State of New York, during the past year has amounted to $7,068.85.

A detail from this command was on duty as a guard upon the visit of His Serene Highness, Prince Louis of Battenburg, on board the steamer "C. W. Morse," on the occasion of his visit to the U. S. Military Academy, West Point.

The report of Captain Jacob W. Miller, commanding the Naval Militia, is transmitted and attached hereto as Appendix "K."

ARMORY COMMISSION.

The State has pursued a very liberal policy in its attitude toward the organized militia, and armories are provided and maintained for all organizations.

Appropriations were made at the last session of the Legislature for new armories for the organizations stationed at Oswego and Syracuse; for additional land for the enlargement of the armory at Geneva; eva; for the purchase of additional land adjoining the Rensselaerwyck range.

Drawings and specifications for the new armories above referred to, and to the enlargement of the Geneva armory, are being prepared. It is expected the work will be commenced early during the coming year.

The additional land provided for at Rensselaerwyck range has been acquired and the troops now using this range are able to practice at 1,000 yards.

Sites have been selected and acquired for the new armories at Oswego and Syracuse, and the additional land necessary for the enlargement of the armory at Geneva has been purchased.

The armories in course of erection for the 65th Regiment at Buffalo, the 17th Separate Company at Flushing, the 20th Separate Company and 6th Battery at Binghamton, and the 1st and 8th Separate Companies and 2nd Separate Division, Naval Militia, at Rochester, are nearing completion, with the exception of Rochester, delay in the receipt of structural steel causing a suspension of work at this point.

With the completion of the armories above referred to, all organizations will be quartered in structures erected and owned either by the State or respective county in which located.

A number of organizations require more suitable armories, in order to maintain the desired high standard of efficiency, but action toward this end may be postponed during the coming year, and such funds as may be available, in accordance with the policy of the past four years, may be placed to a better purpose toward the betterment of the uniforms and equipment of the service.

The report of the Secretary of the Armory Commission is submitted herewith as Appendix "L."

WAR CLAIMS AGAINST THE UNITED STATES.

The report of the State Agent, the Honorable Richard Crowley, is submitted herewith as Appendix "M."

BUREAU OF MILITARY RECORDS OF THE WAR OF THE REBELLION.

GENERAL HEADQUARTERS, STATE OF NEW YORK,
ADJUTANT-GENERAL'S OFFICE,
BUREAU OF RECORDS OF THE WAR OF THE REBELLION,
ALBANY, December 30, 1905.

The Adjutant-General, State of New York:

Albany, N. Y.

Sir.--I have the honor to submit my annual report as follows:

The registers of organizations of New York Volunteers who served in the War of the Rebellion, from the 166th to the 194th Regiments, both inclusive, have been completed as far as the records of this office admit.

The records of the regiments of the Militia of the State who were in the United States service during the War of the Rebellion are now being collated.

So many requests are received for the record of men who served in the New York Volunteers but whose descendants do not know the regiments in which they served, that it has become absolutely necessary to prepare an index of all the men who served in the Volunteers during the War of the Rebellion, and this index will also be taken in hand.

A few changes have taken place in the personnel of the office: Mr. James Loftus, the janitor, has been promoted to keeper, and Mr. William F. Mullin has been appointed janitor, vice Loftus.

The collection of colors and relics is now in a very presentable shape; there should be, however, more light for the illumination of the colors.

Respectfully,
(Signed) FRED PHISTERER,
Chief of Bureau.

The amount upon claims pending will approximate fifteen hundred dollars; amount paid to those injured or disabled in the service during the past year is $877,00 in excess of that allowed and paid in 1904. The State has been very liberal in providing means for the temporary care of those disabled in the service, but it would appear from the experience of this office, that further protection must be provided for its interests. During the year past §165 of the Military Code has been amended limiting the pay and expenses of those incurring injury or contracting disease to ninety days. In order to further protect the State it would appear absolutely necessary that those intending to present claims shall place themselves at the time of injury or illness under the observation of medical officers in the service. It has been furthermore observed that the large percentage of individuals presenting claims have been long in the service, and it is probable that no physical examination has been required except that upon original enlistment.

Reference to circular of the War Department, February 8, 1904, and to G. O. 55, War Department, November 19, 1903, demonstrates clearly that "in such States as shall have adopted a standard of physical examination for enlistment and re-enlistment of the organized militia, prescribed by the Secretary of War, such militia shall be deemed under the law fit for military service and shall be duly mustered into the service of the United States as such."

It would, therefore, appear necessary not alone for the protection of the State, but to maintain them in such condition as they will be received and mustered into the service without further physical examination, that the practice of continuing the enlisted men in service beyond the term of enlistment without further examination should be forbidden; and that M. C. 79 should require the discharge of the enlisted men upon the termination of his term of enlistment, and if it is desired to continue in the service, further re-enlist ment after the physical examination.

MILITARY AND NAVAL PROPERTY OF THE STATE ON HAND.

RESPONSIBILITY FOR PUBLIC PROPERTY.

Effort has been made during the past year to hold every officer and enlisted man and organizations to whom public property of the State has been issued, to a strict accountability. Under amendment to the Military Code, § 125, chapter 617, Laws of 1905, authority was conferred more explicitly upon the Adjutant-General.

The value of property shortages charged against organizations at the present date amounts to approximately $15,000.

The following decision of the War Department with reference to Boards of Survey is published for the information of all concerned:

THE MILITARY SECRETARY'S OFFICE.

WASHINGTON, January 9, 1905.

The Adjutant-General, State of New York:

Albany, N. Y.

Sir.—The Secretary of War directs me to inform you that on the request of an officer of the Army on duty with the organized militia of one of the States for a decision with regard to the provisions of paragraph 721 of the Army Regulations, as follows:

"When property belonging to the United States, but in the possession of State troops for their use, is acted upon by a board of survey (surveying officer), will the report be considered complete as a property voucher upon receiving the approval of the appointing authority (the Governor of the State) provided the total money value of the articles therein reported does not exceed the sum of $500? Also should United States property lost through desertion of men of State militia to whom it had been issued for use, receive any further action for proceedings of board of survey (surveying officer) than is indicated in preceding paragraph, i.e., the approval of the convening authority?"

The Judge Advocate-General of the Army having been requested to render an opinion in the case, remarked as follows:

The existing regulation as to unserviceable or unsuitable property in the hands of the organized militia is embodied in paragraph 7, Circular No. 9, War Department, of September 9, 1903, and is based upon and is in furtherance of, sections 3 and 4 of the Act of February 12, 1887 (24 Stats., 401), which require a board of officers of the militia to be convened in the case set forth in the statute. (In view of the language used in the statute above referred to, it may well be doubted whether the duty therein prescribed could lawfully be performed by a single officer.)

Army regulations on the subject of surveys of property are based upon the several enactments of Congress which regulate the purchase of and accountability for property in the military establishment, and are not applicable as a rule to similar questions arising in the organized militia.

The Secretary of War has approved that opinion, and remarks that as the Governor of the State or Territory (who is the convening authority) is also the accountable officer, his approval would not be sufficient, as section 4 of the Act of February 12, 1887, requires that the report of the board of officers shall be forwarded by the Governor direct to the Secretary of War, who shall direct what disposition shall be made of the property.

It is also held that in case of loss by desertion, the same procedure is necessary as in other cases of loss.

Very respectfully,
WILLIAM B. HALL,
Assistant Adjutant-General.

There are attached to this report to show the military public property of the State, as Appendix "N," tables showing the amount of each kind of property on hand October 1st, 1905, at the State Arsenal, New York City, and in the hands of the National Guard Naval Militia and other organizations.

Balance, available for fiscal year, 1905–1906.....			$12,572 07

It will be observed that the appropriation under chapter 699, Laws of 1905, was $244,000, for other general expenses of the National Guard, which, with a balance on hand of $12,572.70, from the appropriation of 1904, places to the credit of this fund $256,572.70 on October 1, 1905.

Since the close of the present fiscal year orders have been placed with contractors for the new olive drab uniform to the value of $12,293.35.

It is contemplated to order all organizations of the National Guard into field or camp service for instruction the coming year which were excused from the performance of such duty in 1905.

It is estimated that this service will require the expenditure of $140,000; to meet this charge, $52,000 may be required from the United States allotment under the Revised Statutes, section 1661, for the pay of the troops, and the sum of $88,000 must be drawn from the State appropriation. This will leave an estimated available balance for all other general expenses of $156,000, which amount will prove insufficient to meet the necessary demands required to maintain the present high standard of efficiency of the service.

Under section 1225, Revised Statutes, U. S., the President is authorized to detail an officer of the Army or Navy to act as superintendent or professor, upon application, to any established military school having capacity to educate at the same time not less than one hundred and fifty male students.

All institutions, within the meaning of this section of the Revised Statutes, have been divided into four classes according to regulated requirements.

The six institutions, annually reported, whose students have exhibited the greatest application and proficiency in military training and knowledge, shall be especially designated in addition to the above classification as "Distinguished Institutions."

The President of the United States has authorized the announcement that an appointment as second lieutenant in the Regular Army will be awarded annually to an honor graduate of each of the six institutions thus designated, provided that sufficient vacancies exist.

Upon the report of the Chief of Staff, War Department, based upon reports received from institutions at which officers of the Army are detailed, I have to inform you that St. John's School, Manlius, New York, has been published in General Orders, War Department, as one of the six institutions of learning in the United States whose students have exhibited the greatest application and proficiency.

I have to report, in accordance with reports received, the following as the mort distinguished students in the military department of their respective institutions:

It is important and to the welfare and interest of this State that it should be suitably represented at all national meetings of a military character, such as the National Board for the Promotion of Rifle Practice, the Inter-State National Guard Association and the Convention of Military Surgeons of the United States, and it would seem proper that the legitimate traveling expenses of members, representatives or delegates in attending such meetings should be met.

Lieutenant-Colonel Nathan S. Jarvis, Surgeon, First Brigade, was designated by the Commander-in-Chief as a delegate to the annual convention of the Association of Military Surgeons of the United States at Detroit, Michigan, during the past year, and his report is transmitted herewith as appendix "O."

It would appear, from the experience of this office during the past year, that the efficiency of the service would be increased by the abolition of the elective system for the choice of commissioned officers; the evils of the present system are many; factional discord is created, requiring frequent disciplinary measures to maintain the very existence of an organization.

The alternative, if the elective system were abandoned, is the adoption of a system of appointment.

I am firmly of the opinion that any system of appointment, based upon merit and fitness—all nominations and appointments being made from persons eligible by law and subject to examination—would be an advancement in the interest of a disciplined body and a progressive step.

The present term of enlistment in the organized militia is five years; the average period of service of the enlisted man is hardly three years; this latter figure has been fixed in many States as the period of original enlistment; but in view of the fact that this State is unable, on account of insufficiency of appropriation to place in field service for instruction annually, the entire guard, it would appear impracticable to make at present any change in this provision.

The enlisted man should receive his discharge upon the close of his term of enlistment, and if he desires to re-enlist should be subjected to a second physical examination; any other course is detrimental to the best interests of this service and in conflict with the intent of the militia act, under which the organized militia may be deemed fit for military service, and organizations be duly mustered into the service of the United States as such.

During the past few years a school in horsemanship has been established at the State Camp for commissioned officers, by the Commanding Officer of the National Guard; this course should be made compulsory for all mounted commissioned officers and attendance required under orders until proper degree of proficiency has been attained.

The present maximum enlisted strength for a company of infantry is worthy of consideration; there is at present in many regiments, now consisting of less than twelve companies, a desire to organize additional units, in order to conform to the three battalion organizations. I would recommend that in a regiment of infantry located at one station or armory, that the maximum enlisted strength of a company be fixed at eighty-four men, and that such additional companies upon due application and the approved recommendation of the commanding officer National Guard, be authorized, in order to establish such organizations upon a three battalion formation.

It is with great satisfaction that I have to inform you that steps have been taken toward the creation of a Field Hospital organization in the organized militia; under the provisions of the Military Code, with some slight amendment to be presented to the Legislature, this necessary service will be established in the near future, and attached to Headquarters National Guard.

Through you I wish to extend to the Secretary of War, my appreciation of the courtesy and co-operation I have received from the War Department.

The extraordinary demands upon this department during the past year, a service requiring a larger force, has been accomplished through the work of my efficient assistants, and the faithful clerical force of this office.

Respectfully,
NELSON H. HENRY,
Adjutant-General.

SERVICE DURING THE YEAR.

IN AID OF THE CIVIL AUTHORITY.

It is a great pleasure to report that the civil authorities did not have any occasion to call on the Guard to preserve the peace and protect the lives and property of the citizens of the State.

CAMP AND FIELD SERVICE.

Under the orders of the Governor the following were ordered on camp and field service:

The First and Second Companies of Signal Corps.

The Twenty-second Regiment Engineers.

The Sixth Battery.

The Thirteenth Regiment Heavy Artillery.

The First, Seventh, Tenth and Sixty-fifth Regiment Infantry.

The First, Second and Third Battalions Infantry.

The companies of the Signal Corps performed their camp service at the Camp of Instruction near Peekskill under the direction of Major Frederick T. Leigh, signal officer, National Guard, who rendered very satisfactory service, from June 3 to 10. The report of Major Leigh is transmitted herewith as Appendex AA.

The Tenth and Seventh Regiments of Infantry were on duty at the Camp of Instruction from June 3 to 10 and 10 to 17, respectively. The reports of the commanding officers of these regiments will be found as enclosures to the report of the commanding officer of the Third Brigade and as Appendix "BB" to this report, respectively.

The Sixth Battery was on field service from July 8 to 15 near Endicott and the report of the commanding officer is enclosed as Appendix "CC."

The Thirteenth Regiment, Heavy Artillery, performed its tour of field service at Fort Terry in conjunction with the United States Coast Artillery stationed there, from August 5 to 12, and the report of the commanding officer of the regiment is attached to this as Appendix "DD."

The First Regiment Infantry camped at Tibbets Point, near Cape Vincent, from July 22 to 29 and the report of its commanding officer on this tour of service will be found as part of the report of the commanding officer of the Third Brigade, who was in charge of the service.

The Sixty-fifth Regiment and the First, Second and Third Battalions Infantry had field service near Farnham from August 12 to 19, under the direction of the commanding officer of the Fourth Brigade; detailed information as to this duty will be found in the report of the brigade commander.

The Twenty-second Regiment, Engineers, was on duty at the Camp of Instruction from June 17 to 24 under the instruction of Lieutenant-Colonel John Bogart, Engineer, National Guard, and advice of Major Mason M. Patrick, United States Engineers, who was assisted by Lieutenant Michael J. McDonough, United States Engineers, and Lieutenant I. S. Hunt, Nineteenth United States Infantry, and the U. S. Engineer detachment from West Point. The report of the commanding officer of the Twenty-second Regiment, Engineers is attached as Appendix "EE."

The services of the U. S. Army officers named above and of the detachment U. S. Engineers proved of the greatest value to the regiment and were and deserved to be appreciated.

The Signal Corps companies had the benefit of instruction also from Captain George C. Burnell, U. S. A. Signal Corps, whose advice and services were of great advantage to the companies. With Captain Burnell were Master Signal Electrician Frank Peters and Sergeant Charles R. Forbes, U. S. A., whose services were appreciated.

The camp and field service of the organizations named above was satisfactorily performed. The organizations on duty at the Camp of Instruction were under my immediate supervision; the other organizations were observed by Inspectors, whose reports and my observation show that discipline was good, instruction well imparted and that officers and men displayed commendable zeal in making the most of the opportunity given them.

The attendance as shown by the tables following was generally good:

DRILLS.

The drill season opens in October and continues until April. As a rule the organizations and their sbudivisions have each from twenty-four to twenty-eight drills during the season, many of them a much larger number.

ARMORY SMALL ARMS PRACTICE.

This duty also commences in October, but closes at the end of March. Each man is required to fire at least once each month. The practice is improving and is considered of great importance; to encourage the zeal displayed in this duty it seems very desirable that the State furnish the necessary ammunition for the practice.

FIELD SMALL ARMS PRACTICE.

The season for the field small arms practice closed on October 31. Its result is exceedingly satisfactory and greatly to be commended. The result is in

The State Team left New York for Sea Girt on Monday, August 21, and was quartered at the Beach house.

Upon arrival at Sea Girt it was found that the Individual Championship had been placed before the National Match proper. Tuesday, August 22 and Wednesday, August 23 were consumed in getting such practice for the team as range facilities would permit, including twenty-seven minutes practice in skirmishing, only sufficient time to make one run on Tuesday, August 22. In order that the members of the team should receive as much practice as possible, all of them were entered in the Individual Championship Match, which started on Thursday, August 24, and was not finished until Monday night, August 28. Early on Tuesday, August 29, Lieutenant-Colonel Thurston selected from the fifteen men composing the team and alternates the twelve men whose scores are appended hereto, to represent the State of New York in the competition. The scores aggregate 4,528 out of a possible 6,000 points, this being 206 points higher than the winning score of 1904.

The first stage of the match was begun at 8:30 a. m., on Tuesday, August 29, 200 and 600 yards slow fire and 200 yards rapid fire being all that could be accomplished on that day. On Wednesday, August 30, 500 yards rapid fire and 800 yards slow fire were taken up and concluded, and on Thursday, August 31, the wind being too high to shoot at 1,000 yards and properly operate the targets, the executive officer ordered skirmishing to take place and two runs were made by each team on that day. On Friday, September 1, 1,000 yards slow fire was taken up and concluded at 5:30 in the afternoon and resulted in a victory for the New York State Team by 68 points over the United States Army Infantry Team, which was second.

At the conclusion of the match, the executive officer presented to the winning team their prizes for which each individual signed. The $300 in cash was distributed amongst the eighteen officials, team an alternates, in equal shares; Lieutenant-Colonel Thurston, being a salaried officer, did not take any portion of the prize money.

The ammunition for preliminary practice and record firing for the National Indivdiual Match, the National Team and the Individual Revolver Match was issued by the ordnance officer on the range and amounted to 6,300 rounds 30 cal. ball cartridges and 1,250 rounds revolver ball cartridges, cal. 38, all of which was expended. Every national guardsman belonging to the State of New York, in addition to those who composed the regular State team, was furnished with sufficient ammunition to compete in the matches. Thirty-six teams, representing five teams of the regular establishment and thirty-one States and Territories, extending from Maine to Texas, and from the Atlantic to the Pacific, and including a team from Hawaii, competed in the National Match, besides the team from New York State; and to be successful for the third successive year in winning this Match, although handicapped by the removal from the team under the terms of G. O. 41, W. D., of one-third of the team of the previous year, should be a source of congratulation to the State, and demonstrates the superiority of the New York State system of small arms firing over troops of other States and the regular establishment.

The officials, team and substitutes worked in the utmost harmony, and the result places the State of New York, for the fourth successive year, as the foremost State in the rifle shooting world, for before the National Trophy was authorized by Act of Congress, the State of New York won the Hilton Trophy at Sea Girt, which was then the highest prize competed for throughout the United States—this was in 1902. In 1903 the National Trophy was offered by the government and won by the New York State at Sea Girt by 86 points over its next, nearest competitor. In 1904 victory was again with the State by 28 points over the United States Navy Team, which was second, and in 1905, as above, the State of New York was again victorious by 68 points over its next nearest competitor, the United States Infantry Team, which was second.

Under the provisions of G. O. 41, W. D., coaching was prohibited, and no communication with the men at the firing point was permitted from the rear. Six new men competed for the first time on the team, and each pair worked together without any assistance from the rear, and the result is extremely gratifying.

The conduct of officers and enlisted men reflects the highest credit upon their organizations and the State, and the magnificent team work displayed which achieved this grand result should be a source of pride and gratification to the entire National Guard. Lieutenant-Colonel Thurston deserves the highest commendation for his work.

Thirty-seven different teams competed in the National Match and finished in the order named:

1	New York	4,528

The distances were 200, 300, 500 and 600 yards slow fire; 200 and 500 yards rapid fire and two skirmish runs. Captain A. E. Wells, Seventy-first Regiment, was fourth, winning a gold medal and $20. tenant Sayre won a gold medal and $10 for making the highest aggregate score in slow fire. The National Guard of New York won three of the fifteen prizes offered by the government in this match.

The ammunition, both rifle and pistol, for the National Individual Match and the National Pistol Match, was supplied by Lieutenant-Colonel Thurston to the various individuals competing, as reported above, and was of 1905 manufacture and of excellent quality.

The New York State Team for 1905 disbanded on the evening of Friday, September 1, and the majority returned to New York. Several members of the team, however, remained over to take part in the matches of the National and the New Jersey State Rifle Associations, which meeting did not conclude until September 9.

The total expenses of the team were $1,322.99.

ARTILLERY PRACTICE.

The First, Second and Sixth Batteries voluntarily and at their own expense had some practice in firing with their guns this season, the First and Second at the Camp of Instruction and the Sixth Battery near its home station, Binghamton.

CONDITION OF THE NATIONAL GUARD.

The condition of the National Guard is good, its discipline is very satisfactory, and the work laid out for them this past year has been performed by officers and enlisted men with spirit and zeal worthy of commendation. The camp and field service of all was most satisfactory and was devoted especially to company, battalion and regimental drill with only a limited amount of extended order—as I consider it of the greatest importance that organizations should be well grounded in the details of the new drill regulations and the enlisted men thoroughly accustomed to the command of their officers.

Assistant Adjutant-General, N. G., N. Y., Capitol Postoffice, Albany, N. Y.:

Sir.—I have the honor to report that, pursuant to General Orders No. 3, current series, Headquarters National Guard, the First and Second Companies of the Signal Corps performed a tour of duty at the State Camp of Instruction near Peekskill, N. Y., from June 3 to June 10, 1905.

In accordance with the verbal instructions of the Major-General Commanding the National Guard, I assumed the direction of the instruction of the companies.

In accordance with orders issued by the War Department of the United States, Captain George C. Burnell, Signal Corps, U. S. A., was present in the Camp during the tour of duty as instructor, accompanied by, as assistants, Master Signal Electrician Frank Peters and Sergeant Charles R. Forbes of the Signal Corps, U. S. A.

The scheme arranged between Captain Burnell and myself for the instruction had for its purpose a routine service for stations being continually operated with apparatus for visual signaling and the individual instruction of the signalmen in duties which they might be expected to be called upon to perform. To this end the two companies were formed into a quasi-battalion for purposes of instruction. Captain Burnell placed himself thoroughly at the disposal of the situation and became adjutant of the battalion.

Visual signal stations were established, one upon Battery Hill and another at Roa Hook. These stations began communicating with each other on June 5 at 10 o'clock a. m., and continued in communication until 10 o'clock p. m. on this and other days during the tour of duty.

Commencing at 6.30 a. m., each company drilled for one hour in the drill regulations, dismounted, under the direction of their respective captains.

At 9 o'clock each morning, the men not needed for duty on the signal stations upon Battery Hill and Roa Hook were divided into classes to receive instruction in the following subjects, viz.:

Digitized by Google

1. The use and care of telescopes and field glasses.
2. Operation of heliographs.
3. Construction of lines for telephonic and telegraphic purposes.
4. Operation of type "D" kits.
5. Operation in the making of road maps and general reconnoisance work.
6. Instruction in making knots and lashings.
7. Instruction in the installing of telephone and telegraph instruments.

The details of these classes were made in such a manner that each man in each company received the benefit of instruction in each subject from an officer or non-commissioned officer placed in charge of the classes. The instructors of the several classes remained in charge of them during the tour of duty, and were selected because of their particular knowledge of the peculiar subject assigned to them.

The operation of the scheme proved to be successful. The time was not sufficient to impart a perfect knowledge of the various subjects to all, but every one received a certain amount of information regarding each subject that unquestionably appealed to the intelligence of those present as indicating a method and scheme of instruction which will bear fruit, I am sure, in future drill seasons.

In addition to the regular duties outlined above, a party from each company would leave the camp each afternoon for the purpose of selecting signal stations throughout the surrounding country. These parties made notes and road maps which, of course, varied in excellence, but which in every case placed the information quickly upon paper regarding the country through which they passed, in a manner intelligible to any one. These parties traveled with a proper equipment of instruments, etc., properly packed for transportation and use, and I believe this part of the work proved valuable to a great degree to the men and officers. On two occasions signal stations were established at considerable distances from the camp and communicated with it successfully with flags and flash lights. A platform raised upon a trestle or tower constructed under the direction of Captain Erlandsen was of great advantage in the work.

The camps were erected under the direction of the Inspector of the National Guard, and conformed to the camp of the Tenth Regiment Infantry that was performing a tour of duty at the same time.

There was no sickness during the tour of duty.

The disposition of the men to conduct themselves properly was quite apparent, and save for a little showing of good-natured boyishness on the part of some of the men of the First Company upon one occasion, the conduct and deportment of the signalmen was excellent.

The company streets and kitchens were well cared for.

In my opinion, it was wise to bring the two companies into camp at the same time. One great disadvantage that the companies of signal corps suffer is their isolation. Quartered alone, having little military association with other commands, the effect of their experiences during their drill season is to narrow the ideas which control both officers and men in all other matters than the particular duties of the signal corps. Of course, this is wrong. Signalmen should be soldierly as well as able to perform their technical duties. Serving in camp with other soldiers of their State can not but have been of great advantage.

The presence of Captain Burnell and his assisting non-commissioned officers was of great benefit to the tour of duty. Sergeant Forbes generally instructed in all matters pertaining to visual signaling. Master Electrician Peters instructed in the use of the type "D" kit and kindred electrical methods of communication. He also delivered a lecture upon wireless telegraphy which approached being a model of an accurate explanation and description of a scientific and complicated subject in terms so simple and clear as to win the praises of those who heard and understood his difficulties.

Captain Burnell had given the tour of duty considerable thought before it took place. He was tireless in his endeavors to impart information and knowledge to the officers and men. My appreciation of his help is very great.

My opinion is that the tour of duty did much to improve the future of both companies.

I think the Second Company, Captain Bigelow, entered somewhat more into the thought controlling the tour of duty and obtained the greater amount of benefit.

The reports of Captain Erlandsen and Captain Bigelow accompany this report.*

Respectfully,

FREDERICK T. LEIGH,

Signal Officer, National Guard.

APPENDIX "BB"

Report of the Commanding Officer, Seventh Regiment, on the Field Service of His Command.

HEADQUARTERS, SEVENTH REGIMENT, N. G., N. Y.
NEW YORK, October 1, 1905.

Assistant Adjutant-General, N. G., N. Y., Albany, N. Y.:

Sir.—In compliance with General Orders, No. 3, paragraph 19, Headquarters National Guard, I have the honor to submit my report of operations on field service at the State Camp, Peekskill, June 10 to 17, 1905.

The regiment entrained at the Grand Central Depot, but was compelled to return via Eleventh avenue and Sixty-sixth street, much to its discomfort. The Second Battalion was detained one hour and much dissatisfaction was expressed at the indifference of the railroad authorities.

Instruction during the tour of duty was strictly in accordance with the provisions of Special Orders No. 99, Headquarters National Guard, and great care given to working out the new drill regulations in the field. Every officer, non-commissioned officer and man (including staff officers) were provided with information regarding their duties. Copies of the voluminous circulars and orders issued on the several subjects are enclosed as a part of this report, marked A*, B* and C.* The reports of the Lieutenant-Colonel† and the Majors commanding the First and Second Battalions indicate by the results obtained that the preliminary work in the armory (office and on the drill floor) was well done.

The schools of instruction, regimental, battalion and company, held daily in compliance with my instructions, were progressive and thorough. This was demonstrated in the promptness at all formations, in the intelligent drills, the strict attention paid to military courtesy, the precision during all ceremonies, and the excellent discipline which obtained at all times.

The zeal and evident desire of officers and men to improve was manifest at every hour of the tour of duty, and I especially invite your attention to the reports of the field officers already referred to for the detail of operations which were carried on under my personal observation—and if necessary, supervision, and to my entire satisfaction.

*These orders and circulars consisted largely of matter from regulations and authorized text books and are not published here.
†The report of the Lieutenant-Colonel is not printed here.

On Sunday an impressive church service was held on the bluff by permission of the Major-General Commanding.

The Commissary Department was handled with judgment and efficiency, and the companies were abundantly and properly fed. No complaints were received.

The Quartermaster's Department was conducted in the usual efficient, business-like manner associated with the administration of its chief.

The hospital, as organized by the Surgeon, was a model and gave great satisfaction to myself. I felt at all times that my command would receive the very best modern relief if necessary. The health of the regiment was excellent.

The permission to take the regimental undress uniform to camp was much appreciated, as it enabled the regiment to "clean up" after the day's work was over—and this, with the presence of the excellent regimental band, contributed much to the cheerfulness and activity of all ranks.

The school of the trooper, under the personal command of the Major-General, was without doubt the most valuable instruction ever received by the mounted officers of this regiment, and the improvement noted was very marked.

I desire to express my acknowledgments of valuable assistance and marked courtesies received from the members of the Staff S. N. Y. and of the National Guard.

The fact that the dates of the graduating exercises at West Point and the tour of duty of the Seventh Regiment fell within a few days of each other prevented the presence of the Battalion of Cadets, and General Mills and Colonel Treat were kind enough to express their regret that the profitable and pleasant experiences of former years could not be repeated, but that the continuity of this relationship, extending back through so many years, should not be broken, General Mills sent the First Class Mounted, under command of Captain F. C. Marshall, United States Army, on Friday, and a delightful and enjoyable mid-day mess was eaten by the two corps at the fires of the several companies.

Respectfully,

DANIEL APPLETON,

Colonel.

ARMORY, SEVENTH REGIMENT, N. G., N. Y.
NEW YORK, July 1, 1905.

The Adjutant, Seventh Regiment, N. G., N. Y.:

Sir.—I have the honor to submit a report of the tour of duty at the State Camp of Instruction near Peekskill, N. Y. from June 10 to 17, inclusive, of the Second Battalion of this Regiment. The battalion consists of Companies B, C, D, E and H.

Under direction from Regimental Headquarters all administrative details during this tour were left to the Battalion Commanding Officer; orders, details and instructions from Headquarters coming to him to be transmitted or carried out. This arrangement afforded valuable instruction and experience for the battalion staff and non-commissioned staff officers, and without exception they performed their duties well.

The battalion left with the regiment its home station at 9.35 a. m., June 10, and entrained at the Grand Central station, Forty-second street, at 10.05 a. m.; the train left at 10.30 a. m., and arrived at Roa Hook, near Peekskill, at 11.50 a. m. The battalion joined the First Battalion, which had previously arrived, and as part of the regiment marched to the camp ground and made camp under direction of the commanding officer.

The course of instruction for this camp, both theoretical and practical, was prescribed from Regimental Headquarters and fully carried out.

The theoretical instruction was so arranged as to prepare for and supplement the practical instruction on the drill ground.

Officers' schools in the battalion were held daily from June 11 to 16, inclusive. The hour was immediately following first sergeant's call.

At these schools errors in the performance of camp duties and in drills were pointed out, and the subjects for non-commissioned officers' schools and for future drills were considered and discussed. On June 15 the commanding officer of the battalion drilled the lieutenants of the battalion in the manual of the sabre, including the salute on the march.

Non-commissioned officers' schools were held daily in each company immediately after officers' school, the captain being the instructor. The schedule of subjects for these schools was as follows:

June 11. Guard duty and routine of camp duty. Guard Manual and State Regulations, sections 761, 762, 833 to 861.

June 12. To make shelter tent roll, General Orders No. 10, National Guard, June 29, 1904. To pitch and strike single shelter tents. Drill Regulations, paragraphs 570, 571, 574.

Digitized by Google

June 13. Advance and rear guards. Drill Regulations, paragraphs 538 to 547. Field Service Regulations, U. S. A., paragraphs 95 to 125. Wagner's Catechism, pages 10 to 25.

June 14. Outpost duty. Drill Regulations, paragraphs 538 to 547. Field Service Regulations, U. S. A., paragraphs 125 to 184. Wagner's Catechism, pages 25 to 68.

June 15. Troops in battle. Drill Regulations, paragraphs 336 to 347. Honors. Drill Regulations, paragraphs 587 to 602.

June 16. Military Correspondence, State Regulations, Part II, Office Duties, paragraphs 94 to 124.

An officer was detailed in each company as instructor in guard duty and he daily assembled the men detailed for guard and instructed them in their duties.

Company and battalion drills were conducted under direction from Regimental Headquarters as follows:

June 12. Morning drill. By companies in close order. Forenoon drill. Omitted on account of rain.

June 13. Morning drill. By companies in close order and in formation to pitch shelter tents. Forenoon drill. By battalion in close order.

June 14. Morning drill. By companies in formation of advance and rear guard. While the companies executed the movements as separate units, the instruction and drill was directly under the commanding officer of the battalion. Forenoon drill. By battalion in pitching and striking shelter tents.

June 15. Morning drill. By companies in formation of outposts, including Cossack posts. The companies acted as separate units, but the instruction and drill was directly under the commanding officer of the battalion. Forenoon drill. By regiment in close order followed by battalion in close order.

June 16. By permission the morning drill was omitted and combined with the forenoon drill. The battalion assembled at 8 a. m., and on the north parade ground was formed with advance and rear guard as follows: Advance guard, Companies D and E, Captain John A. Davidson (Company E), in command. Rear guard, Company C and one platoon of Company B, Captain John W. McDougall (Company C), in command. Main body, Company H, and one platoon of Company B. Full distances were taken and in this formation the battalion moved up the valley of the old rifle range to simulate a march in the presence of the enemy. The instructions to the advance guard were that when the main body permanently halted to take the formation of an outpost with Cossack posts. The main body halted at the old rifle-pit. Upon receipt of information that the advance guard had taken outpost formation the commanding officer of the battalion went forward to examine the position. The advance guard had been formed in two supports in an excellent position for defence. Each support had three Cossack posts. Some slight changes in the disposition were directed. The supports were divided into reliefs of the Cossack posts and into patrols. The posts were relieved and the general routine of outpost work established. In the meantime the rear guard had been brought up and joined the main body, which was now considered as the reserve for the outpost guard. Later the reserve was brought forward and relieved the supports and they retired to the position of the reserve.

Lieutenant Burdett Kipp and three privates were detailed with instruction to scout along the front and flanks of the outpost and when opportunity offered to open fire.

This duty was well performed. Lieutenant Kipp's subsequent report brought out the importance of the use of signals and the omission of verbal commands as far as possible with the advance and the ease with which officers equipped with bright scabbards can be distinguished.

The battalion assembled and returned to camp at 11.45 a. m.

On June 17 camp was broken and the regiment marched at 10.29 a. m., to Roa Hook en route for its home station. The First Battalion left on the first train and this battalion stacked arms, unslung equipments and waited for the second train. It entrained and left at 12.21 p. m. The delay of nearly an hour was occasioned by the necessity of sending the locomotive which brought the train from New York several miles up the track to be turned around.

The battalion arrived at West Sixtieth street, New York, at 1.19 p. m., joined the First Battalion and marched to the Armory, where the regiment was dismissed.

During this tour the officers and men of this command discharged their duties with zeal and intelligence and the experiences of the week were profitable and pleasant.

Respectfully,

WILLARD C. FISK,

Major.

ARMORY SEVENTH REGIMENT, N. G., N. Y.

NEW YORK, August 1, 1905.

The Adjutant, Seventh Regiment, N. G., N. Y.:

Sir.—I have the honor to submit the following report of the tour of duty as a part of the regiment, at the State Camp of Instruction, from June 10 to 17, of the First Battalion, composed of Companies A, F, G, I and K.

The regiment marched to the Grand Central Station from the Armory, where the battalion entrained in the leading section at 10 a. m.—strength, 15 officers, 353 men.

The battalion on reaching Roa Hook waited the arrival of the second section containing the Second Battalion, and then marched to camp, stacked arms on the field in front of the camp site and awaited the location of points and lines by the engineer officers and their men detailed for that purpose, under direction of the commanding officer.

The camp was made as the baggage arrived, by the Company Commanding Officers, with few exceptions tents were raised by signal with precision and uniformity. The tentage of field and staff was put up later at convenience.

The performance of field service was strictly in accordance with Special Orders No. 99, Headquarters National Guard, New York, April 27, 1905, and in the special manner of performance and order of drills prescribed by General Orders No. 7, Headquarters Seventh Regiment, June 1, 1905; circulars May 26, 1905, May 29, 1905, and June 2, 1905, and Memorandum for Drills in Camp, issued June 11, 1905.

This was substantially accomplished as follows:

	MORNING DRILL.	FORENOON DRILL.
Monday, June 12th.	Company in close order, including stack arms.	Battalion in close order. (Omitted on account of rain.)
Tuesday, June 13th.	Company in close order and in formation to pitch single shelter tents.	Battalion in close order.
Wednesday, June 14th.	Company in formation of advance and rear guards, under direction of the Major.	Battalion in close order and pitching shelter tents.
Thursday, June 15th.	Company in formation of outposts and cossack posts, under direction of the Major.	Regiment and Battalion in close order.
Friday, June 16th.	Company in extended order, including "normal attack." (Omitted and combined with Forenoon Drill.)	Battalion in formation of outposts and incidental field work.

Theoretical instruction preceded each of the foregoing, the regimental school being held at first sergeant's call, followed immediately by officers' schools in the battalion; non-commissioned officers schools were held by the company commanders after officers' school.

In addition to the foregoing topics the new field service regulations and the guard manual were reviewed and the subject of camp sanitation, under the daily help of the reports of the Inspector, National Guard, New York, was dwelt upon at some length.

The exercises of Friday, before referred to, were worked up with care and prosecuted with much vigor and interest.

The problem was to locate an outpost to the north of the camp, which would fulfill the chief requirements of use for defense, observation and protection to the main body; to hastily fortify the ground when located, utilizing the military crest of the elevation, to patrol the adjacent country and finally to resist an attack.

Company A, whose captain had great familiarity with the country through prior years of scouting, was detailed to move out some time in advance of the battalion, and to organize an attack upon the outpost, making such exposure to our advance as he chose. The battalion moved out as an advance guard slowly and cautiously up the McCoy road and some distance up the valley. The regimental ambulance had been secured to go on the march and Chaplain McCord volunteered to re-inforce my staff. The location for the outpost was then selected on the slope south of the upper exit of the McCoy road, at a point covering the Annsville valley and the Garrison road. Cossack posts were established at advance points to cover the north and west and several patrols were sent out to develop possible lines of communication and to observe any hostile movement. Meanwhile the reserve began fortifying their ground under the direction of Lieutenant Louis W. Stotesbury, who was detailed as engineer officer; his report is hereto annexed.

The lessons of the situation were exemplified as far as possible until the attacking force drove in a cossack post and a strong patrol on the left, capturing a number by surrounding them, but the reserve upon which they fell back was able to resist the attack and after mild refreshment and rest the force returned to camp in the formation of a rear guard. The time was more than fully occupied in an exercise that appeared, by the zest with which it was performed, to be enjoyed, although the weather was hot. The usual evening parade was made, excepting two occasions when prevented by rain. Camp was broken on Saturday and the regiment returned by train, marching from Sixty-fifth street west, to the Armory.

The experience of having the battalion administration conducted through the battalion commanders, gave the battalion adjutants an opportunity to carry out a supervision of the sergeant's work under their immediate commanders and gave company commanders a closer relation to each other and their next superior which operated to make the battalion more a unit than in previous years at camp.

The supervision of camp life, the care of property, the draining of the camp site, the care of the cook-shacks, cooks and sinks, were all apparently more effectively accomplished by the creation of the battalion administration under the direction of the commanding officer.

The work of the first sergeants of this battalion merits special commendation for the promptness and accuracy with which it was performed; returns were always in without delay, and formations were quick and orderly. The discipline was entirely within the control of the company commanders and the work of the battalion staff was performed with industry and intelligence.

Respectfully,

CHARLES E. LYDECKER,
Major, Seventh Regiment, N. G., N. Y.

NEW YORK, N. Y., June 27, 1905.

Adjutant, First Battalion, Seventh Regiment, N. G., N. Y.:

Sir.—I have the honor to submit the following report of services as engineer officer with the First Battalion on outpost duty on June 16, 1905, at the State Camp, near Peekskill, New York.

For the purpose of instruction it was assumed that the battalion was outpost for a brigade, that the main body was encamped on the State reservation. A line of resistance was selected, at a distance of from one and one-half to two miles from the main body, upon which the supports were to be established and from which the positions of other parts of the outpost were to be determined. A natural ridge overlooking Annsville (Garrison) road marked the general line. Cossack posts were established, affording a complete observation and protection of the available approaches by which the enemy might advance.

I was directed to mark the line of resistance which had been selected for the purpose of hastily intrenching the position. The line was staked out and details of ten men each from three companies were assigned to the work of intrenching. The details worked in relays for ten minutes each, and at the end of thirty minutes, when the work was suspended, a rough defense had been constructed sufficiently wide and deep to afford concealment and protection while firing and from which a clear view of the slope to its base and of the road to the left of the position were obtainable.

The outer bank of the intrenchment was covered with evergreens and brush, so that its position would not have been readily disclosed. The slope in front was partially cleared and the felled tree, placed so as to hinder as much as possible, an advancing enemy.

The practice served to demonstrate the duties of the outpost and the special services required of its several parts.

There is included herewith a rough map of the position.

Respectfully,

LOUIS W. STOTESBURY,

Second Lieutenant, First Battalion.

Report of the Commanding Officer, Sixth Battery, on the Field Service of His Command.

SIXTH BATTERY, N. G., N. Y.

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., August 27, 1905.

Assistant Adjutant-General, N. G., N. Y, Albany, N. Y.:

Sir.—I have the honor to report the movement and operations of the Sixth Battery, while under my command, covering the period of July 4 to 15, inclusive.

The period from July 4 to 7, inclusive, was by permission granted by the Major-General Commanding, the men serving without pay and the bills to be audited out of the battery funds. The period July 8 to 15, inclusive, was State Camp of Instruction by order of the Governor.

In the report I shall treat the matter as a continuous service of twelve days. On July 4 the men assembled at 7 a. m.; the State Inspector, Colonel Chapin, joined us at this time and observed the method of receiving and inspecting the horses and their assignment to sections. Sixty-seven horses were delivered at the Armory by Stevens & Seaman; the horses, with few exceptions, were a fine lot and well adapted to the work; most of them were green western horses, but were particularly good.

Eighty men reported for duty. By 10 o'clock the battery was ready to move, the horses having all been inspected and accepted by the veterinary sergeant, harness fitted, baggage wagons loaded and all in compact form. The column consisted of the four guns with their caissons, the battery forge, two baggage wagons, ambulance and three spare horses. After moving two miles—the column was moving in compact form—we arrived at the Casino, Endicott, nine miles from the home station, at 1 o'clock p. m., all in good condition. Camp was made on good ground with fine water for both men and horses. This camp site presents exceptional advantages for a camp of this character and the State Inspector decided that it should be a permanent camp for this tour of duty. The guard was mounted in the Armory before leaving, and the afternoon was spent in making the camp shipshape for the twelve days of duty. The attendance varied somewhat each day, due to different causes—July 4, 80 men; July 9, 84 men, the largest attendance, and July 15, 74. Three men were ordered to the home station for disciplinary reasons, five were sent home as being physically unfit for duty; this matter I have already treated in a special report.

After consultation with the inspector it was decided to make a special point of instruction in guard duty and camp sanitation and hygiene and under the very able instruction of the inspector, I am sure that great benefit was derived by the command in these subjects. The camp was sweet, clean and wholesome, and entirely free from the intestinal troubles which so often are associated with camp. On July 5 one half of the battery was sent to the range for small arms practice, and on July 6 the balance practiced on the range. The camp schedule was adhered to with few modifications, the effort was to get two mounted drills each day in order to take advantage of the large expenditure for horses.

Each day at 1.30 p. m. school was held in front of the officers' tents, all of the men reporting. The effort was to impart as much elementary instruction as possible, one of the officers taking charge each day. Colonel Chapin's instructions were much appreciated by both officers and men. This instruction was especially valuable owing to the fact that the battery for a number of years has encamped alone and has not had the advantage of associating with other troops, and the much-needed knowledge gained only by association with others is lacking, as to the methods of procedure and usages of the service.

The subjects treated on at the schools were: The "soldier himself," the care of uniform, his conduct and courtesy between officers and men, guard duties, the sentinel, his importance, etc.; personal hygiene and camp sanitation, the cause and nature of diseases and how prevented, gunnery, and the use of the Weldon range finder. On July 12 field maneuvers, consisting of sending each platoon separately to different high points in the vicinity, assigning them to find each other, ascertain the range and disclose each other by blanks. The points were ascertained to be 2,200 yards apart. The pieces only were taken with six horses to each piece, it being impossible to ascend the elevations with only two pairs. This instruction was entirely new to the men and very valuable. On July 13 reveille was sounded at 3 a. m., horses watered and fed, men served with coffee and sandwiches, pieces were horsed with three pair hitches and a march made about eight miles from camp to a high point commanding the city of Binghamton. The position covered all the roads leading out from Binghamton to the west, the range to the courthouse being 7,200 yards. The battery was exercised in taking different battery positions, etc. The battery returned to camp at 1 p. m. In going into camp the commanding officer was notified that a sorrel mare, owned by Stevens & Seaman was in distress owing to the extreme heat and excitement of the march. BROOKLYN, August 16, 1905

Assistant Adjutant-General, N. G., N. Y.:

Sir—The following report* of tour of field service is submitted:

Pursuant to the provisions of General Orders No. 3, Headquarters National Guard, this regiment proceeded to Fort Terry, Plum Island, on Friday, August 4, under orders hereto attached and issued as General Orders No. 13, Headquarters Thirteenth Regiment.

Entraining as prescribed in General Orders No. 16, Headquarters Thirteenth Regiment, also forwarded herewith.

Hours of service as noted in General Orders No. 15, Headquarters Thirteenth Regiment, attached hereto.

Artillery instruction was imparted and details assigned as per General Orders No. 14, Headquarters Thirteenth Regiment, which order is submitted with this report.

The artillery practice was more than satisfactory and is detailed on the accompanying reports.

The regiment left Plum Island on Sunday, August 13, at 10.30 a. m. The Long Island Railroad boats were held off Greenport for over an hour, awaiting the arrival of two trains of excursionists from Brooklyn. The cars were absolutely unsupplied with water which was specially mentioned, as a necessary condition of supply, in the contract. The conductor refused to stop at any station to replenish and I gave no receipt for transportation for that reason. The men suffered in the long ride from thirst and it is to be hoped that proper measures be taken to secure proper allowance for breach of contract.

The cars were absolutely unsupplied with water which was specially mentioned, as a necessary condition of supply, in the contract. The conductor refused to stop at any station to replenish and I gave no receipt for transportation for that reason. The men suffered in the long ride from thirst and it is to be hoped that proper measures be taken to secure proper allowance for breach of contract.

Respectfully,

D. E. AUSTEN,

Colonel Thirteenth Regiment, Heavy Artillery.

P. P. BISHOP,
Captain Artillery Corps, U. S. A.

V. The Following "Notes on Artillery Work," prepared by Captain Bishop U. S. A. must be carefully read, and in daily schools impressed by Fire Commanders on all Officers for observance.

NOTES ON ARTILLERY WORK FOR THE ENCAMPMENT OF THE THIRTEENTH REGIMENT, HEAVY ARTILLERY, N. G., N. Y., at Plum Island, in August, 1905:

1. Armament to be manned at which target practice will take place:

Mortar Battery	8	12" B. L. Mortars
10" Battery	2	10" B. L. Rifles
6" Battery	2	6" B. L. Rifles
4.72" Battery	1	4.72" B. L. Rifles

2. General Orders No. 93 W. D., June 17, 1905, should be carefully studied by officers. This order is the latest W. D. order on Artillery Instructions and Practice, and should be guide for artillery work. (Take up this order, run over and read extracts applying strictly to artillery work.)

3. Two things are undoubtedly highly desirable to result from the encampment:

Digitized by Google

First. That the Regiment shall make a good record at their artillery practice.

Second. That there shall be no accidents to the gun crews in handling the guns nor errors in pointing the pieces, whereby the tug towing targets and observing parties might be injured.

Such accidents are not by any means impossible, even with troops regularly and continually manning heavy artillery, and as the time the Regiment will have in preparing for the practice is limited, of course it will necessarily be handicapped in its preparation.

Such precautions as the above would not be so necessary were it not for the fact that the moving targets are to be fired at. A fixed target would make the work very simple.

4. With this in view it will be necessary for all officers to exercise the utmost care to see that gunners aim and fire at the proper target, in case II, and that gunners and detachment commanders lay their mortars with correct azimuth and elevation, in case III.

Perhaps more mistakes occur in transmitting figures by telephone than any other way. To avoid this each telephone operator should be required to repeat each figure or set of figures that he receives and to assure himself that he has received the figures correctly before he transmits them or applies them to use.

Too much stress cannot be laid on this point.

5. The work of instruction should be progressive. The nomenclature of such guns and carriages as the men are not familiar with, and of the range-finding and other artillery material should be first learned. Then the drill should progress through the individual, the detachment, the battery, the fire command and the battle command.

6. During the artillery firing all work at guns should be done deliberately and without any great effort at speed, at the expense of safety and accuracy.

7. In the case of missfire the breech must not be opened until ten minutes have expired.

8. It is not permissible to use water for sponging until after the firing is over, and then only for the purpose of cleaning up the pieces.

A dry sponge should be used between rounds, and great care should be taken that sufficient time elapses between rounds to enable all chance for a "flare-back," or a premature explosion to be eliminated.

9. In a mortar battery the lanyards must never be attached to the firing devices in the breech blocks until the pieces are elevated so that their muzzles have cleared the parapet.

10. Careful attention should be paid to paragraph 68, G. O. 93, W. D., 1905 by those assigned to duty with mortar batteries. The safety of the men in the pits make these precautions emphatic.

11. All guns and carriages should be carefully adjusted and the pieces and carriages inspected and adjustments verified by the responsible officers, just prior to any firing. The adjustments are multitudinous and will have to be taken up in detail by the responsible officers. The officer detailed for the encampment will gladly assist any individual officer who may desire help in this work.

12. All projectiles should be made to weigh the same (range table weight) prior to the firing. Variation in the weight of projectiles affect their ballistic properties, and though this is usually only very slight it is always best to have the projectiles of uniform weight.

13. In inserting the new combination electric and friction primer in the new firing mechanisms, great care must be taken that the cannoneer does not put any pressure on the button wire. The primer must be inserted by pushing on the body of the primer. A very slight pull or pressure on the button wire may cause the primer to explode, and if the piece is loaded the lives of the members of the gun crew are endangered. Cases of this kind have occurred in drill, even when no powder charge was used, whereby men have lost their fingers.

14. The above notes merely touch upon some of the important points connected with the artillery work. There are many other points that are not brought out and which will come up for solution during the practice work at the batteries.

The greatest benefit will, of course, be gained by the work at the batteries; but familiarity with the drills, orders, regulations, precautions, etc., that can be gained before the encampment will facilitate the work when the troops take up their work at the guns.

The officer detailed for the encampment not only feels it his duty, but considers it his privilege to assist on artillery work in every way possible, at any and all times, any member of the regiment either in connection with official work or personally.

P. P. BISHOP,
Captain Artillery Corps., U. S. A.
By order of Colonel AUSTEN,
THOMAS R. FLEMING,
Regimental Adjutant.

APPENDIX "EE"

Report of the Commanding Officer, Twenty-Second Regiment, Engineers, on the Field Service of his Command.

HEADQUARTERS TWENTY-SECOND REGIMENT ENGINEERS, N. G., N. Y.
BROADWAY AND SIXTY-EIGHTH STREET,

NEW YORK CITY, July 3, 1905

Assistant Adjutant-General, N. G., N. Y.

Sir—I have the honor to make the following report:

In accordance with General Orders No. 3, Headquarters National Guard, New York, detailing this organization, among others, for field service at the Camp of Instruction, the regiment assembled at the armory on Saturday, June 17, 1905, at 7.45 a. m.; started from the armory at 8.20 a. m.; was entrained at Sixtieth street and Eleventh avenue at 8.45 a. m., and left the city for camp at 8.52 a. m. The command reached Roa Hook at 10.10 a. m. and marched to the State Camp. The field ovens, tentage, tools and other baggage were taken with the regiment.

I saw the regiment off from the armory, but was unable to leave the city until the afternoon, owing to the fact that I was actually engaged in the trial of an action before Mr. Justice White in trial term, part 9 of the Supreme Court. I left town for camp on the 5.36 p. m. train, reported immediately upon my arrival and took command of the regiment at about 7.30 p. m.

Although during the tour of duty there were heavy rains from time to time, the rain did not interfere with our work, as it came in the afternoon or in the evening after parade.

On Sunday, June 18, at 11 a. m. divine services were held in the mess hall by the Rev. Richard Cobden, the chaplain of the regiment.

On Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday mornings from 6.45 to 7.45 o'clock the companies were drilled in the manual and in the school of the company by their respective company commanders, the battalions alternating in the use of the two drill grounds.

On Friday morning the same hour was employed in battalion drills under the respective commands of the two majors.

Digitized by Google

Marked improvement was shown in the course of the week in the company drills.

Until Saturday, every morning from 8.30 to 11 o'clock was devoted to engineering work under the able and efficient guidance and control of Major Mason M. Patrick of the Engineer Corps of the United States Army, assisted by First Lieutenant Michael J. McDonough of the Engineer Corps, and First Lieutenant Irvin L. Hunt of the Nineteenth Infantry, and some 70 enlisted men of the Engineer detachment. Lieutenant-Colonel John Bogart, Engineer, N. G., N. Y., aided with his co-operation and advice.

On Monday and Tuesday seven companies, A, C, D, E, F, G and I, worked along the creek and on the waters thereof under the immediate command of Major Patrick, in constructing various types of floating bridges, such as the Birago trestle, reserve pontons, canvas pontons, the triangular trestle and a bridge made of empty casks. The remaining three companies, B, H and K, were sent to the top of the hill, where they worked on the plateau under the command of Lieutenant McDonough in constructing a suspension bridge, a single lock spar bridge and a double lock spar bridge.

On Wednesday Company K continued its work on the suspension bridge. Companies F and I were sent to the hill where they worked on a double lock spar bridge, and on the construction of a bridge over the roadway or approach to the camp. The remaining seven companies worked on the continued construction of the floating bridges and on their subsequent dismantling.

On Thursday Company K completed its suspension bridge. Companies B, C and H were sent to the site of the entrenched fortification constructed two years ago under the supervision of Lieutenant-Colonel Bogart, where Company H built a gun pit protected by sand bags, and Companies B and C constructed a bomb proof. The other companies, save I, worked on the plateau in the neighborhood of Fort Hill. On the lower drill ground Company A constructed wire entanglements of two kinds—one designed to embarrass an infantry attack, and the other to check cavalry. Company G, on the same drill ground, laid out and made defilades and profiles. Near by Company D lashed poles together and erected a flag pole from which the Stars and Stripes floated. On Fort Hill, Company E constructed a gin and shears, while in the neighborhood Company F erected and operated a derrick, raising and lowering mortars therewith. Company I built a double lock spar bridge over a ravine not far from the steps descending to the ferry.

Digitized by Google

On Friday, the whole command was assembled at the water's edge of the creek where an object lesson in the rapid construction of a composite bridge was given by the engineer detachment under the command of Major Patrick. After the completion of this bridge by the engineer detachment, our men devoted the rest of the drill hours to aiding the engineers in dismantling their bridge and in assembling and packing their materials.

I cannot speak in terms sufficiently high of the value of the services rendered to us by Major Patrick and his assistants. His marked ability and his active and kindly efforts in instructing our officers and men call for the highest commendation and appreciation on my part and on the part of my whole command. Nor can I, at this time, fail to note the alacrity, zeal and forceful industry shown by the non-commissioned officers and the enlisted men of my regiment in their engineering work and in their efforts to learn as much as possible on the occasion of this rare opportunity for instruction.

The regiment was fed by its own commissary. The food was plentiful and excellent, and gave general satisfaction to the officers and the enlisted men.

The ceremony of guard mounting was well done and satisfactory.

The books kept in the Adjutant's office were models of correctness.

The quartermaster was efficient and painstaking in the discharge of his duties.

There was no serious illness during the whole week, and the few cases of minor importance were quickly controlled by Dr. Smith, the able regimental surgeon, and his assistants.

On Saturday, June 24, the general sounded at 7 a. m., the regiment was entrained at Roa Hook at 10.30 a. m., and left Roa Hook at 11.40 a. m. The regiment arrived at Sixtieth street and Eleventh avenue at 12.47 p. m., and reached the armory at 1.05 p. m.

Respectfully,

Colonel

APPENDIX "FF"

Annual Report of the Commanding Officer, First Brigade.

HEADQUARTERS FIRST BRIGADE, N. G., N. Y.
No. 50 EAST FIFTY-NINTH STREET
NEW YORK, November 6, 1905

Assistant Adjutant-General, N. G., N. Y.:

Sir—In accordance with the requirements of the regulations governing the military forces of the State, I have the honor to submit the following as my report of the operations of the Brigade during the past year.

In compliance with General Orders No. 2, Headquarters National Guard, the several organizations of the brigade proceeded to Creedmoor on assigned dates in May, 1905, for small arms practice; officers and enlisted men who were unable for any reason to attend with their organizations on the dates named for general practice, very generally took advantage of the supplementary days later in the season.

The result of the season's practice can not now be given, the figures not yet having been tabulated.

This is the third consecutive annual report in which I have been enabled to invite attention to the fact that in the annual competition for the National Trophy, which took place this year at Sea Girt, N. J., August 29–September 1, a majority of the officers and enlisted men composing the team of twelve from this State, were from this brigade.

Pursuant to Special Orders No. 112, Headquarters National Guard, the brigade paraded on Memorial Day, May 30, 1905, as a portion of the escort to the Grand Army of the Republic in honor of the dead of the Civil and Spanish American wars; the Eighth Regiment was directed to take part in a parade in the Borough of the Bronx.

General Orders No. 4, A. G. O., designated the Seventh Regiment to perform a tour of camp service, and under General Orders No. 3, Headquarters National Guard, it proceeded to the Camp of Instruction near Peekskill, June 10, returning to its home station on June 17, 1905. The regiment was not under my command during its tour and I have not, at this date, an official report of its operations.

Digitized by Google

While the average attendance at drills and schools of instruction throughout the brigade is fair and probably equal to that of any season since accurate records have been kept, it is considerably below the desired figures in some of the organizations.

* * * * * *

An inspection of the headquarters of the brigade was made by Captain Edwin Bell, Eighth U. S. Infantry, on September 25, 1905, at which all the officers were present excepting Lieutenant-Colonel Nathan S. Jarvis, who was on detached service representing the State at a convention of military surgeons at Detroit, Mich.

The aggregate strength of the brigade at the date of the last semi-annual return, September 30, 1905, was

Officers	255
Enlisted men	4,225
Aggregate	4,480

Annual Report of the Commanding Officer, Second Brigade.

HEADQUARTERS SECOND BRIGADE, N. G., N. Y.
MUNICIPAL BUILDING
BOROUGH OF BROOKLYN, N. Y., November 6, 1905

Assistant Adjutant-General, N. G., N. Y., Albany, N. Y.:

Sir—I have the honor to submit the following report.

This brigade consists of the Fourteenth, Twenty-third and Forty-seventh Regiments of Infantry, and the aggregate strength on September 30 was 2,216 as follows:

Brigade Commander and staff	10
Fourteenth Regiment (12 companies)	790
Twenty-third Regiment (10 companies)	763
Forty-seventh Regiment (8 companies)	653
Total	2,216

As the aggregate strength of the brigade is less than shown by the report of last year, it is mainly accounted for by General Orders No. 10, A. G. O., detaching the Seventeenth Separate Company at Flushing, with an aggregate strength of 103 from this brigade to form part of the Tenth Regiment, Third Brigade. The Twenty-third and Forty-seventh Regiments show a gain, while the Fourteenth Regiment shows a loss.

This brigade, with the Thirteenth Regiment Heavy Artillery Third Battery Light Artillery, Second Signal Company and Squadron C, Cavalry, paraded on Decoration Day with the Grand Army of the Republic and other war veteran associations and several organizations of uniformed cadets. One of the interesting ceremonies of the day was the unveiling of the equestrian statue of Major General Henry W. Slocum. The President of the United States was present at the unveiling, delivered an address, and later reviewed the column of parade. Squadron C, Cavalry, Major Charles I. DeBevoise, commanding, was detailed and served as special escort to the President.

Digitized by Google

This was the only parade of the brigade during the year, although in each regiment there was much interest taken in field service by companies, and in two instances field and camp duty by battalions.

More than the usual interest was taken in small arms practice during the season now closed, and the number qualifying as marksmen, sharpshooters, experts and distinguished experts shows greater progress in the important branch of the education of a soldier. In this connection it is a great pleasure to acknowledge and commend the ability, industry and devotion to duty of Lieutenant-Colonel N. B. Thurston, to whom much of the credit is due.

APPENDIX "HH"

Annual Report of the Commanding Officer, Third Brigade, with reports of the Commanding Officers of the Tenth and First Regiments on their Respective Tours of Field Service.

HEADQUARTERS THIRD BRIGADE, N. G., N. Y.

ALBANY, September 30, 1905

Assistant Adjutant-General, N. G., N. Y.:

Sir—I have the honor to submit herewith the annual report of the Third Brigade. There has been a loss in membership since the last annual report. The strength of the brigade on September 30, 1904, was 2,740, the strength at the present date is 2,735, making a net loss of five.

The composition of the brigade has materially changed since the last report, which, in my judgment, has considerably increased its efficiency, and it now consists of three well equipped and serviceable regiments.

General Orders No. 10, A. G. O., disbanded the First Regiment, Fourth and Tenth Battalions, to take effect May 1, 1905, transferred the Seventeenth Separate Company from the Second to the Third Brigade, and Companies A, B, C and D, Tenth Battalion, were declared to be separate companies after May 1, 1905, and designated as Twenty-sixth, Thirty-fifth, Thirty-eighth and Forty-fifth Separate Companies, respectively, while the First and Tenth Regiments were created to be composed of 12 and 11 separate companies, respectively, as named.

Company G, Fourth Battalion (Thirty-first Separate Company), was called out by the sheriff of Herkimer county October 17 and 18, 1904, in aid of the civil authority and promptly responded. [See report of Captain Eddy forwarded after duty was performed.]

General Orders No. 5, National Guard designated the Tenth Regiment for a tour of field service at Camp of Instruction near Peekskill June 3 to 10.

Digitized by Google

I was present with the Brigade Inspector from June 5 to 10 to observe the work of the regiment, and was very favorably impressed. For detailed report see report of Colonel Denike herewith appended marked "A."

The same order designated Headquarters Third Brigade and First Regiment for a tour of field service, which order was duly complied with under the direction of the Brigade Commander, the date being July 22 to 29, and place Cape Vincent, N. Y.

For the purpose of instruction the regimental staff officers were directed to prepare estimates and plans for their respective offices, to be submitted to Brigade Headquarters for approval and later these officers were directed to complete the necessary details. The schedules of drills for the week were left with the regimental commander and his directions were faithfully and intelligently carried out.

The camp was named "Camp Higgins" in honor of the Commander-in-Chief.

An innovation was introduced during the tour which I have never seen or heard of being carried out during any period of camp or field service of the guard, which I think was very beneficial, well accepted by officers and men and proved very instructive and in my judgment is an excellent method of instruction, it was as follows:

Guard duty was performed by companies, each company being detailed in its entirety for a full tour of twenty-four hours each. The regiment being composed of twelve companies, two companies were detailed each day from Monday to Friday, inclusive, one company forming the camp guard the other marching out a short distance pitching camp and forming the same as the camp guard. It was my desire that each company marching out should carry shelter halves and bivouac for the tour which would give them the additional drill and instruction in pitching shelter tents, but unfortunately no shelter halves were available and that plan had to be abandoned and the conical tents taken along and camp pitched in short time, one company making the excellent record of pitching its camp in fourteen minutes. By this method guard duty is much better performed, each officer and man having an opportunity for active work in his respective grade and the guard being furnished by companies the esprit de corps and desire to excel succeeded in producing service of a higher order than usual while the results attained were much more satisfactory. I made a personal visitation to each guard and gave instruction in the various duties and elicited the information that this method was most satisfactory and met with universal approval.

His Excellency, the Honorable Frank W. Higgins, Commander-in-Chief, visited the camp July 26, accompanied by the Adjutant-General and several members of his staff, reviewed the troops and witnessed the evening parade.

The work of the regiment was of a high order demonstrating the excellent qualities of the officers and men and was very satisfactory. A detailed report of the Regimental Commander is herewith appended, marked "B."

A voluntary tour of field service was performed by Company B, Second Regiment, (Seventh Separate Company), August 26 to September 4, at Sacandaga Park, N. Y.

There has been an increase in the number of marksmen and higher class shots in the brigade, thereby showing an increased interest in that important branch of work. A Brigade trophy was given last season for efficiency in armory practice and was won by the Tenth Battalion. A similar trophy was given by the commanding officer, Second Regiment, and is to be repeated this season by both brigade and regimental headquarters and every effort made to increase the already active interest in that important branch of a soldier's education.

Respectfully,

STATE ARMORY, WASHINGTON AVENUE AND LARK STREET

ALBANY, June 17, 1905

Assistant Adjutant-General, Third Brigade, N. G., N. Y., Albany, N. Y.:

Sir—I have the honor to report, that in compliance with General Orders, No. 5, National Guard, the Tenth Regiment reported at the Camp of Instruction, Peekskill, N. Y., and performed a tour of camp service from June 3 to 10, inclusive.

The Tenth Regiment, which was reduced to a battalion, being reorganized as the Tenth Regiment by General Orders No. 10, Adjutant-General's Office, on May 1, 1905, consisting of the Tenth Battalion, Companies A (Twenty-sixth Separate), B (Thirty-fifth Separate), C (Thirty-eighth Separate), D (Forty-fifth Separate), to which were added Companies M (Fourteenth Separate), K (Fifteenth Separate), E (Sixteenth Separate), F (Twenty-third Separate), G (Fourth Separate), H (Eleventh Separate), from the First Regiment, and the Seventeenth Separate as Company I, this brings back to the service a regiment with a memorable history, which will be our pride to keep untarnished.

This organization barely completed and equipped, reported for duty with 660 officers and men present.

Owing to the colors coming with the quartermaster from Mount Vernon and the lances with the Albany Battalion, the regiment was obliged to enter the post without colors.

Upon our arrival arms were stacked and the companies assigned to the ground on which the tents were to be pitched, the cooks were already cooking dinner, which was promptly served and the tents were pitched without delay.

The general routine of camp service was performed as prescribed for by Special Orders No. 99, National Guard.

The drills were mostly in close order and by battalions, but one regimental drill being ordered, as I felt that better instruction would thus be imparted to the command; on Thursday morning company and battalion drills were in extended order.

I feel that it was a decided advantage to perform the regular camp duty, and pay our attention to drills in close order and guard duty, and thus overcome the tendency to slouch, caused by several seasons of duty on the march, which is beneficial but would keep us in better trim if alternated with regular camp duty.

The policing of the camp was good from the first, and each day it was improved upon and was favorably commented upon by Colonel Chapin, and Company B's street, Captain Howard, received special comment.

The officers' mounted drill, which took place every forenoon with General Roe as instructor, was of the greatest value to us all; many of the officers who at first were very indifferent horsemen, before the end of the camp were able to ride and handle their mounts in good shape.

There was a non-commissioned officers drill every day at the old mess hall with Battalion Adjutant Reagan as Instructor; and so earnestly did they all enter into this instruction that the improvement was very noticeable on the drill field.

The handling of the Commissary Department by Captain Harris, and the Quartermaster Department by Captain Fiske, was all that could be desired; the hospital and the sanitation of the camp were well taken care of by Surgeon Smith and his assistants.

Our officers mess was a success and has done much to mould us into a regiment. Here the officers became thoroughly acquainted, which has made a feeling of brotherhood, which is so necessary to make a successful organization, and the success of this mess is due entirely to the masterly way that it was handled by Captain Scattergood, who had it in charge.

On Monday forenoon Brigadier-General Lloyd, our Brigade Commander, arrived accompanied by his Brigade Inspector, Major Trainor, and the interest exhibited and the suggestions received from the General was a very great help to us and very much appreciated.

On Thursday afternoon Lieutenant-Colonel Thurston gave the officers instructions in the fire drill, and explained that the reason he had left it to the last of the week was because the men liked this drill and if given sooner might desire one every night, and in this he was very wise.

On Friday after evening parade the fire alarm came from No. 9; the officers were promptly at their posts and held the men well in hand and the drill was carried out to the satisfaction of Lieutenant-Colonel Thurston.

On Saturday morning about 1 a. m., there was another fire alarm from No. 6, and again were the officers promptly at their stations and the companies formed, and so well was it handled that the men were kept in their streets. This time I thought that it was the real article, for as I turned up the company street I saw the light and sparks and it looked as if the tent was afire at the bottom, but it proved to be only a wooden box, so placed that the light fell on the tent and gave it the appearance of being afire. There was no disorder, and in a very short time the camp was in profound stillness.

On Friday night the officers in a body and with the post band, paid their parting respects to Adjutant-General Henry and General Lloyd, Major-General Roe being absent, but returning in time to receive us.

On Saturday morning we broke camp, the Second and Third Battalions departing north with the post band, under command of Lientenant-Colonel Davis and the First Battalion, after repolicing the camp, departing south, under command of Major Pruyn.

In the reorganized Tenth Regiment our officers and men feel a pride, and from the way the Regiment has started out, feel that it is determined to take a prominent position in the Guard.

There are so many of my officers deserving of special mention that I can not do so by name excepting Lieutenant-Colonel Davis, who shows the qualifications of a fine field officer; the three Majors, Pruyn, McMillan and McNeely, are all that can be desired, and my Adjutant, Captain Staats, is deserving of special mention, for to his careful attention to all the duties pertaining to his office, a great deal of our success is due.

I sincerely feel that the instructive and pleasant tour of duty of the Tenth is very greatly due to the consideration and help given us by headquarters and the headquarters staff.

Respectfully,

C. A. DENIKE

HEADQUARTERS FIRST REGIMENT, INFANTRY, N. G., N. Y.
STATE ARMORY

BINGHAMTON, August 3, 1905

The Assistant Adjutant-General, Third Brigade, N. G., N. Y., 72 Chapel street, Albany, N. Y.:

Sir—In accordance with Paragraph XIX, General Orders No. 3, Headquarters, National Guard, April 6, 1905, I have the honor to make the following report upon the tour of field service of this regiment upon the Maynard farm, near Cape Vincent, N. Y., July 22-29, last.

Upon receipt of Special Orders No. 26, 1905, from your headquarters, General Orders No. 4 was issued, of which a copy is enclosed.* This order, it may be said here, was carried out without material deviation.

Upon receipt of the railroad time schedule, notice was sent 15th July, to each battalion and company commander of the hour of departure and route to be traveled. The journey to camp was accomplished by all the trains and sections in accordance with the schedule, except as to that carrying headquarters of the regiment and Companies G and H. This section left Binghamton via D. & H., at 1.50 a. m., arriving at Sidney (the O. & W. junction) about 3.15. At this point the cars carrying Company G from Oneonta were to have been at once attached and the journey continued over the O. & W. A serious freight wreck on the D. & H. half a mile east of Sidney blocked both tracks, cutting off the train carrying Company G, and causing a delay of nearly five hours. The first section of the O. & W. special, carrying headquarters First Battalion and Companies F and I went through on time and arrived at Cape Vincent at 9.30 a. m., as scheduled. The second section, which should have arrived at the same time, owing to the delay, did not reach Cape Vincent until 1.50 p. m. In consequence the special carrying headquarters Second Battalion and Companies A, B, E, L and M, the special carrying headquarters Third Battalion, Company C and the band, arriving at 2.10; and the special carrying Companies D and K, arriving at 2.30, reached Cape Vincent at practically the same time.

Captain Powell, Regimental Quartermaster, had engaged six farmers' teams to report at the station for the transport of baggage to camp at 9.30; and the same teams with three additional to report at 2 p. m. This transportation would have been sufficient had trains arrived on time and had company commanders complied with orders relative to baggage. But six teams reported as arranged, and this number was inadequate to move the baggage within the time contemplated. Company commanders were found to have taken with them in many cases an amount far in excess of that prescribed in Paragraph XI, General Orders No. 3, National Guard, 1905, but for this fact and the failure of teams to report as agreed, the regiment would have been under canvass by 5 p. m., notwithstanding the delay caused by the wreck. As it was the last baggage did not arrive until dark. The attention of company commanders was at once called to their failure to comply with the order referred to; and it is safe to say that the error will not be repeated.

The camp was located upon the Maynard farm about two and a half miles from Cape Vincent, in the same place once occupied by the Fourth Battalion. The farm, practically all of which was utilized, is upon a peninsula with the waters of the St. Lawrence river on the north and of Lake Ontario on the south, and extends entirely across from the river to the lake. Upon the point a half mile west is situated Tibbitts' Point light house. A sketch map showing the general location and character of the camp site and its features is inclosed herewith. The ground, aside from the central ridge which is indicated is nearly level, having only sufficient slope for necessary drainage. It was, however, rather rough for purposes of drill, having been cultivated in ridges to facilitate drainage. The central ridge of the peninsula is a rock thinly covered with soil. Upon it is a grove of trees affording agreeable shade and completely screening the beach used for bathing from observation. For a water supply the camp has to depend upon the river from which water was hauled twice a day in wagons. The location seemed well adapted for the purposes of a camp. No ground for a rifle range could be found, and the practice which had been contemplated could not take place.

Sunday, July 23 was rainy up to noon. The regiment was, however, well occupied in getting settled in camp, and no inconvenience resulted. Schools of instruction were held in the afternoon and parade in the evening. From the morning reports it appeared that the commissioned and enlisted strength present was just under 800, which, with the band and authorized servants and employees, brought the number in camp for whom rations were drawn up to an average of 840. The regiment is so widely dispersed territorially that no single date could have been chosen for the tour which would have met the convenience of all alike. Under all the circumstances the precentage of attendance was fair. Evening parade on the 23d and 24th was in line of masses; during the remainder of the week, in line.

On Monday, the 24th, the serious work of the week began. Throughout the week the drills and schools prescribed in General Orders No. 4, were fully carried out, and daily improvement was noted. The drills were under the direct supervision of Lieutenant-Colonel Boyer, to whose careful and intelligent efforts on the drill field and in the schools very much of the progress is due. Notwithstanding the fact that it was the first experience in the field of the new drill regulations, the results showed good work on the part of the company commanders at their home stations. Errors and misapprehensions, of course, occurred, and were readily and promptly corrected. The regimental drill on Thursday and Friday, conducted by Lientenant-Colonel Boyer, were interesting and instructive, and attended by such errors only as were to have been anticipated in connection with a first experience. Both companies and battalions had satisfactory drills in the extended order, and in advance and rear guard formations, for which the drill ground afforded ample space.

On Wednesday, the 26th, the regiment was honored by a visit from His Excellency, the Commander-in-Chief and staff. He arrived at 11 a. m., and at once made a careful inspection of the camp. At 3 p. m. the regiment was reviewed by the Governor, accompanied by his staff, and by the Brigade Commander and staff. The review was also witnessed by Colonel W. D. Gordon and staff of the Eastern Ontario Command, Canadian Militia, who were the guests of the regiment for the day. His Excellency, the Governor, remained to witness evening parade.

The guard duty for the tour was performed by company in accordance with Special Orders No. 26 from your headquarters. The larger of the two companies detailed each day furnished the camp guard. The smaller company marched out after guard mount with tents and camp equipage, and established a separate camp on the shore of the lake back of the camp, and spent the day in careful instruction in guard duty. Lieutenant N. B. S. Peckham, Assistant Inspector Small Arms Practice, was charged with the supervision and instruction of the guard. It appeared very clearly that this performance of guard duty by company resulted in better service and more instruction than the usual methods afford. Every officer and enlisted man had his tour under competent supervision. The regiment was two companies short of its full strength at parades, and four companies at battalion and regimental drills; but by equalizing battalions that were short into three companies the deficit was one which affected appearance only, and did not sensibly interfere with the conduct of either drills or ceremonies. The direct personal interest shown by the commanding officer of the brigade in the guard duty, stimulated officers and men to their best efforts; and the degree of success attained is largely due to this fact. The regiment is also indebted to Major Treanor, the Inspector of the brigade for his careful and intelligent criticisms of drills, ceremonies and guard duty, which enabled errors and omissions to be corrected in the schools of instruction which otherwise might easily have been overlooked, among the many details which demanded the attention of the regimental commander.

The health of the men in camp was excellent, no sickness of any importance occurring. The field hospital under charge of Assistant Surgeon Ashley, was well cared for, and the hospital corps was properly organized and instructed. Two cases of accidental injury occurred deserving of notice. A private in Company B was wounded in the back by a pick-axe while engaged in digging a sink, and another man in the same company suffered an injury to his back by a fall from a horse while accompanying Battalion Quartermaster Maher on a necessary errand. So far as can now be ascertained neither of these cases will involve any serious consequences.

The construction, supervision and police of sinks, and of the camp generally, was under charge of Assistant Surgeon Dye. It was nessary to construct sinks near the top of the ridge on the north slope of which the camp was located. It was found impossible to excavate here to a greater depth than two feet owing to underlying rock. By moving the sinks once during the tour, and by liberal use of lime, they were kept in fair sanitary condition. Kitchen sinks, screened from flies, were constructed for liquid refuse and such kitchen refuse as could not be readily burned; and were kept in fair sanitary condition. Notwithstanding the severe rain which came on Saturday, in which it was necessary to break camp, the final police was carefully attended to, so that little was left after departure to mark the site of the camp but the trampled ground.

Captain C. W. Yeomans, regimental commissary, furnished a satisactory ration in good variety at an expense of about 31½ cents per day. But few of the bids of local dealers could be accepted owing to the prices demanded. The Dunning Grocery Company of Binghamton furnished by far the larger part of the ration, and delivered the meat, groceries, vegetables, etc., at Cape Vincent in good condition and at prices much less than those proposed by local dealers.

The ration as issued appeared to be handled with skill and judgment by company cooks; and the result was a well fed camp at a very moderate figure.

A horse was provided for each mounted officer. These were procured in Binghamton with the exception of two from Watertown, and one which was brought by the chaplain from Albany. The horses were on the whole much better than those usually obtainable, being all fairly well trained saddle horses. All mounted officers turned out for each parade and review except when excused for special reasons. I believe three or four more horses could have been used to advantage; as the duties of some officers would have been made easier by an extra mount, and horses for two or three mounted trumpeters in a large regiment can hardly be dispensed with. The horses were all inspected by a veterinary surgeon before acceptance, and careful record made in the regimental horse book. They were again inspected before delivery to their owners on return to this station. None of them appeared to have suffered any injury either from use or in transit.

The conduct of officers and men during the week indicated that the desire to perform duty faithfully and conform to the regulations and discipline of the camp were very general. Owing to the situation of the camp it was not particularly difficult for men who were so disposed to evade the guard and remain out of camp at night later than authorized. I am convinced that there were practically no evasions of duty during the day, although there were some unauthorized absences at night after the prescribed hours. Two corporals were reduced to the ranks on Wednesday for absence without leave at tattoo; and some twenty men who were arrested by the guard and by a patrol sent out to the village on Thursday night, were confined at hard labor during Friday. Aside from these cases, and a single case of insubordination in Company M, the conduct of the men in and out of camp was creditable to themselves and their officers.

In view of the delay that had occurred in transporting baggage and camp equipage upon the arrival of the regiment, it was determined to use every precaution to insure departure at the time scheduled.

Digitized by Google

All baggage that was not absolutely necessary for use during the night and for preparing breakfast in the morning, was sent down and loaded the afternoon of Friday. Baggage cars were located on a convenient switch in proper order, so that they could be loaded direct from the wagons. In addition to these precautions, reveille was advanced to four o'clock and fifteen farmers' teams were engaged to report between five and six o'clock in the morning. With these well considered arrangements Captain Powell had every expectation that all the trains would be able to leave the station on time. In this, however, he was disappointed. At 5 a. m. rain commenced falling and continued well into the afternoon. The farmers engaged to provide transportation supplied only nine teams, and several of them were late. Some who had promised faithfully to report stated that they had not supposed camp would be broken in a rain storm. Efforts to secure additional teams was unavailing, and all that could be done was to utilize the teams present to haul successive loads. There was, however, no delay except as to the last section carrying headquarters of the regiment, headquarters of the First Battalion, and Companies F, G, H and I, which was about three hours late, departing at 1 p. m. The return journey was made without accident or incident, headquarters arriving at Binghamton at 11 p. m.

I consider the tour successful owing to the amount of instruction imparted, and the opportunity afforded a newly organized regiment to "find itself." The new organization appeared to be efficient, and to work without friction. With good material at the outset, and a successful week in the field, it is believed that a good working organization is fairly assured.

Respectfully,

C. H. HITCHCOCK
Colonel

APPENDIX "II"

Annual Report of the Commanding Officer, Fourth Brigade, and his Report on the Field Service of the Sixty-Fifth Regiment, First, Second and Third Battalions.

HEADQUARTERS FOURTH BRIGADE, N. G., N. Y.
BUFFALO GERMAN INSURANCE CO. BUILDING, 451 MAIN STREET
BUFFALO, N. Y., October 30, 1905.

Assistant Adjutant-General, N. G., N. Y., Albany, N. Y.:

Sir—I have the honor to submit the following as my annual report:

In accordance with General Orders No. 3, National Guard, the several organizations of this brigade, with the exception of the Seventy-fourth Regiment, went on field service August 12 to 19. Camp was established at Farnham, N. Y., and was designated as "Camp Roe," in compliment to Major-General Charles F. Roe, Commanding National Guard. Reports in detail on this service are herewith enclosed.

On December 4, 1904, upon learning that the German Emperor's representatives at the unveiling of the Frederick the Great statute in Washington, Lieutenant-General von Lowenfeld and Major Count von Schmettow were to arrive at Niagara Falls, I met them there and after conducting them around the rapids and falls, escorted them to Fort Porter (where an artillery salute was tendered General van Lowenfeld) and to the Seventy-fourth Regiment armory which they viewed with much interest.

The board appointed by the Secretary of War for the purpose of selecting a site for a large military post near Buffalo have recommended a site on the shore of Lake Erie about 15 miles south of Buffalo. Attached to this recommendation are conditions which would seem to leave the matter in a very uncertain condition and owing to this uncertainty, no effort is being made to obtain a site for a brigade range. Therefore the range at Fort Niagara, although extremely inconvenient, must be used for the practice of the Sixty-fifth and Seventy-fourth Regiments and the Forty-second and Twenty-fifth Separate Companies. The range at Elmira was used for the brigade match this year owing to the inability to obtain the Fort Niagara range at the specified time.

The armories of this brigade are in good condtion. The Sixty-fifth Regiment armory is nearing completion and will be ready for occupancy next Spring. The new armory at Rochester is in course of erection and plans are being prepared for new armories at Syracuse and Oswego.

There have been no labor disturbances of any nature in the brigade.

All vacancies on the Brigade Staff have been filled and I take this opportunity to express my appreciation of the cheerful and efficient manner each individual officer has performed the duties required.

Respectfully,

HEADQUARTERS FOURTH BRIGADE, N. G., N. Y.,
BUFFALO GERMAN INSURANCE CO. BUILDING, 451 MAIN STREET

BUFFALO, N. Y., October 30, 1905.

Assistant Adjutant-General, N. G., N. Y., Albany, N. Y.:

Sir—I have the honor to submit the following report of the tour of field service performed by the Sixty-fifth Regiment, First, second and Third Battalions, under my command at Farnham, N. Y., August 12 to 19, 1905.

Pursuant to General Orders No. 3, National Guard, I issued General Orders Nos. 2, 8, 9 and 11, copies of which are enclosed* in compliance with which the above named organizations at the hours named in General Orders No. 11, 4B arrived at Farnham station on time August 12. I having arrived the day previous, accompanied by my entire staff.

The baggage of the Sixty-fifth Regiment was transported by the wagon train under guard from the armory to the camp, starting the morning of August 11 and arriving on the same evening. Upon the arrival of the regiment at camp, the train was unloaded and sent to meet the other organizations at Farnham station as they arrived later.

Upon arriving at Farnham station, each organization loaded its baggage into the wagons and marched to the camp which was located upon the Lake shore, three miles distant.

The centers of the first and second tents of each company street had been staked in advance, water taps laid at the head of each street and all sinks dug, furnished with seats and burlapped, under the supervision of the brigade engineer. A steam pump furnished pure water ample for all purposes throughout the tour. The men were allowed to bathe only well below the intake pipe.

Camp Roe was quickly established and the men promptly fed. Two guards were mounted, one by the Sixty-fifth Regiment, at 4.45 p. m., and one by the three battalions, at 7.15 a. m., enabling all the officers and men to take at least one tour.

Drills were held throughout the week at the prescribed hours and were mostly in school of the battalion. Regimental drills were held at the end of the week. There was very little extended order drill, but good instruction was acquired in the firings with blank ammunition.

Parades were held each evening, first by regiments and the last three by brigade.

On Sunday companies were inspected in their streets and divine service was conducted by Chaplain Richards, Sixty-fifth Regiment.

Officers schools were held each day as follows:

Sunday. "Camp Sanitation and Hygiene," by Major A. H. Briggs, Surgeon, Sixty-fifth Regiment.

Monday. "The Military in Relation to Civil Authority in Times of Roit," by Major L. L. Babcock, Judge-Advocate, Fourth Brigade.

Tuesday. "Subsistence," by Lieutenant-Colonel Guilford Hurry, Commissary, National Guard, and Major H. C. Wadsworth, Commissary, Fourth Brigade.

Wednesday. "First Aid to the Injured and Medical and Sanitary Service," by Lieutenant-Colonel E. A. Smith, Surgeon, Fourth Brigade.

Thursday. "Instruction of Enlisted Men in the Army," by Major George Bell, Jr., First U. S. Infantry, and "Education of Army Officers," by Captain Ramsey, General Staff, U. S. Army.

Friday. "Criticisms on Work of the Week," by Colonel Fred Phisterer, Assistant Adjutant-General, National Guard, and "Guard Duty," by Major L. L. Babcock, Judge-Advocate, Fourth Brigade.

A guard school was conducted every evening by Major L. L. Babcock, Judge-Advocate, Fourth Brigade.

Major Halleck, Surgeon, U. S. Army, held a school for surgeons on Friday.

The guards were on the whole satisfactory, but notwithstanding the fact that orders had been issued, especially requiring preliminary instructions and preparation in this work well in advance, it was not as well performed as during the tour of 1903, under precisely the same conditions. Officers of the guard were not well grounded in the work, and therefore as a class were not good instructors. This was especially noticeable at guard mounts, where nearly all the major errors were committed by the officers. The men, however, were willing and zealous in their performance of duty, but it was evident that instruction in this most important duty was neglected in almost every organization.

Digitized by Google

All drills, meals, camp and guards were inspected by the officers of the Fourth Brigade Staff.

Telephones were installed by Lieutenant B. B. Daggett, supernumery, with instruments, poles and wire loaned by the Frontier Telephone Company, tapping the main line at Franham, three miles distant. An exchange was located at camp connecting the various headquarters with each other and with the guard houses, corral, commissary tents, etc. This proved a great convenience and was ably managed.

After drill, Friday afternoon, contests were held for prizes donated by these headquarters for tent pitching, heavy marching order race, and knowledge of bugle calls.

No disturbance of any kind occurred during the tour, perfect order being maintained throughout.

Adjutant-General Henry arrived on Thursday, leaving Friday.

The presence of Colonel Phisterer, Lieutenant-Colonel Hurry and Major Kirby was a great help to us and their suggestions and advice were sought for and received with great benefit to us all.

On Saturday, the various organizations marched to Farnham station and entrained as provided by General Orders No. 11, 4B. All reached home stations on time with the exception of the Headquarters Third Battalion and Forty-seventh and Thirtieth Separate Companies. The cars and service furnished for transportation by the Erie Railway to and from Camp Roe and Elmira were a disgrace to that road. They were of the type used for transporting immigrants thirty years ago, having hard-wood seats, etc. The Erie Railway having very recently repainted them and the paint was not dry, as a consequence many of the uniforms of the men were daubed with paint. Not only was the train late in returning, but the amount of cars contracted for was not delivered, and at Hornellsville the depot master attempted to order the staff and non-commissioned staff of the Third Battalion into the cars occupied by Company L, as he wanted to use the car provided for them for passengers. The cars furnished, and the transporation service of the New York Central and Lake Shore and Michigan Southern Railways were most satisfactory. I would respectfully suggest that a bill be introduced in the Legislature this session compelling railroad companies to transmit state troops at a stated rate per mile, and that they be required further to furnish proper accommodations for such transportation.

The baggage train of the Sixty-fifth Regiment, left camp early Sunday morning, accompanied by a guard, arriving at the armory at 2.30 p. m.

I believe it would be a great benefit to the entire brigade, and the Seventy-fourth Regiment in particular, if arrangements could be made to mobilize the entire brigade on the occasion of the next tour of field service to be performed by this brigade, and I would strongly recommend that this be done.

A brigade hospital was established at the western extremity of the camp on the bluff overlooking the lake. Four hospital tents were pitched in the shape of a cross, the eastern arm being the reception and dispensing tent, the southern and western arms the wards, and the northern arm the operating tent. An "A" tent served as a quarantine ward, but was not needed. Morning sick report was taken by the surgeons in their respective organizations. Men not fit for duty were sent to the hospital. Surgeons and assistant surgeons were assigned to surgical and medical duty at the hospital and to sanitary inspection of the camp, each man serving two days on each staff. Senior medical officers being in command. Hospital corps men were drilled as a body during drill hours and given work in nursing in turn in the hospital. Litter squad attended drills and parades. Lectures and demonstrations were daily given during school hours for medical and hospital corps men. Over three hundred patients were entered on the hospital book as treated during the tour. The only serious accident happened to Captain Charles of the Forty-seventh Separate Company, he was trampled by his horse after falling with it. Operation for laceration of scalp and scrotum was necessary in his case and the result was satisfactory. Sanitary inspectors were daily accompanied by hospital corps men who freely used a deodorant and disinfectant called "Bannerman's Pheneyle," a preparation of cholride of lime treated with crude creosote. This comes in a powder form and was most effectual.

Respectfully,

LAUREN W. PETTEBONE

General Orders and Circulars Issued in 1905 from the Headquarters of the National Guard.

HEADQUARTERS NATIONAL GUARD, NEW YORK STATE

CAPITOL POST OFFICE, ALBANY

January 16, 1905

General Orders, No. 1.

The following relating to the making of a blanket roll is published for the information and guidance of all concerned:

1. The blanket roll will contain the bed sack, blanket, over-coat, extra flannel shirt, canvas trousers (if issued) and poncho. The commanding officer may specify such articles to be omitted as the weather or the nature of the duty render necessary.

2. To make the blanket roll with the bed-sack for infantry and heavy artillery:

Spread the bed sack smoothly on the ground; fold the long edge opposite the lacing down underneath in a fold 8 inches wide; then fold the ends over on top of bed-sack, each fold to be 6 inches wide. The bed-sack as so folded will be the width of the blanket. Fold the blanket once across its length and place it upon the bed-sack as folded so that the ends cover one-half of the bed-sack, and place the folded ends of the bed-sack over the blanket. Spread the over-coat smoothly on the ground open, lining up; spread out the cape smoothly in a semicircle, the arms stretched out to the right and left to their full extent. Place the flannel shirt and canvas trousers upon the over-coat, folding them so that they are equally distributed along the arms of the over-coat; commencing with the cape, roll the over-coat tightly until the tails are reached, rolling the other articles inside the over-coat. Place the over-coat as thus rolled upon the edge of the blanket farthest from the bed-sack and roll the over-coat tightly in the blanket. Continue to roll the blanket in the bed-sack, pulling the folded edge of the bed-sack over the completed roll and trying the roll with the cords attached to the ends of the bed-sack. Tie the cords in a square knot so that as much as possible of the long ends is left free. Fold the poncho across its length so that it will be, when folded, 4 inches wide and as long as the width of the pancho and place it along the roll underneath the end cords and then tie the middle cord. Bring the ends of the roll together so that the poncho and the edge of the bed-sack are outside and tie the free ends of the two end cords together adjusting the length of the cords to suit the wearer. The wearer slings the completed roll from his left shoulder to his right hip so that the edge of the bed-sack is away from the neck.

3. When the troops are provided with shelter half the roll will be made in accordance with D. R. 486.

I. Drills, schools of instruction and armory small arms practice will be resumed next month. Commanding officers of brigades, signal companies, Twenty-second Engineers, Squadrons A and C, Troops B and D, batteries of field artillery Thirteenth Heavy Artillery, will issue the necessary orders, but may, for good and sufficient reasons, authorize delay in resumption of drill, etc., until November, bearing in mind, however, that every company and subdivision of an organization is required by act of fhe Congress to have at least twenty-four drills during the calendar year. Drills of less than one hour and one-half, and at which less than two-thirds of the membership of the company or other subdivision is present, also field and camp service and small arms practice, will not be accepted by the War Department, and therefore cannot be credited as one of the twenty-four drills required.

Ninth, Tenth, Eleventh and Twelfth Drills: Review of the drills from one to eight, devoting more time to the movements not well executed, until all are fully understood and well carried out.

IV. The drills during the months of January, February, March and April may be in the school of the company, battalion, the evolutions of the regiment, parades and reviews, repeating and perfecting the movements in the school of the company especially. In any formation of a battalion, the adjutant, sergeant-major, band and companies should all step off at the first note of the march following the assembly, in the formation of a regiment following the "To the Color." Each drill should commence with loadings and firings and close with the setting-up exercises. Where the size of the armory will permit the school of the company, extended order by company should frequently be practiced. Two or three small companies should be consolidated into one company for this drill. Whenever practicable drills should be had out of doors during these months. Lieutenants should be required to drill companies; intelligent sergeants should be given an opportunity to do so. Parts of drill evenings by company should be devoted to instruction (lectures) in the general orders, challenges and salutes of sentinels, and also the construction of the piece. M. G. D. 215, 216, 231, 232, 237 to 242, 246 to 254, 257 to 269. But in all and every thing the closest and constant attention must be given to details.

V. Drill Regulations 22 prescribe that the pieces are loaded prior to taking extended formation, and then from that time until the end of the exercise they are, or are supposed to be, kept loaded without formal command. Drill Regulations 144 direct that at the command "cease firing" the pieces not already at the position of load are brought to that position, the cartridge drawn, or the empty shell ejected and the trigger pulled. The men must, therefore, be instructed that the moment they become skirmishers they must load and lock their pieces, if not loaded at the time, and then, while skirmishers, at the command "cease firing," if pieces be still loaded, they will not unload; if pieces have been fired they will close "cease firing," with loading and locking the pieces without formal command.

VI. Schools of instruction of officers and non-commissioned officers, as prescribed in drill regulations, should be held regularly during the drill season. The drill program laid out for the next drill should especially be carefully studied and explained at a preceding school. Guard and outpost, advance and rear guard duty, Military Code, regulations and office duties, care of property, etc., are proper subjects for these schools. Lectures should be given by staff officers (not medical) of organizations on the subject of their respective offices, returns, reports, books, records, etc.

VII. The medical officers of a command will be ordered by its commanding officer to instruct at stated periods the hospital corps. They should be required to give short lectures on first aid, personal and camp hygiene and sanitation to the command. In this connection all officers of the National Guard are reminded that the Major-General has offered to publish all correct and concise essays prepared by them on subjects of general interest and benefit to the National Guard.

VIII. Armory small arms practice is in reality about all the instruction that can be given in the National Guard preparatory to the regular field practice. Proper and careful instruction in firing should, therefore, be imparted there. Men not actually firing should receive instruction in position and aiming. The organizations which pay proper attention to this subject show the effect thereof in the splendid results of their general field practice. Attention is called to R. S. A. P. 1 and 11. The officers and enlisted men excused in accordance with R. S. A. P. 1 will be dropped from the total strength of the organization or subdivision, so that the reports of practice will account for actual shooting strength only; it must, however, be explained on the return that such and such excused, properly, are omitted from the number absent and the total strength.

IX. Reports of attendance at all drills and parades must promptly be forwarded by subdivisions at the close of each drill or parade; by battalions and regiments at the end of the week; the monthly reports of armory small arms practice on the last day of each month of the season. Delinquency returns should be rendered of each school of instruction for non-commissioned officers of those absent without authority, and those reported on these or other delinquency returns should promptly be brought before delinquency courts.

X. The commanding officers of the First, Second, Third and Fourth Brigades are charged with and responsible for the proper execution of the foregoing, as far as their commands are concerned. The commanding officers of the organizations attached to these headquarters will certify to it before the 1st of October that they and the officers of their commands have received and carefully read this order, which will also be posted on the bulletin boards of organizations.

FRED PHISTERER,
Assistant Adjutant-General.

ALBANY, November 22, 1905.

General Orders, No. 8.

The result of the field small arms practice of the National Guard, season 1905, is herewith published for the information of all concerned.

PRACTICE OF INDIVIDUALS AND ORGANIZATIONS.

The annual compulsory field small arms practice of an organization consists of individual firing or practice, and of collective skirmish firing by company or platoon, the latter (platoon) when the range facilities will not permit collective skirmish firing by company nor individual practice of the whole company.

The practice is carried on in accordance with the Regulations governing this duty, adopted by the Governor for the State.

For the men absent at the general practice and those not qualifying then, days for supplementary practice are appointed from time to time, so as to afford every man a chance to practice and to qualify. Days are also specially appointed for practice as sharpshooters, experts and distinguished experts.

Officers and non-commissioned staff officers, the enlisted men of the signal companies and batteries, are provided with revolvers for practice. The qualification as marksman is with that arm; to qualify as sharpshooters, etc., they are allowed the use of the rifle.

Hospitals corps and field musics are not included in the figures given in the table following, except where some men, voluntarily practicing, qualified as marksmen, etc.

Where the number present at small arms practice is smaller than the number who qualified, it is due to the fact that men absent at, or who enlisted subsequent to, the general practice, qualified on supplementary practice days. As a matter of fact, the number reported present at general practice, does not show the number of men who actually practiced during the season—May 1st to October 31st, for men absent at general practice may, and very many do, practice on supplementary days. Where the total number of qualifications is larger than the total strength of the organization as reported on the general practice day, it is owing to the fact that men who then qualified have since been discharged and men who enlisted since that day have qualified at supplementary days.

THE STATE TEAM.

The authority to organize this team was granted the Commanding Officer National Guard by the Governor of the State of New York in G. O. No. 7, A. G. O., and Lieutenant-Colonel N. B. Thurston, Inspector Small Arms Practice and Ordnance Officer, National Guard, was charged with the duty of organizing the team and appointed Captain thereof. He selected to assist him,

As Adjutant, Quartermaster and Commissary.

Captain William H. Palmer, I. S. A. P., 7th Regiment;

As Coach.

First Lieutenant Thurber A. Brown, I. S. A. P., 3rd Battalion;

As Spotter.

First Lieutenant Oswald W. Uhl, Co. C, Seventh Regiment.

An open competition for places on the team and alternates was held at Creedmoor on August 8th, 9th 10th, and the following were selected as members of the team and as alternates:

First Sergeant F. X. O'Connor, Co. C, Seventh Regiment,
Sergeant W. B. Short, Company D, Seventh Regiment,
Corporal W. W. Taylor, Company K, Seventh Regiment,
First Sergeant C. M. Smith, Company B, Twelfth Regiment,
First Sergeant F. M. Dardingkiller, Company E, Twelfth Regiment,
First Sergeant G. E. Byrant, Company F, Twenty-third Regiment,
Ordnance Sergeant G. W. Lent, N. C. S., Forty-seventh Regiment,
Captain George W. Corwin, I. S. A. P., Seventy-first Regiment,
First Lieutenant A. E. Ranney, Staff, Seventy-first Regiment,
First Lieutenant W. B. Sheppard, Co. D, Seventy-first Regiment, Captain Arthur Kemp, Company H, Seventy-fourth Regiment.
Ordnance Sergeant W. F. Leushner, N. C. S., Seventy-fourth Regiment.

Lieutenant-Colonel Thurston had reserved the right to appoint three members of the team and appointed accordingly:

Captain B. B. McAlpin, Company I, Seventh Regiment,
Captain A. E. Wells, Company H, Seventy-first Regiment,
Ordance Sergeant George H. Doyle, N. C. S., 71st Regiment.

The team left New York City for Sea Girt on Monday, August 21st and was quartered at the Beach house.

Upon arrival at Sea Girt it was found that the Individual Championship had been placen before the National Match proper. Tuesday, August 22nd and Wednesday, August 23rd were consumed in getting such practice for the team as the range facilities would permit, including twenty-seven minutes practice in skirmishing, only sufficient time to make one run on Tuesday, August 22nd. In order that the members of the team should receive as much practice as possible, all of them were entered in the Individual Championship Match, which started on Thursday, August 24th, and was not finished until Monday night, August 28th. Early on Tuesday, August 29th, Lieutenant-Colonel Thurston selected from the 15 men composing the team and alternates the 12 men whose scores are appended hereto, to represent the State of New York in the competition.

The scores aggregate 4528 out of a possible 6000 points, this being 206 points higher than the winning score of 1904.

The first stage of the Match was begun at 8.30 a. m., on Tuesday, August 29th, 200 and 600 yards slow fire and 200 yards rapid fire being all that could be accomplished on that day. On Wednesday, August 30th, 500 yards rapid fire and 800 yards slow fire were taken up and concluded, and on Thursday, August 30th, the wind being too high to shoot 1000 yards and properly operate the targets, the Executive Officer ordered skirmishing to take place and two runs were made by each team on that day. On Friday, September 1st, 1000 yards slow fire was taken up and concluded at 5.30 in the afternoon; the result being a victory for the New York State Team by 68 points over the United States Army Infantry Team which was second.

At the conclusion of the Match, the Executive Officer presented to the winning team their prizes. The money prize of $300 was distributed amongst the eighteen officials, team and alternates, in equal shares; Lieutenant-Colonel Thurston being a salaried officer, did not take any portion of the prize money.

The ammunition for preliminary practice and record firing for the National Individual Match, the National Team Match and the Individual Revolver Match was issued by the U. S. Ordnance Officer on the range, and amounted to 6300 rounds 30 cal. ball cartridge and 1250 rounds revolver ball cartridge, cal. 38, all of which was expended. Every National Guardsman belonging to the State of New York, in addition to those who composed the regular State Team, was furnished with sufficient ammunition to compete in the matches.

Thirty-six teams, five teams of them representing the regular establishment and the others—states and territories extending from Maine to Texas, and from the Atlantic to the Pacific, and including a team from Hawaii, competed in the National Match, besides the team from New York State, and to be successful for the third successive year in winning this match, although handicapped by the removal from the team under the terms of G. O. 41, W. D., of one-third of the team of the previous year, should be a source of congratulation to the State; it also demonstrates the superiority of the New York State system of small arms firing over troops of other states and the regular establishment.

The officials, team and substitutes worked in the utmost harmony, and the result places the State of New York for the fourth successive year as the foremost State in the rifle shooting world, for before the National Trophy was authorized by Act of Congress, the State of New York won the Hilton Trophy at Sea Girt, which was then the highest prize competed for throughout the United States—this was in 1902. In 1903 the National Trophy was offered by the Government, and won by New York State at Sea Girt by 86 points over its next nearest competitor; in 1904 victory was again with the State by 28 points over the United States Navy Team, which was second, and in 1905, as above, the State of New York was again victorious by 68 points over its next nearest competitor, the United States Infantry Team, which was second.

Thirty-seven different teams competed in the National Match and finished in the order named:

1.	New York	4528
2.	U. S. Infantry	4460
3.	Ohio	4431
4.	U. S. Marine Corps	4360

Under the provisions of G. O. 41, W. D., coaching was prohibited, and no communication with the men at the firing line was permitted from the rear. Six new men competed for the first time on the team, and each pair worked together without any assistance from the rear, and the result is extremely gratifying.

The conduct of officers and enlisted men reflects the highest credit upon their organizations and the State; the magnificent team work displayed, which achieved this grand result, should be a source of pride and gratification to the entire National Guard; Lieutenant-Colonel Thurston deserves the highest commendation for his work.

The National Individual Match, described in G. O. 41, W. D., was shot at Sea Girt on August 24th, 25th, 26th and 28th, there being 657 individual entries. The distances were 200, 300, 500 and 600 yards slow fire; 200 and 500 yards rapid fire and two skirmish runs. Captain A. E. Wells, 71st Regiment, was fourth, winning a gold medal and $20. Ordnance Sergeant George H. Doyle, 71st Regiment, was eighth, winning a silver medal and $20. Captain G. W. Corwin, 71st Regiment won a gold medal and $20 for making the highest aggregate in slow fire. The National Guard of New York won three of the fifteen prizes offered by the Government in this match.

The Individual Pistol Match, described in G. O. 41, W. D., took place at Sea Girt on August 28th, 1905, the distances being 75 yards slow fire, 25 and 50 yards timed fire and 15 and 25 yards rapid fire. The match was won by First Lieutenant R. H. Sayre, Squadron A, who received a gold medal, and $30. First Lieutenant M. H. Smith, Squadron A, was ninth, winning a bronze medal and $10. Lieutenant Sayre won a gold medal and $10 for making the highest aggregate score in slow fire. The National Guard of New York won three of the fifteen prizes offered by the Government in this match.

The ammunition, both rifle and pistol, for the National Individual Match and the National Pistol Match, was supplied by Lieutenant-Colonel Thurston to the various individuals competing, as reported above, and was of 1905 manufacture and of excellent quality.

The New York State Team for 1905 disbanded on the evening of Friday, September 1st, and the majority returned to New York. Several members of the team, however, remained over to take part in the matches of the National and the New Jersey State Rifle Association, which meeting did not conclude until September 9th. The total expenses of team were $1,322.99.

COMMENT.

The individual practice, notwithstanding that the strength of the National Guard has been reduced, exceeds the number of qualifications of last and any other year considerably. The figure of merit of organizations has in the majority of cases improved. The scores made in the matches show advance, the work of the State Team is admirable and altogether the year's work is well worthy of commendation.

The deep interest in rifle shooting by the entire National Guard of this State is most gratifying to those in authority.

The commanding officer of the National Guard desires to express his personal appreciation of the earnest work of both officers and enlisted men which has brought the Guard of our State to its present high plane in this—the most important part of a soldier's training.

Lieutenant-Colonel N. B. Thurston and Major Wm. M. Kirby, Inspectors Small Arms Practice and Ordnance Officers National Guard, are especially commended for their excellent and faithful work.

By command of Major-General Roe:

FRED PHISTERER,
Assistant Adjutant-General.

ALBANY, November 25, 1905.

General Orders, No. 9.

I. The annual muster and inspection, and the inspection by officers of the U. S. Army, of the organizations of the National Guard will take place between January 1 and April 30, 1905. Reviews will be omitted.

II. Organizations will be paraded for inspection and muster in the service uniform, with the blanket roll and field equipment except ammunition, and the inspection will be as prescribed in D. R. 486 to 496. Mounted officers will appear for inspection in the uniform and equipment required for mounted service. The attendance of battalion commanders in their own organization is desired, especially where companies are detached. Brigade inspectors should accompany, when possible, the inspectors in their respective brigades.

III. Blanket rolls will be made with the shelter tent half or with the bed sack where shelter tents have not been received, as prescribed in G. O. 1, N. G., 1905; but ponchos will be folded to correspond with the length, and placed on the outside, of the roll, and overcoats will be inspected in the lockers or where placed for safe keeping. Tin cups will be attached to canteen straps; the knife, fork, spoon and meat can will be carried in the haversack.

IV. All field service property, such as tentage, tools, ovens, and so forth, should be placed on the armory floor in such manner that the inspector can readily make a thorough examination. Horse furniture will be conveniently displayed. All other property, not issued to the men, will be displayed in store rooms. All books and records including the retained copy of the last property returns with the required inventories, and the muster rolls, these in duplicate, will be submitted for inspection. The responsible officers shall be present at the inspection of the books, records and property.

V. All unserviceable property will be presented to the inspector in such manner that he can readily and expeditiously ascertain its condition, each article so marked with white chalk that its unserviceability can easily be seen. The blank to be used is Form No. 21, and a separate blank must be used for each kind of property. Serviceable property that is obsolete or no longer required for use will be enumerated in an application to the Adjutant-General of the State for permission to turn it in, and will not be referred to the inspector.

VI. If it be desired that the inspecting officer act as a board of survey, commanding officers will notify him to that effect before the date of the inspection, so that he can give notice of the time when the board will meet. All the evidence should be in form of affidavits, prepared beforehand, and submitted to the board when it meets. See §§12 to 16, G. O. 7, N. G., 1902, and G. O. 18, N. G., 1904.

VII. The U. S. Army officers detailed to inspect organizations on the part of the War Department require from commanding officers certain written reports relating to property; these reports are to be made in duplicate and handed to the officers before the actual inspection of the property, the reports relating to the attendance and personnel as soon after the inspection of the troops as practicable.

VIII. The headquarters of the brigades will be inspected by officers of the army as follows:

First Brigade, New York City, March 19, 1906.
Second Brigade, Brooklyn, January 4, 1906.
Third Brigade, Albany, April 23, 1906.
Fourth Brigade, Buffalo, April 9, 1906.

at such hours as the inspector shall designate.

By command of Major-General Roe,

FRED. PHISTERER,
Assistant Adjutant-General.

ALBANY, October 31, 1905.

Circular No. 7.

The following, based on interpretations of questions relative to infantry drill regulations, made by proper authority, is published for the information of the National Guard of this State.

§ 350, I. D. R.; the plate shows the position of the staff of a regimental commander with the right in rear of the colonel; the staffs of regimental and higher commanders will therefore hereafter form as otherwise prescribed with the right in rear of their commanding officers; dismounted the interval between staff officers will be four inches.

§ 382, I. D. R.; line of masses is a line formation of the regiment and while each battalion is in mass it is yet in the regimental line formation, thus placing the battalion non-commissioned staff in line with and three paces from the right of the leading company.

§§ 508 and 509, I. D. R.; it is the intention to fix the position of the line of supernumeraries by the nine paces; this leaves a distance of nearly (practically) four paces between the file closers and supernumeraries in open ranks.

§ 258, M. G. D.; when the officer passing in rear of the sentinel is within saluting distance the sentinel halts and faces outward; unless the officer then approaches along the post, passes in front of the sentinel or crosses the post, the salute is not rendered.

By command of Major-General Roe:

FRED PHISTERER,
Assistant Adjutant-General.

ALBANY, December 20, 1905.

Circular No. 10.

I. The following tactical decisions are published for the information of all concerned:

D. R. § 22. "Pieces are loaded prior to taking extended formation" is not to be construed that the skirmisher loads without command, should the instructor omit it. However, when under such circumstances a preparatory command for firing is received the skirmisher will load without command to do so.

D. R. § 47. The side step is ten inches, therefore when the foot has been raised and planted ten inches from its former position, one side step has been taken. The side step is taken in the same cadence as the full step in quick time, i. e., 120 steps to the minute. If it were construed that the complete side step included the moving of both feet, the cadence of the side step would be reduced to 60 steps to the minute.

D. R. § 382. In the formation of line of masses the alignment is to the point of rest, captains therefore conduct their companies until in the rear of the guides nearest the point of rest, established by the adjutant, then form line and dress toward the point of rest. This causes a deviation from Par. 315, but is covered by the third section of Par. 368 and the general principle of dressing a company to the flank toward which the guides marking the line face.

D. R. § 509. page 172, first line; the adjutant draws saber without waiting for the officer or officers of the guard.

D. R. § 509. page 172, seventh line; supernumeraries do not come to inspection arms. The adjutant may, however, inspect them closely if he so desires and at his indication they come to inspection arms. The officer of the guard inspects them when they actually become members of the guard.

D. R. § 509. page 172, twelfth line; "the non-commissioned officers having passed the flanks do not pass along them parallel with them, but move diagonally to their position three paces in rear of the officer of the guard." They should obtain their rank from their first sergeant when detailed, so as to take their position in line without jostling.

D. R. § 587. "The uncased colors planted in front of the Colonel's tent will be considered colors carried by troops." Colors should however not be displayed in this manner if avoidable, they should be exposed as little as practicable while not actually carried by troops.

D. R. § 588. A sentinel within hearing would stand at attention facing outward until the completion of the playing of the "Star Spangled Banner."

D. R. § 589. The salute, as herein prescribed, is rendered by troops whether commanded by a commissioned or a non-commissioned officer. The word commander refers to any one in command of a body of troops.

II. For study and instruction the following publication is recommended to all concerned: "Notes and Suggestions on the new Infantry Drill Regulations" by Captain M. B. Stewart, 8th U. S. Infantry and Captain R. C. Davis, 17th U. S. Infantry, senior and assistant instructors, respectively, Infantry Tactics, U. S. Military Academy, published by Franklin Hudson Publishing Company, Kansas, Mo.

ALBANY, March 14, 1905.

General Orders, No. 3.

I am directed by the Governor and Commander-in-Chief to express his high appreciation and unqualified praise of the conduct, discipline, efficiency and appearance of the Empire State troops present at the inauguration of President Roosevelt, at Washington, March the 4th, 1905, and to commend most heartily officers and men for their pre-eminent example of unselfish devotion to State pride and civic patriotism.

The following correspondence for the information of all concerned, is hereby published.

STATE OF NEW YORK,
EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,
ALBANY, March 7, 1905.

Hon. THEODORE ROOSEVELT, President of the United States, Washington, D. C.

My dear President Roosevelt:—

One fact in connection with your inauguration has deeply impressed me, and is I think, one which it will gratify you to know. It is, that in all the military organizations that accompanied me to Washington on the 4th inst., to at once do honor to the President and show their respect for the man, there was not a single man who did not go entirely at his own personal expense and without any expectation whatever of reimbursement from the State. It is probably the first time in the history of our State that such has been the case, and while it testifies unquestionably to the high regard in which you are held by our soldiers, I think it also demonstrates a high sense of civic duty and deserves to be emphasised.

It is needless for me to say that nothing that has occurred during my political life has given me so much pleasure as being present at your inauguration.

I am, with high regard,

Yours very truly,
FRANK W. HIGGINS.

WHITE HOUSE,
WASHINGTON, March 8, 1905.

My dear Governor:—

I would like through you to express my hearty thanks to the men of the National Guard of the State of New York who came down here to the inauguration. Indeed it does speak well for their patriotism and sense of civic duty that the guardsmen who accompanied you to Washington should all have paid their own expenses without expectation of reimbursement to them from the State. And, my dear Governor, surely you know what a pride and pleasure it was to me to see you and them at the inauguration.

Faithfully yours,
THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

HON. FRANK W. HIGGINS,
Governor of New York,
Albany, N. Y.

Commanding officers will publish this to their commands.

By command of the Governor,
NELSON H. HENRY,
Adjutant-General.

ALBANY, March 17, 1905.

General Orders, No. 4.

1. The organizations mentioned below are designated to perform a tour of State field or camp service during the coming season, under such regulations as may be prescribed and approved; (M. C. 84:)

1st and 2d Companies of Signal Corps;

22d Regiment, Engineers;

Digitized by Google

6th Battery;
1st, 7th and 65th Regiments;
1st, 2d, 3d, 4th and 10th Battalions.

The Secretary of War having granted the request of the Governor that the 13th Regiment, Heavy Artillery, be permitted to perform at one of the seacoast defenses of the United States, a tour of camp service for instruction in heavy artillery, this regiment is designated to perform a tour of camp service for such instruction at Fort Terry, on Plum Island, N. Y., at such time as may hereafter be determined.

Organizations of the National Guard not mentioned above are excused from camp or field service this season.

The Major General commanding the National Guard is authorized to participate in the State tour of field and camp service above mentioned and to be accompanied on this service by such members of his staff as he may require. He is also authorized to direct the Commanding Officers of the first, third and fourth brigades, with such members of their respective staffs as may be necessary, to participate in this service of the organizations of their respective brigades. He is directed to issue such orders as may be necessary to carry the above into effect in accordance with the Military Code.

II. The Disbursing Officer is directed to participate in the camp or field service of the troops designated in paragraph I of this order, and he is authorized to spend such additional number of days in advance of or subsequent to the periods of encampment as are necessarily required for the proper performance of his duties as Disbursing Officer.

The Disbursing Officer is also authorized to be accompanied upon such camp or field service by such officers connected with the Adjutant General's Office, and such clerical force as may be deemed necessary by the Adjutant General, to promptly and efficiently make disbursements covering the pay, subsistence and transportation of the troops and to account for the same.

Pay, subsistence, transportation and such medical attendance as may be necessary are authorized for the Disbursing Officer and for the officers and clerical force accompanying him.

III. Subsistence during the tours of field service required by this order to be performed, will be allowed, in accordance with the provisions of General Orders, No. 17, April 30, 1904, Adjutant General's Office, to the officers and enlisted men of the organizations above designated and to all other officers and enlisted men authorized by competent authority to participate in such field service. Commutation of rations or of subsistence will not be allowed.

IV. Attention is called to General Orders No. 19, May 3, 1904, Adjutant Genearl's Office, the provisions of which must be complied with in the preparation of pay rolls. Past misinterpretation of section 16 of the said General Orders makes it proper to state here that such section 16 does not require the middle name of a person to be spelled in full in the column of names on the pay roll. The idea intended to be conveyed is that on the pay roll the name in the name column, however it may be written, and the corresponding signature in the column for signatures must be absolutely identical in form and spelling.

V. Upon the application of the Governor, the Secretary of War has, in accordance with the provisions of section 19 of the Act of Congress approved January 21, 1903, entitled "An act to promote the efficiency of the militia and for other purposes," detailed Captain Percy P. Bishop, Artillery Corps, U. S. A., to attend the encampment of the 13th Regiment, Heavy Artillery, at Plum Island, N. Y., during the coming summer. The Secretary of War has also designated, upon the Governor's application, the United States Military Academy Detachment of Engineers to attend the encampment of the 22d Regiment, Engineers, during the coming season, for the purpose of assisting in the instruction of the Regiment.

VI. Such members of the organizations above designated as are not able to attend for at least five days of the tour of duty of their respective organizations are excused from such service this season. Members of organizations on camp or field service shall not join their respective organizations on the next to the last or on the final day of such tour of service. Commanding officers of the organizations designated in paragraph I of this order are directed not to enlist new men during a period of one month prior to and one week after the date of the beginning of the field or camp service of their respective organizations.

VII. Requisitions for public property needed for their camp or field service by the organizations above designated, must be forwarded to this office on or before May 1st next.

By command of the Governor:
NELSON H. HENRY,
Adjutant-General.

ALBANY, March 30, 1905.

General Orders, No. 6.

Upon the recommendation of the Commanding Officer of the National Guard, section 169 of the "Regulations for Small Arms Practice, National Guard, N. Y., March 31, 1904," is hereby amended by striking out the words in the third and second lines from the end of the section "or for each shot found on the figures in excess of twenty" and sections 166 and 176 of the said Regulations are hereby amended to read as follows:

166. The conditions of these matches are as follows:

First: Target "A," at 200 yards, position standing, two sighting shots; 7 shots for record.

Second: Target "B," at 600 yards, position prone, two sighting shots; 7 shots for record.

Third: Rapid Fire, target "F," at 200 yards, position standing, time limit 20 seconds for each five shots; 10 shots for record.

Fourth: Rapid Fire, target "F," at 500 yards, position prone, time limit 30 seconds for each five shots; 10 shots for record.

The procedure for rapid fire in the third and fourth stages is as follows: The magazine is filled, one cartridge loaded therefrom, and the piece then held at position "Ready." (In the prone position at 500 yards, the left hand steadies and supports the piece at the balance, the toe of the butt resting on the ground, the muzzle off the ground.) When all is ready a red danger flag or disk appears from the pit at each of the targets, and is held stationary two or three seconds and then withdrawn; immediately after being withdrawn the target appears and remains in sight twenty seconds at 200 yards and thirty seconds at 500 yards, then disappears. The competitor may "aim" as soon as any portion of the target appears. He attempts to fire five shots, emptying the magazine and firing at will without command from the instant any portion of the target appears until it has completely disappeared. Each unfired cartridge counts as a miss. In case of a defective cartridge or disabled piece, practice is repeated. The number and value of the hits are signaled with the usual disks in the usual manner after the score has been fired. A danger flag is waved across the face of the target to indicate that all the hits have been signaled.

176. The conditions of this match are as follows:

Team skirmish run, silhouette target 2, from 700 to 200 yards, 20 shots, any position, magazine fire permitted, six halts as follows:

600 yards, 30 seconds, 2 shots;
500 yards, 30 seconds, 2 shots;
400 yards, 30 seconds, 3 shots;
350 yards, 30 seconds, 3 shots;
300 yards, 30 seconds, 5 shots;
200 yards, 20 seconds, 5 shots.

The first half of each advance will be at quick time, and the latter half at double time. For each shot fired before the commencement or after the close of the time limit, or for each shot fired in excess of the number ordered for the halt, or for failure to fire the full number prescribed for the halt, 5 points will be deducted from the score.

By command of the Governor:

NELSON H. HENRY,
Adjutant-General.

ALBANY, April 3, 1905.

General Orders, No. 8.

The following is published for the information and guidance of all concerned:

I. Paragraph 3 of Section 1661, United States Revised Statutes, as amended, with reference to the issue of arms and equipments to the Militia, reads as follows:

"Paragraph 3. That the purchase or manufacture of arms, ordnance stores, quartermaster stores, and camp equipage for the militia under the provisions of this act shall be made under the direction of the Secretary of War, as such arms, ordnance and quartermaster's stores, and camp equipage are now manufactured or otherwise provided for the use of the Regular Army, and they shall be receipted for and shall remain the property of the United States, and be annually accounted for by the governors of the States and Territories, for which purpose the Secretary of War shall prescribe and supply the necessary blanks and make such regulations as he may deem necessary to protect the interests of the United States."

II. Attention is invited to the provisions of the following Paragraphs, U. S. Army Regulations, 1904, which pertain to the care of arms and equipments, and which will be strictly enforced:

"283. Enlisted men will not take their arms apart except by permission of a commissioned officer under proper supervision, and only in the manner prescribed in the descriptive pamphlet of the arm issued by the Ordance Department. The polishing of blued or browned parts of small arms, reblueing or rebrowning, putting any portion of an arm in a fire, or removing a receiver from a barrel, is prohibited. The mutilation of any part by filing or otherwise, and attempts to beautify or change the finish are prohibited. Pieces will be unloaded before being taken to quarters or tents, and as soon as the men using them are relieved from duty, unless otherwise ordered. The use of tompions in small arms is forbidden. The prohibition in this paragraph of attempts to beautify or change the finish of arms in the hands of enlisted men is not construed as forbidding the application of raw linseed oil to the wood parts of the arms. This oil is considered necessary for the preservation of the wood, and it may be used for such polishing as can be given by rubbing in one or more coats when necessary. The use of raw linseed oil only will be allowed for redressing, and the application for such purpose of any kind of wax or varnish, including heelball, is strictly prohibited."

"284. It is forbidden to use any dressing or polishing material on the leather accoutrements or equipments of the soldier, the horse equipments for cavalry, or the artillery harness, except the preparations supplied by the Ordnance Department for that purpose."

"285. Equipments will be fitted to the men under the direction of an officer; all other changes are prohibited."

III. Brigadier General William Crozier, Chief of Ordnance, U. S. A., has called the attention of this office under the above Regulations to the following action as prohibited by the same:

"(a) The taking apart of arms by enlisted men except by permission of a commissioned officer, and then only under proper supervision and in the manner prescribed in the descriptive pamphlet of the arm, issued by the Ordnance Department."

"(b) The polishing of blued or browned parts, the reblueing or rebrowning of such parts, or the putting of any portion of an arm in fire."

"(c) The removing of a barrel from a receiver."

"(d) The mutilation of any part by filing or otherwise, and beautifying or changing the finish."

"(e) The use of any dressing or polishing material on leather accoutrements, equipments, harness, etc., except the preparations supplied or approved by the Ordnance Department."

"(f) All changes in equipments except the adjustments provided for in their construction for fitting them to soldiers."

IV. Attention is called to the following instructions from Brigadier General Crozier:

"(1) It should be noted that Paragraph 283, A. R., 1904, makes obligatory a strict compliance with the rules for dismounting and assembling the arm by soldiers, for cleaning and care of the arm, and for repairing arms in the hands of troops, contained in the descriptive pamphlet issued by the Ordnance Department."

"(2) As the arms and equipments in the possession of the Militia form a large part of the entire supply of the United States and as only a strict observance of the provisions of the above-mentioned paragraphs can ensure such material being in a serviceable condition in case of emergency, the necessity for their enforcement is apparent."

"(3) Should defects be discovered in arms, accoutrements or equipments, a report describing in detail the nature and extent thereof should be submitted to the Chief of Ordnance, U. S. Army, and only those remedial measures taken that shall be authorized or prescribed by that officer. Broken parts of arms, etc., should not be turned in to this Department for any purpose by officers of the Militia direct, but, under proper authority, by the Governor or Adjutant-General of the state or territory to which the arms, etc., are issued. When broken bolts or other parts of U. S. arms are turned in to this Department, because of unusual breakage, as full information of the circumstances of the breakage as possible should be forwarded. Care should be taken in such cases to preserve the broken surfaces from rust."

Upon the recommendation of the Commanding Officer of the Naval Militia, "The Landing Force and Small Arms Instructions, United States Navy, 1905," approved by the Secretary of the Navy, January 12, 1905, are hereby adopted for the observance of the Naval Militia of this State.

General Orders, No. 21.

I. The following proclamation by the Governor, is published for the information of the military and naval forces of the State:

The people of the State of New York learn with sorrow of the untimely death of Honorable S. Fred Nixon, the Speaker of the Assembly. He had the affection and respect of all who knew him. In his long service in the Legislature he had won a position of deserved and recognized leadership. His young and useful life gave fair promise of brilliant success in wider fields. His broad experience, his tact and his sound judgment rendered him exceptionally well qualified for his responsible and arduous duties. His death leaves a vacant place that cannot easily be filled.

It is proper that the Governor should in the absence of the Legislature, make official recognition of the loss sustained by the people and publicly express the respect due to the character and services of the deceased.

Now, therefore, I, Frank W. Higgins, Governor of the State of New York, do direct that the flags upon all the public buildings of the State, including the armories and arsenals, be displayed at half-mast up to and including the day of the funeral.

Given under my hand and the privy seal of the State at the Capitol in the city of Albany, this tenth day of October, in the year of our Lord, one thousand nine hundred and five.

FRANK W. HIGGINS.

By the Governor:

Frank E. Perley, Secretary to the Governor.

ALBANY, November 2, 1905.

GENERAL ORDERS, No. 24.

Upon the recommendation of the Commanding Officer of the National Guard, the following amended paragraphs 383 and 441 of the Regulations for the Army of the United States, 1904, are published for the information and guidance of the National Guard of this State:

"383. Whenever 'The Star Spangled Banner' is played by the band on a formal occasion at a military station, or at any place where persons belonging to the military service are present in their official capacity, all officers and enlisted men present will stand at attention, and if not in ranks will render the prescribed salute, the position of the salute being retained until the last note of 'The Star Spangled Banner.' The same respect will be observed toward the national air of any other country when it is played as a compliment to official representatives of such country. Whenever 'The Star Spangled Banner' is played, as contemplated by this paragraph, the air will be played through once without the repetition of any part, except such repetition as is called for by the musical score."

"441. At every military post or station the flag will be hoisted at the sounding of the first note of the reveille, or of the first note of the march, if a march be played before the reveille. The flag will be lowered at the sounding of the last note of the retreat, and while the flag is being lowered the band will play 'The Star Spangled Banner,' or, if there be no band present, the field music will sound 'To the Color'. When 'To the Color' is sounded by the field music while the flag is being lowered the same respect will be observed as when 'The Star Spangled Banner' is played by the band. The national flag shall be displayed at a seacoast or lake fort at the commencement of an action and during a battle in which the fort may be engaged, whether by day or at night."

The provisions of the foregoing shall be complied with and the requirements of the drill regulations in conflict therewith are hereby modified accordingly.

By command of the Governor:

NELSON H. HENRY,
Adjutant-General.

GENERAL HEADQUARTERS, STATE OF NEW YORK,

ADJUTANT-GENERAL'S OFFICE, ALBANY,

March 30, 1905.

Circular No. 1.

I. The attention of all concerned and especially of examining boards for officers, is particuarly invited to O. D. 182 and 183, with reference to the exact dates and to the correctness of previous military record furnished by the candidate. In order that proper credit may be given in the Official Register for prior service in the Army or Navy of the United States, or in the National Guard or Naval Militia of other States, officers elected or appointed for the first time shall file with the examining board, to be transmitted with the other papers in their case, or must forward to the Adjutant-General through the proper channel, official transcripts from competent authority covering such prior service. In the case of officers commissioned hereafter, such record of previous service will not be published unless it is supported by documentary evidence.

II. The attention of all concerned is invited to O. D. 405. In the preparation of semi-annual returns sufficient care to properly classify the several kinds of losses and return them under the proper head is not exercised. All losses by discharge should be carefully divided and explained in the several classes authorized by M. C. 79. For instance, the distinction between a loss by full and honorable discharge and the loss by honorable discharge of a man who has served his term of enlistment, but has not performed the required percentage of duty to entitle him to a full and honorable discharge, should be shown. Like care should be exercised in accounting for gains under the proper explanatory heads.

III. Numerous avoidable minor errors shown in the annual muster rolls would seem to indicate that company commanders in the preparation of such rolls, do not follow with sufficient carefulness the directions for their preparation contained in O. D. 406-430. Some of the more common forms of error are:

(1) Failure to give proper date of actual present enlistment in the cases of men taken up or transferred.

In this case, the date entered in the column for date of enlistment should be the date of actual present enlistment; the date taken up or transferred should be shown under "Remarks."

(2) The accounting more than once as a loss of an enlisted man who has been lost, gained, and again lost since last muster.

In this case, an enlisted man should be but once accounted for as a loss, and in the column "Date of Loss," should be shown the date of his last loss; his record with dates of prior loss and gain should be shown under "Remarks."

(3) Error in date of enlistment.

The proper date of enlistment is the date on which the oath of allegiance and service was administered, and not the date entered in the body of the enlistment, should such date be different, nor the date on which the enlistment was approved.

By command of the Governor:

NELSON H. HENRY,

Adjutant-General.

Circular No. 2.

The following opinion of the Judge Advocate of the National Guard, which is concurred in by the Commanding Officer of the National Guard, is published for the information and guidance of all concerned:

HEADQUARTERS NATIONAL GUARD, NEW YORK,

April 1, 1905.

Assistant Adjutant-General, N. G. N. Y.

SIR:—I have considered the communication addressed by the C. O. 4th Brigade to the A. G., in which he asks for a ruling on the following statement;

"The * * Separate Company is at present in command of Second Lieutenant * * * * * * * Captain * * * being absent, on sick leave, which is likely to be indefinitely prolonged; there is no First Lieutenant. I am in receipt from that organization of Proceedings of Board of Audit, these show Lieutenant * * * as being the only officer present. Now as Lieutenant * * * * is in command of the organization, and is still at the same time the only officer on duty with the organization, does this fill the requirements of par. 156, G. O. 11, A. G. O., s 1901," etc.

By M. C. 158, it is provided that the funds allowed military organizations "shall be expended for the benefit of such organizations upon the approval and audit of an auditing board," and in the case of a separate company it is declared that "such board shall consist of the line officers of the organization." These are three in number—captain, first lieutenant and second lieutenant.

It is the duty of an auditing board to pass on each item of the bills presented to it in a just and intelligent way, allowing or disallowing them in whole or in part, not arbitrarily but with a strict regard in each instance to the law and the facts. The function of auditing is not, therefore, a ministerial act, but requires the exercise of discretion and judgment (People vs. Supervisors, 83 A. D. 51: People vs. Barnes, 114 N. Y. 317; People vs. Commissioners, 149 Id. 26).

In determining how many persons must unite to exercise a power given to a definite number the common law made a distinction between powers to be exercised for public purposes and powers for private purposes. Where the power was given to be exercised for a private purpose, it was required that all should meet and all should unite in its exercise. But where the power was given for a public purpose it was requisite that all must meet and deliberate, but the decision of a majority thereupon was binding upon all.

This rule was adopted by the courts of this State at an early date, and has been applied in very many instances.

* * * *

In the Revised Statutes which went into force in 1829, a provision was inserted in these words:

"Whenever any power, authority or duty is confided by law to three or more persons, and whenever three or more persons or officers are authorized or required by law to perform any act, such act may be done, and such power, authority or duty may be exercised and performed by a majority of such persons or officers, upon a meeting of all the persons or officers so entrusted or empowered, unless special provision is otherwise made" (2 R. S. 555, Sec. 27).

This provision, it will be observed, was substanitally in accord with the rule of the common law as stated above.

In 1874 this section was amended by adding at the end of the words:

"and whenever a duty has been or shall be enjoined by law upon three or more persons or officers, and one or more of them shall have died, or have become mentally incapacitated to act, or shall refuse or neglect to attend a meeting of such persons upon reasonable personal notice thereof, then the action of a majority of the whole number appointed shall be binding and effective for all the purposes for which they were appointed."

In 1892 these provisions were consolidated and enacted into Section 19 of what is now known as the Statutory Construction Law (Laws of 1892, Chap. 677, Section 19). This, so far as material, is in these words:

"Whenever three or more public officers are given any power or authority, or three or more persons are charged with any public duty to be performed or exercised by them jointly or as a board or similar body; a majority of all such persons or officers at a meeting duly held at a time fixed by law, or by any by-law duly adopted by such board or body, or at any duly adjourned meeting of such meeting, or at any meeting duly held upon reasonable notice to all of them, may perform and exercise such power, authority or duty, and if one or more of such persons or officers shall have died or have become mentally incapable of acting, or shall refuse or neglect to attend any such meeting, a majority of the whole number of such persons or officers shall be a quorum of such board or body, and a majority of a quorum, if not less than a majority of the whole number of such persons or officers may perform and exercise any such power, authority or duty."

* * * *

It is not necessary to go into any further examination of the decisions of the court having either a direct or a remote bearing upon the question under discussion. It is sufficient to point out that there is no authority to be found in this State for the proposition that one member can exercise the powers of a board of three reduced by death or resignation to two members where such board is vested with judicial or quasi-judicial functions as distinguished from mere ministerial powers. The statutory rule and the decisions of the courts are to the contrary.

Whether section 19 of the Statutory Construction Law which is a re-enactment of the provisions of section 27 of the Revised Statutes of 1829, is or is not an exact statement of the rules of common law applicable in like cases, or is merely a modification of these rules (Johnson vs. Dodd, 56 N. Y. 79: Schoepflin vs. Calkins, 5 Misc. 159), the fact remains that the language of this section explicitly declares that where one or more persons or officers refuse or neglect to attend a meeting of the whole body, a majority of the whole number shall constitute a quorum and "a majority of a quorum if not less than a majority of the whole number may exercise any power or authority vested in the board." It is very clear that one member is not a majority in the present instance whether we construe the statutory words "whole number" to refer to the two members existing or to the whole membership of three.

"There is nothing to take the present case out of the general rule and to bring it under such exceptional authorities. It is undoubtedly just and proper that claims against military organizations should be passed upon and paid promptly, but there is manifestly no such need for instantaneous action in such cases as exist in the case of sheriffs or coroners where a failure of immediate action may result in injustice and may impair or even entirely defeat legal remedies with the resulting destruction of property rights. The vacancy existing in the auditing board can be filled under the provisions of the M. C. by election to be ordered by the proper authority. The M. C. contemplates that such vacancies will be filled in due course. The fact that one member of the board is absent from his post is due to a leave granted by proper authority. The result is that the available membership of the board is reduced to one member, and I am of the opinion that he cannot exercise the powers of the board.

"By the last sentence of M. C. 158 the C. O. of a brigade is not authorized to pass upon the vouchers in support of a claim until the auditing board shall have drawn its order for their payment. In view of the conclusion which I have just reached that the order in the present case is illegal and of no force, it follows that the C. O. of a brigade should not pass upon the vouchers submitted to him, but should withhold action until such time as a legal and valid order for payment is presented to him. Until such an order is presented he has no authority to act.

Respectfully,

WILLIAM W. LADD,
Judge Advocate.

The views set forth by the Judge Advocate of the National Guard in the foregoing opinion are concurred in.

By command of the Governor:

NELSON H. HENRY
Adjutant-General.

Circular No. 3.

The following letter from the Military Secretary, War Department, is published for the information of all concerned:

WAR DEPARTMENT,

THE MILITARY SECRETARY'S OFFICE,
WASHINGTON, April 21, 1905.

THE GOVERNOR OF NEW YORK,
Albany, N. Y.

SIR:—

I am instructed by the Secretary of War to request that you forward to this office, for the consideration of the Department, as soon as practicable, and not later than June 1st, next, the names of such officers of the organized militia of your State as you may recommend for admission to the army service schools for the coming term, under the provisions of section 16 of the Militia Act of January 21, 1903.

The schools to which it will be practicable to admit officers of the militia this year are:

The Army Medical School, Washington;

The Infantry and Cavalry School, Fort Leavenworth, Kansas;

The Artillery School, Fort Monroe, Virginia;

And garrison schools at the posts designated in War Department Circular, No. 26, June 28, 1904.

The regulations prescribed by the President to govern the admission of militia officers, as published in War Department General Orders, No. 115, of last year, will soon be republished with some minor modifications for the information of all concerned. The requirements in the present regulations as to the eligibility for admission are retained. These requirements are that the applicant shall have been a member of the organized militia for at least one year; that he shall be between the ages of twenty-one and thirty-five years (except for admission to the Army Medical School), and a citizen of the United States; and that he shall furnish his affidavit covering these points and a certificate from the colonel of his regiment, or other person or persons, that he is of good moral character, etc.

Early action is necessary as it is essential that all the preliminary requirements be met and the eligible applicants be prepared to enter the schools at the commencement of the courses of instruction in order that they may be entitled to the allowances, etc., provided by law for those who complete the full course.

Very respectfully,

F. C. AINSWORTH,
The Military Secretary.

Officers desiring to attend any of the schools above mentioned must forward through the channel their applications addressed to the Adjutant-General, S. N. Y., stating in each application the name in full, age, rank, organization, and the name of the school which it is desired to attend.

An application in order to receive consideration must be received at this office not later than May 27th next. In forwarding such applications, superior headquarters, with its recommendations, should furnish information as to the qualifications of the applicants to pursue with advantage the course of study prescribed.

By command of the Governor:

NELSON H. HENRY,
Adjutant-General.

ALBANY, October 18, 1905.

Circular No. 4.

The following letter from the office of the Chief of Ordnance, War Department, on the subject of "Treatment of cartridge bags and cartridge bag material to render them noninflammable," is published for the information and guidance of all concerned:

WAR DEPARTMENT,

OFFICE OF THE CHIEF OF ORDNANCE,
WASHINGTON, October 14, 1905.

THE GOVERNOR, STATE OF NEW YORK,
Albany, N. Y.

SIR:—

1. In order to minimize the danger of premature explosions in firing salutes in muzzle-loalding and breech-loading cannon, in which the saluting charge is contained in a cartridge bag, the Ordnance Department will hereafter issue cartridge bags and cartridge bag material which have been treated with a ten per cent solution of ammonium phosphate to render them noninflammable. The method employed is to soak the cartridge bag, or cartridge bag material, in the solution until thoroughly wet, and then, without wringing, to hang it up to dry.

2. This treatment is considered necessary for safety, and upon application to this Department a sufficient quantity of this solution will be supplied and shipped to such point in your State as you may designate, for the treatment of cartridge bags or cartridge bag material, now on hand, without any charge against the State's quota. Bags now containing powder should be emptied, treated and refilled. In making the application, the amount of material on hand and number of bags to be treated should be stated in order that the requisite amount of the solution may be forwarded.

3. It is to be understood that this treatment should in no wise lessen the present requirement of careful observation of the chamber and bore of the gun after each discharge; and the thorough wiping out of the chamber and bore with a dampened sponge. If at the time of firing, the general direction of the wind is from the muzzle towards the breech of the gun, it is the more important that these ordinary precautions should not be neglected.

Very respectfully,

A. H. RUSSELL,
Lieut. Col. Ord. Dep't., U. S. A.
Acting Chief of Ordnance.

By command of the Governor,
NELSON H. HENRY,

APPENDIX "D."

Report to the Military Secretary, War Department: "Statement of the Condition of the Organized Militia of New York in 1904."

This report was made August 15, 1905, in response to the following letter:

WAR DEPARTMENT,
THE MILITARY SECRETARY'S OFFICE,
WASHINGTON, April 17, 1905.

The Adjutant-General, State of New York, Albany.

Sir—It is the intention of the War Department to this year, and each succeeding year, incorporate in the annual report of The Military Secretary on the organized militia of the United States, the information furnished by the Regular Army officers detailed for duty with the organized militia, on the lines hereinafter indicated.

As there is no Regular Army officer on duty with your militia, the Assistant Secretary of War would be pleased to have you furnish the data for your State so that the same may be included in the report.

Particular attention should be given to the terms of the Militia Bill of 1903 and to the necessity of effecting such changes in the laws and regulations of the State as shall cause them to conform within the shortest possible period to those of the Regular and Volunteer Armies of the United States.

It is desired that you give full information touching methods of administration, arms, equipment, instruction, discipline, time required for mobilization at such strategic points within the State as seem most important to you, and a classified list of articles required to enable the entire force to take the field completely equipped in all respects for sixty days' service, and the percentage of each command that can be relied upon for service outside of the State for that period.

* * * * * * * *

Very respectfully,
W. P. HALL,
Military Secretary.

GENERAL HEADQUARTERS, STATE OF NEW YORK,
ADJUTANT-GENERAL'S OFFICE,
ALBANY, August 15, 1905.

The Military Secretary, War Department; Washington, D. C.

Sir—I have the honor to submit, under separate cover, report of the "Statement of the Condition of the Organized Militia of New York in 1904," in accordance with your request contained in communication received from your office under date of April 17, 1905.

Respectfully,
NELSON H. HENRY,
Adjutant-General.

"STATEMENT OF THE CONDITION OF THE ORGANIZED MILITIA OF NEW YORK IN 1904."

1. "Official designation of State troops."

National Guard, New York.

2. "Strength. (a) Authorized. (b) Organized. (c) Per cent. attending camp. (d) Liable to military duty (latest estimate). (e) The authorized strength by arms of the service on January 21, 1903.

"The authorized strength should be the numerical strength that the militia would have if every person authorized by law were commissioned or enlisted. In giving the authorized strength state the numerical strength of each arm of the service as at present organized; also the numerical strength of Staff Corps, Hospital Corps, Signal Corps, etc. The following, not properly forming part of the effective military strength of State forces, should not be included, viz.: Naval reserves, aides-de-camp to the Governor, cadet organizations composed of boys, nor will men not enlisted, such as drivers in light batteries, or such bands as are not regularly enlisted, be included."

(b). Organized.	Signal Corps	150
	Engineers	693
	Cavalry	494
	Artillery	1,525
	Infantry	12,057
	General officers and staffs	58
		14,977

Hospital Corps: Strength included in organizations to which they are attached.

(c). Per cent. attending camp, 81 per cent. in 1904; 80.96 per cent. in 1903.

All organizations not mentioned above were excused from the performance of field duty. As far as possible, organizations are ordered on such service on alternate years.

(d). Liable to military duty.

The total male population of the State, of militia age, was, in 1900, 1,639,395. The number of males in the State available for military duty, but not organized, is estimated to be 1,393,486.

All officers are commissioned by the Governor. (Military Code 51.) Commissioned officers must be citizens of the United States, and of the age of eighteen (18) years and upwards. Special specific requirements are prescribed for the particular office to which one is commissioned. (Military Code 52). Before being commissioned every officer must pass a satisfactory examination, with certain exceptions. (Military Code 53, 55.)

Brigadier-generals, field officers and company officers are elected, and under certain conditions may be appointed. (Military Code 56).

6. "Company officers. How selected or appointed? Any examination required?"

Captains, lieutenants are elected by members of the respective organization; but, upon the creation of new organizations, the Governor may, if he so desires in the first instance, appoint all the officers necessary to commence and complete such organization. Before being commissioned every officer must have passed a satisfactory examination before a board as to his knowledge of military affairs, and general knowledge and fitness for the service. General officers and officers who, within thirty days after the expiration of their term of office or discharge, are re-appointed to the position they previously held, are exempt from examination.

Chaplains are exempt from examination. Enlisted men, provided they have well and faithfully served for a period of twenty-five years, may be appointed and commissioned by the Governor without examination, second lieutenant by brevet, upon the recommendation of their respective commanding officers, and be then placed upon the retired list.

"Give rank and duties of both Adjutant-General and Surgeon-General; and list of other authorized heads of departments, with their rank, and a statement as to whether the departments are organized, and what duties are performed by the head of each."

This State, in accordance with the Military Code, has one Adjutant-General of the grade of brigadier-general, appointed by the Commander-in-Chief, who performs the duties prescribed for him in the Military Code, and, assisted by three assistant adjutants-general, has charge of the duties of the office of chief of staff, quartermaster, commissary and paymaster. (Military Code 15.)

This State has no medical department or surgeon-generals. Medical officers are attached to their respective commands.

8. "Ambulance Corps and Hospital Corps. Organization, equipment and efficiency."

No ambulance corps has been established. The Military Code provides for the organization of a hospital corps to be attached to Headquarters, National Guard, but not as yet organized. (Military Code 36.)

Each regiment, battalion and company has its respective organized hospital corps. The equipment, individual, is in accordance with the United States Regulations. The efficiency varies, but has been found to meet all exigencies of the service.

9. "Signal Corps. Organization, equipment, and efficiency."

Two companies of signal corps, organized and equipped in accordance with United States Regulations. (Military Code 27.)

Very efficient.

10. "Any regular army officer attached to Headquarters? If there is, give names."

No.

11. "Military or advisory board. Organization and duties."

Yes. Established under General Orders No. 19, November 16, 1903, A. G. O. Convened upon the call of the Adjutant-General for the consideration of such subjects as may be submitted to it.

12. "Encampment. By regiment, brigade or division? Period of duration? Ground owned by State? If so, location. Any regular troops encamped with State troops?"

The present appropriations—allotment from the United States, and annual State appropriation,—will not allow the annual encampment of the entire National Guard. Organizations perform camp or field service in alternate years. Duty is performed either by brigade or regiment. Duration eight (8) days. The State Camp of Instruction is at Peekskill, N. Y.

When tour of field service is performed other than at the Camp of Instruction, small rental is generally required.

Although desired, regular troops have not encamped with the State troops.

13. "Mobilization. (a) Points of concentration for service in State. (b) Points of concentration for service out of State. (c) Time required for concentration for service either in or out of State. (d) Plans for emergency. (e) Per cent. that would probably turn out for sixty days' service.

In naming the points of concentration for service within the State, the reasons for making each point important should be given; also the time required to concentrate all or part of the troops. This is for duty in case of riots, labor troubles, etc. Concentration for service outside the State would be in case of a call by the President, and the same information is required as under sub-head (a).

The information desired under sub-head (d) is as to whether there are in the office of the Adjutant-General any pre-arranged plans for the use of the troops in case of emergency. Under this head should be given a brief description of any active service performed by the State troops within the last year."

(a) Special points for concentration for service in the State have not been selected in view of the fact that the National Guard can readily be concentrated for such service at any point within the State, and—

(b) This applies also to concentration for service out of the State, in which case if a large body of troops should be required, concentration could be, however, and has been, made on Long Island and at the Camp of Instruction of the State near Peekskill; the vicinity of Buffalo would also afford a point for such concentration were it necessary.

(c) The concentration of the National Guard at any point in the State can be effected within twenty-four hours, if railroad facilities permit, and for this reason,—

(d) Plans for emergencies have not been prepared, the Guard being so distributed over the State that such plans in advance are not necessary.

During the year 1904, Squadron A, Troops B, C and D, the First, Second and Third Batteries, the Eighth, Ninth, Twenty-third, Forty-seventh and Sixty-ninth Regiments of Infantry, each performed a tour of State camp and field service at the Camp of Instruction, near Peekskill of eight (8) days; Squadron A, Troop C and the batteries, of ten (10) days; short voluntary camp and field service was also rendered by the Second and Sixth Batteries, Companies C, F, G, H, I and M, First Regiment; Companies B and I, Second Regiment; Squadron A, and Troop C, each furnished a troop for, and the Second, Twelfth, Fourteenth and Seventy-fourth Regiments took part in, the Joint Army and Militia Maneuvers at Manassas, and Company G, Fourth Battalion, had two days duty in aid of the civil authorities at Mohawk.

(e) In the past, the average attendance of the National Guard when called in aid of the civil authorities of the State, has been from 85 to 92 per cent., and it is believed that for a service of sixty days, an attendance from 80 to 85 per cent. could be relied upon.

14. "State appropriations."

The following is an extract from the Adjutant-General's report for the year 1904:

(A copy of detailed statement of expenditures, Volume I of the Report of the Adjutant-General, S. N. Y., for 1904, pages 79 to 87, inclusive, followed, but is not reprinted here.)

In addition to the above, appropriations were made for the Armory Commission for repairs, improvements and betterments of the State arsenals, armories and camp grounds, and rifle range at Creedmoor and throughout the State, and for the erection of new armories, two hundred and eighty-five thousand dollars, ($285,000).

15. "National appropriations."

Under these two heads (14 and 15), give amount, if possible, and manner of expending both.

Annual appropriation provided by section 1661 of the Revised Statutes of the United States as amended, provides allotment to this State, of seventy-seven thousand, seven hundred ninety-six dollars and three cents ($77,796.03). This allotment is insufficient to meet the demands of the organized militia. More than one-half (½) is required annually to fill the requisitions for ordnance stores.

For full particulars with reference to the manner of expending this appropriation, attention is called to the report to The Military Secretary, War Department, November 2, 1904.

and clothing issued to each branch of the service, and the amount held in reserve, so that the Department may be fully informed."

Enlisted men are furnished at State expense with a dress uniform of State pattern, and also a service uniform, olive drab woolen, in accordance with United States pattern. The organizations as a rule carry a small amount of surplus uniforms over and above their enlisted strength. The amount held in reserve at the State Arsenal is sufficient to meet the demands of the State service; but not sufficient to uniform the maximum strength allowed by law.

19. "Horses owned or hired?

"The answer to this should show the method of getting horses, and state whether or not the horses are owned by the members of the different organizations, or hired from other persons."

The State does not own any of the horses of the mounted organizations. They are hired when needed, whether owned by the organization, members or outsiders.

Troop C has this year been re-organized as Squadron C, composed of two troops; the maximum strength of cavalry organizations allowed by law, less commissioned officers, is given above—as a matter of fact troops are at present limited by orders to 75 enlisted men. The Third Battery is a twelve Colt Automatic gun battery, the whole command mounted; the other batteries are four 3.2" breech loading rifle gun batteries, four horses to a carriage.

20. "Ammunition. (a) Character and quantity of, actually in the hands of troops of all three branches. (b) Amount that could be supplied on arrival at point of concentration."

The ammunition is drawn upon requisition from the United States Government by the Governor, annually. Allowance at the rate of 75 rounds ball cartridge is allowed to each officer and enlisted man for the arm or arms with which they are respectively required to practice. Requisitions based upon the strength of the commands are made direct to the Adjutant-General on the 31st day of March. A reserve supply of ammunition, calibre .30 of 30 rounds per man is constantly kept in the armory. This reserve has been renewed each year from ammunition received. Ten rounds of this reserve ammunition has recently been replaced by the new Guard cartridges.

The allowance of ammunition stated above does not meet the demands of the organizations, and it has been the practice in the past number of years to purchase for cash approximately about two hundred thousand rounds of .30 calibre ammunition.

There is constantly on hand at the State arsenal a sufficient reserve supply to meet every emergency. The same could be supplied at any point of concentration or speedily issued to organizations before their mobilization. Appended is the amount of ammunition of all character received in the year 1904. The amount expended in the case of the amount issued and used by organizations in practice:

"Give full statements of all tentage, including shelter tents.

"Under sub-head (b) give full information as to field mess outfits for companies, troops or batteries, especially field cooking utensils."

In accordance with the Regulations of the State of New York, tentage of sufficient quantity to meet the demands of all organizations is issued and in the hands of the respective organizations ready for service.

To a company of infantry, part of a battalion or regiment there is allowed three wall tents, flies, poles and pins complete; seven conical wall tents, poles and pins complete; one hospital tent, flies, poles, pins and cooking outfit. See Regulations, Part I, Section 350.

The tentage above referred to is in good condition. Upon becoming unserviceable it is turned in and new issued upon requisition. Khaki tentage is gradually replacing the white tentage. During the past year 5,600 shelter tents, halves, were received from the United States government and issued to the organizations of this State. Further supply will be required in order to supply the entire strength. The following organizations are at present supplied:

First and Second Company, Signal Corps; Squadrons A and C; Troop B; Second, Seventh, Twelfth, Fourteenth, Sixty-fifth and Seventy-fourth Regiments, Infantry.

Other camp tools and quartermaster's property are supplied to organizations in accordance with Regulations 351.

(b) All organizations in this State are supplied with military cooking outfits in accordance with Regulations 352. The Buzzacott military cooking outfit has been supplied until recent date. This outfit is now being replaced, as it becomes unserviceable, by the field range. All troops are supplied with personal mess kits. The following organizations, Second, Twelfth, Fourteenth and Seventy-fourth Regiments, Infantry, participating in the Manassas maneuvers, have been supplied with complete set of commissary chests. It is the intention of this State to supply other organizations as well, as soon as the available appropriation is at hand.

22. "Property Accountability. Nature of. Are Regulations in regard to strictly enforced? What provision is made by State law or regulations looking to the indemnification of the United States Government for public property of the Government issued to the State for the use of its organized militia? Quartermasters have charge of the issue and preservation of quartermaster stores belonging to the respective organizations. R. 121. Commissaries of subsistence will have charge of the issue and preservation of commissary stores belonging to and issued to their respective organizations. R. 141. All officers to whom property is issued are required to make annual return. Regulations, Part 2, §1552.

The regulations of the State closely conform to those of the regular service and are strictly complied with requiring accountability, and every officer and enlisted man is held personally responsible to the State for such property. No one is relieved from such responsibility unless by due process of a board of survey. Action upon United States property, as well as State property, is in accordance with the practice of United States regulations. R. 360, 361. Military Code 125.

Every provision is made by the Regulations for the indemnification of the United States for public property of the Government lost or unaccounted for. The first assistant adjutant-general is in charge of the State Arsenal, the depository for all public property and military stores received from the United States Government or purchased by the State. All property, military stores, are issued from this depot. This officer is placed under bonds to the satisfaction of the Governor.

23. "Subsistence. Rations. Component parts of. How furnished? How prepared?

Under second and third subheads state fully how supplies are furnished, both in camp and in active service, and how they are prepared in both cases."

During the past two years it has been the custom of this State where large bodies of troops have been ordered to one camp, that subsistence and quartermaster stores should be advertised for and contracts duly awarded to the lowest bidder, in accordance with practice of the regular service. In the case of subsistence stores and supplies the commissary officer upon the staff of the Commanding Officer, National Guard, has been authorized to make purchases and act as distributing commissary. All further information under this heading will be found in the following, based on General Orders, No. 17, A. G. O., s. 1904.*

24. "Pay and allowances.

"Give pay and allowances of all kinds to officers and enlisted men on all kinds of duty. Add full description of operation of provisions of §14, Militia Law, stating in what respects methods of carrying out the law can be improved upon."

The following is from Military Code, 151 to 165 inclusive, as amended:

(As sections cited may all be found in the Military Code, they are not printed here.)

In accordance with the provisions of §14, Militia Law, the Governor appointed the Adjutant-General of the State Disbursing Officer, and sixty-five thousand dollars ($65,000) was required for. The estimate of expenses was based upon General Orders, No. 9, A. G. O., March 26, 1904. These orders were modified, the two companies of signal corps being excused from such duty. Upon May 27th, the Twelfth, Fourteenth and Seventy-fourth Regiments were excused from such duty upon the recommendation of the Commanding Officer, National Guard, they having been selected to participate in the Joint Army and Militia Maneuvers at Manassas.

The following disbursements were below the estimate, in view of the participation of the troops at Manassas.

Pay of troops		$32,514 70
Commutation of subsistence		6,355 20
Transportation.
Troops	$3,447 21
Property	1,033 40
		4,480 61
Balance		21,649 49
		$65,000 00

While §14, Militia Law, makes it permissive that the State may draw from its allotment such sum as may be required to cover the pay, subsistence and transportation of troops participating in field maneuvers, it will be noted that unless the appropriation for the use of the militia is increased, the balance of allotment remaining after expenditure necessary for ordnance stores and quartermaster property, will be inadequate, and can only be applied to a small portion of the Organized Militia of this State.

It is earnestly hoped that action will be taken by Congress in the near future increasing this appropriation to such extent that the allotment to the State will be double its present figure.

25. "Stores. (a) Purchase of. (b) Amount of, in addition to those now on hand, required to enable the command to take the field for sixty days. (c) Medical supplies.

"Give under (a) information as to how and by whom military stores are purchased. Under (b) give a carefully prepared itemized list of all stores that would have to be furnished, in addition to those now on hand, to thoroughly equip the State troops for sixty days' field service, either in the service of the State or of the United States. This list should be very carefully prepared. Under (c) give full statement, showing the character of medical supplies furnished by the State and by whom they are purchased."

(a) Purchase and issue of all property is made by the Adjutant-General. It is required that all purchases in excess of five hundred dollars ($500.00) shall be publicly advertised. Confract is made with the lowest responsible bidder to furnish such property. All property shall be duly inspected by an inspector or an officer detailed for such purpose, and no payment shall be made until it shall appear by the certificate of such officer that such property is of the kind and quality specified in such agreement or contract.

The Adjutant-General is required to render annually to the Governor statement in detail showing the purchase and disposition of all clothing, ordnance, arms, ammunition and other military property.

(b) The Organized Militia of this State may be considered sufficiently uniformed, armed and equipped for any duty within the confines of this State, and will also be prepared to perform such service under United States authority. It would, however, be required of the United States Government to supply the necessary amount of transportation. The present number of escort wagons, while adequate to meet the demands of any service in the State, will not conform to the allotment required by the Field Service Regulations. The present number of escort wagons owned by the State is, approximately, fifty (50).

Should it become necessary to place the entire organization of the State in the field for the United States service, the supply trains, including animals, wagons and harness, would, to a great extent, have to be supplied by the Government. The United States Regulations, with reference to the issue of quartermaster and commissary chests and field hospital supplies, have not been to this day complied with, on account of lack of available funds. The four (4) regiments of infantry, which participated in the Manassas Maneuvers, received a complete outfit as far as concerns commissary and medical supplies. It is the desire of this office to supply such articles to the organizations as early as possible.

(c) Medical supplies are purchased by the Adjutant-General. The present supply of medical and surgical chests combined differs from the article of issue required by the United States Regulations. I desire to inform you that these chests have been replaced in some of the commands by new issue of a set of medical and surgical chests issued by the War Department.

The equipment of members of the Hospital Corps conforms in every respect with that required in the United States Regulations.

26. "Drills and ceremonies: (a) Number and nature of. (b) Proficiency in. (c) Field exercises.

"Give statement of drills and ceremonies held at home stations and in camp, the proficiency attained therein and state fully if field exercises are held, either at home stations or in camp; if so, give description. What company, troop, or battery, not excused by the Governor, has not performed the duties specified in §18 of the Militia Act of January 21, 1903, and to what extent has it failed to perform them?"

The Military Code of the State requires each organization to perform during the year not less than five compulsory drills and parades, including the annual inspection and muster, and not less than twelve additional drills, and authorizes commanding officers to require as many more drills and parades as they may appoint. The Act of Congress, approved January 21, 1903, requires of each company at least twenty-four drills in a calendar year.

In the year 1904 the organizations composing the National Guard had the following number of drills and ceremonies:

	Seventy-fourth Regiment	11 days

The drills and ceremonies, out-post, guard duty and field service were held in accordance with the prescribed drill regulations and satisfactorily performed.

The organizations which did not perform at least five days camp and field service in 1904 were duly excused by the Governor of the State from such duty.

27. "Personnel and discipline. Is the squad system carried out thoroughly? General fitness as to age and physical qualifications of troops as compared to that of the Regular Army? Would it be practicable in this State to adopt the entrance physical examination of the Regular Army? If not, in what respect should it be modified?"

The personnel, officers and enlisted men, is good and growing better from year to year. In the large majority of companies it is almost excellent. The discipline is good.

Efforts are made to carry out the squad system thoroughly; but it is found that the method prescribed to make details for guard and fatigue prevents a thorough carrying out of the system, inasmuch as it leads to too large a depletion of squads at times. It is suggested that the roster for details be made by squads, the members of a squad being arranged alphabetically, and the details required, distributed regularly and in order among the squads.

The physical qualifications required of men who desire to enter the National Guard of the State are practically the same that are required on entering the United States Army. In fact, the form prescribed by the State for the medical examination was used in this State in 1898 by the United States medical officers examining the men, offering for service at that time. The requirements are perhaps not as flexible as those prescribed for the Army. Form for medical examination of recruits is inclosed.*

28. "Theoretical instruction.

"Give general statement of all theoretical instruction on military subjects given to officers and non-commissioned officers. Suggest any special text-books needed for the National Guard."

Theoretical instruction is given to officers and non-commissioned officers as prescribed in Drill Regulations.

Lectures on various military subjects are given from time to time in a number of organizations.

The text-books furnished to officers of the Army should be furnished to officers of the National Guard, as well.

29. "Guard duty. How performed? Officers and non-commissioned well instructed? Sentinels well instructed? Any outpost duty?"

Instruction in guard duty is given in armories and in camps and performed as laid down in Drill Regulations and the Guard Manual. Officers and non-commissioned officers and sentinels are fairly well instructed. Outpost duty is performed in camps from time to time.

30. "Target practice. Cavalry, artillery, and infantry. Range and gallery? Any held at home station? Any held in camp? Quantity of and system of instruction and classification? Has each company been thoroughly exercised in position and aiming drills and gallery practice? What steps have been taken toward the adoption of the uniform system of target practice for militia published in Small Arms Firing Regulations for the United States Army, 1904? What is the allowance of ammunition per year? What is the general proficiency of the National Guard of the State in rifle practice? Describe available ranges, number of targets, distances."

The system of target practice of this State contemplates armory (gallery, practice and field practice. The system itself is the result of thirty (30) years experience and has the approval of the Assistant Secretary of War.

Medical officers, chaplains, field musicians and hospital corps men are, upon application, excused from practice. Instruction in position and aiming drill is given at the regular drills.

Every member of the National Guard is required to practice on the armory range at least once in each of the months of October, November, December, January, February and March. The length of the armory ranges is from fifty to seventy-five feet. In 1904 Troop C, Company G, Second Regiment, the Sixty-ninth and Seventy-first Regiments were without armory ranges. The allowance of ammunition for armory practice is not fixed but depends entirely on the means available for the purchase of ammunition; it is supplemented by the purchase of ammunition by the organizations paid for from funds derived by them from the State. Circular No. 1, Headquarters National Guard, 1905,* gives report of number of practices by the organizations, and the attendance.

Field practice takes place at ranges located as near to the home stations of the organizations as practicable, and each organization is required to turn out, annually, once for general field small arms practice, which consists of individual firing or practice, and of collective skirmish firing by company or platoon;—the latter (platoon), when the range facilities will not permit collective skirmish firing by company, nor individual practice of the whole company.

For the men absent at the general practice, days for supplementary practice are appointed from time to time, so as to afford every man a chance to practice and to qualify. Days are also especially appointed for practice as sharpshooters, experts and distinguished experts.

Officers and non-commissioned staff officers, the enlisted men of the signal companies and batteries, are provided with revolvers for practice. The qualification as marksman is with that arm; to qualify as sharpshooters, etc., they are allowed the use of the rifle.

The State authorizes the awarding of prizes to encourage marksmanship, as will be found in the following General Order No. 16, Headquarters National Guard, s. 1904.†

Total number qualifying this season	10,405
Total number qualifying in 1903	10,520

A slight falling off this year from last year, owing to the fact that this season the requirements to qualify, especially in the marksman's class, were in each class, higher than any season before.

THE STATE TEAM.

The team representing this State at the competition for the trophy authorized by Congress, won said trophy this year for the second time, and by a score of 4,322 points, the next highest score being 4,294.

The allowance of ammunition for field small arms practice on the part of the State is 100 rounds per man for the season, which in many organizations is supplemented by purchases.

The First, Second and Third Batteries have had practice at the Camp of Instruction during their tour of duty there in 1904; the First and Second Batteries with shot and shell, at 3,000 yards; the Third Battery with calibre .30 ammunition up to 1,000 yards.

The available ranges are, at Creedmoor, used by the troops stationed at New York City, Brooklyn, the separate companies at Yonkers, Mount Vernon, Flushing: namely, the First and Second Companies of Signal Corps, Twenty-second Regiment of Engineers, Squadrons A and C; First, Second and Third Batteries of Light Artillery; the Thirteenth Regiment of Heavy Artillery; the Seventh, Eighth, Ninth, Twelfth, Fourteenth, Twenty-third, Forty-seventh, Sixty-ninth and Seventy-first Regiments of Infantry; Companies G, H and I, Tenth Regiment (Fourth, Eleventh and Seventeenth Separate Companies), Infantry.

31. "Transportation.

"Give brief statement of means of transportation, by rail and water in State."

Experience has demonstrated the fact that it is possible within twenty-four hours to mobilize the organized militia at almost any point within the limits of the State. Movement of troops in the eastern portion can be made either by rail or by water, with centre either at New York or Albany. Reference to the map under paragraph 34, will demonstrate how readily brigades, regiments and companies may change stations in order to meet every emergency.

36. "Arsenals. Location and description."

This State has one arsenal, located in New York city, Thirty-fifth street and Seventh avenue. This building was erected about 1857.

Original estimated cost of land and building, $350,000.00.

Present valuation of land, $400,000.00.

Building to replace present and fill the required needs of the service would cost $150,000.00.

Building, three stories, used entirely as a depository for general military stores and supplies, in charge of Colonel Joseph G. Story, Assistant Adjutant-General.

Office of Adjutant-General is in this building.

The property received from the United States and all State property purchased from contractors is received and inspected at this location before issue to the troops.

All property in reserve, or not in the hands of organizations, is stored at the arsenal.

37. "Independent commands in the State."

The Veteran Corps of Artillery of the State of New York, constituting the Military Society of the War of 1812. Situated in New York city.

The Old Guard, situated in New York.

The Albany Burgesses Corps, situated in Albany.

38. "What books of those required in Army Regulations 271 are kept by troops, and properly or not?"

In each signal corps company, troop, battery and company, there is kept

1 Order book.
1 Journal and endorsement book.
1 Letter book.
1 Descriptive book.
1 Report book.
1 Roster.
1 Sick report book.
1 Property account book.
1 Report book of small arms practice.

These books are furnished by the Adjutant-General's office, but are not in strict conformity with those called for in Regulations 271, United States Army. A file of all orders issued from superior headquarters is kept.

Physical examination is conducted in accordance with the prescribed form under the Militia Act upon enlistment. No applicant is admitted who has not previously been vaccinated. The company records, with some possible exceptions, are carefully and completely kept.

39. "Are the organization, armament and discipline of the organized militia of the State the same as in the Regular Army? (§ 3, Militia Act of 1903). If not, in what respect do they differ?"

The armament and discipline of the organized militia of this State are the same as in the Regular Army.

Under the provisions of the Military Law, the Governor has authority, at any time he may deem fit, to change the character of organizations in order to conform to any system or change of United States service, or such conformation as will increase the efficiency of the troops.

When the organized militia is called into the service of the United States, regiments, battalions and squadrons can be readily organized as provided by law for the regular or volunteer army of the United States.

Digitized by Google

It must be borne in mind that the National Guard, or organized militia, is a volunteer force, and the service so rendered in time of peace must be interesting and not too exacting. With this consideration, in regimental and battalion organizations at the present time will be found certain officers and non-commissioned officers not allowed in the regulations of the regular service, but deemed at present absolutely necessary to meet the needs of the service. The continuation of such positions would not, in any way, interfere with the service of these organizations under § 4 of the Militia Act, and such organizations entering the United States service could report strictly in accordance with § 3 of the Militia Law.

The physical examination of applicants for enlistment in the National Guard is in accordance with Circular, War Department, Washington, February 8, 1904; such circular being practically a reprint of the procedure in force for this State during the past ten years.

40. "Recommendations.

"Such recommendations as you may deem necessary and proper."

The annual allowance from the general government is but one-sixth of the State appropriation, not taking into consideration the cost of armories and their maintenance.

The present allotment to this State is $77,796.03.

With the large force of organized militia contained in this State, such sum is found to be absolutely inadequate to meet even the needs of the service previous to the wider latitude given by the passage of the Militia Law. More than one-half of this allotment is required for the necessary ordnance stores, annually. Should this State supply the organizations with the allowance of ammunition provided for in the Firing Regulations of the United States service, the sum allotted would be exhausted and a deficit would have to be made up from the State appropriation.

It is, therefore, earnestly hoped that the next Congress will consider the importance and advisability of increasing the appropriation for the organized militia to such amount as will at least double the present allotment to this State.

41. "Remarks.

"Such remarks as you may deem it advisable to make on any subject not mentioned above."

The organized militia of this State is a well organized body; well officered, sufficiently uniformed, armed and equipped to take the field for service within the borders of this State, or enter the service of the United States for the period of sixty days.

To place the entire force upon such duty would require, as set forth in previous headings, almost the entire equipment for land transportation, including quartermaster wagons, horses and harness.

The re-organization of the medical officers into a medical department, and the establishment of brigade hospitals, ambulance companies and hospital corps would also be necessary.

Upon entering the United States service it would be necessary that all mounted organizations should be provided with mounts to be inspected and purchased by the United States Government.

The closer relation between the organized militia of this State and the military forces of the United States is highly appreciated and encouraged.

Report to the Chief of Staff, War Department, Washington, D. C., relative to Camp Sites.

This report was made November 2, 1905, in reply to the following letter:

An early reply, and return direct to this office, will be very much appreciated.

Very respectfully,

:.—In reply to your communication of the 7th ultimo, No. 545, I . the honor to submit the accompanying inclosure relative to the mp sites of this State. I have forwarded you by express this day ps* referred to in the report, and also topographical map of the country adjacent to State Camp. *Photograph of camp grounds will be forwarded you at a later date.

I would further inform you that the State also owns land to the extent of 198.74 acres, known as the Creedmoor rifle range; this ground is under better sanitary conditions than in 1898; a portion of the grounds having sewerage and an unlimited supply of water from the Jamaica water works.

It has been the practice during the past two years for the organizations of the Third Brigade to have their field service on a camp site at Cape Vincent in the northern portion of the State. This property is hired for such purpose; is admirably suited for mobilization and the capacity and character of the water supply is unlimited. Organizations of the Third Brigade have been mobilized in from eight to twelve hours; and under an emergency call could be mobilized within twenty hours.

The organizations of the Fourth Brigade have been directed to hold their tour of field service upon ground near Farnham, west of Buffalo, on the lake front. This ground is admirably suited for camp purposes and mobilization. Water supply is ample and sufficient.

Respectfully submitted,

NELSON H. HENRY,
Adjutant-General.

HEADQUARTERS THIRD BRIGADE, N. G., N. Y.,

ALBANY, October 28, 1905.

Adjutant-General, State New York. Albany, N. Y.

Sir.—I have the honor, in reply to your communication of October 12, requiring data with reference to camp site at Cape Vincent, etc., to submit the following information.

The farm known as the Maynard farm, on which was located the camp of Brigade Headquarters and the First Regiment from July 22 to 29, 1905, contains about 171½ acres; the valuation placed on it is $75 per acre.

The farm adjoining is known as the Mance farm and contains about 152 acres; the valuation placed upon it is $65 per acre.

The Maynard farm could, with a little labor in some parts, be used almost entirely for camping, and, as my recollection of the adjoining farm is only from observing it at a distance, I should say that I think it could also be made suitable for camping purposes.

As we used only a part of the Maynard farm (the portion which had been under cultivation, the crop having been gathered), and in view of the fact that the contract for forage, wood, ice and such other supplies as he could furnish were given to Mr. Maynard, no charge was made for the use of the grounds.

Mr. Mance says his income from his farm being about $1200 per year, he thinks he should receive that amount rental, but I think it could be secured for less. The same would apply to Mr. Maynard in case his entire farm was wanted and he could not plant and gather any crops; also in case his house and buildings were desired for use and he be obliged to vacate the premises.

The capacity and character of the water supply is unlimited and of the best, as the land lies between Lake Ontario and the St. Lawrence river.

Most of the brigade could be mobilized in from eight to twelve hours at this place and the entire brigade in from sixteen to twenty hours on an emergency call.

Respectfully,

JAMES H. LLOYD,
Brigadier-General.

HEADQUARTERS FOURTH BRIGADE, N. G., N. Y.,
BUFFALO GERMAN INSURANCE CO. BUILDING, 451 MAIN STREET,
BUFFALO, N. Y., November 2, 1905.

Adjutant-General, State New York, Albany, N. Y.

Sir.—I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your communication of October 12th, and to enclose herewith the report of the Engineer of the Fourth Brigade, giving the information requested by yours in reference to the camp site at Farnham, N. Y.

In case of the necessity for a hurried concentration of my entire brigade upon this site it could be accomplished in ten hours, and this could be reduced to eight hours if transportation was promptly furnished by the railroads.

I would further state that 75 per cent. of this brigade could be delivered at Farnham station in about four hours.

I have the honor to further state that although the present road from Farnham station to this camp site is nearly three miles in length, the construction of a straight road would reduce this distance to about one mile.

Respectfully,

LAUREN W. PETTEBONE,
Brigadier-General.

BUFFALO, N. Y., October 28, 1905.

Brigadier-General Lauren W. Pettebone,
Commanding Fourth Brigade, N. G., N. Y.,
Buffalo, N. Y.

Sir.—I have the honor to report, pursuant to your directions, certain information requested of you by the Adjutant-General, State New York, by letter dated the 12th instant, as follows:

The land at Farnham, N. Y., occupied by the Fourth Brigade during its recent tour of field service, comprises approximately 115 acres. Of said land about 15 acres are covered by woods, and the remaining approximately 95 acres were used for camp and drilling, and proved most excellent for such purposes. Said land has a frontage of about 1700 feet on the shores of Lake Erie, and is well drained thereinto as it is situated about 20 feet above the lake level.

Further lands suitable for camping, adjoin the above-mentioned camp site on the north to the extent of about 170 acres and on the south to approximately 135 acres; all such lands being bounded on the east by the highway and on the west by Lake Erie; and having an aggregate frontage on said lake of a trifle more than 1½ miles, the aforesaid camp site being included. More than 1000 acres lying, easterly of said highway would also be suitable for camp purposes in conjunction with the above-mentioned lands.

The lands bordering on the lake are held at $200 to $250 per acre, and the lands on the east of the highway are priced at $100 to $150 per acre.

The rental of the land for the recent tour was $100.

Water was supplied by means of a portable steamboiler and two steam pumps that were located on the beach, with suction pipe extending about 100 feet into the lake, and with discharge pipe laid through the camp with a tap placed at the kitchen of each company, of battalion headquarters, regimental headquarters and brigade headquarters, and at the hospital and horse corral. But one pump was used, the other being in reserve. The supply of water was practically unlimited, and analysis made by Major Bissel, bacteriologist of the city of Buffalo, showed that danger of typhoid originating from same was very remote.

Respectfully submitted.

Major, Engineer, Fourth Brigade, N. G., N. Y.

COMPANY K, SEVENTH REGIMENT, N. G., N. Y.

NEW YORK, July 27, 1905.

Adjutant-General, State of New York, Albany, N. Y.,

Sir.—I have the honor to report that the team of this regiment, authorized by special orders No. 71, A. G. O., S. N. Y., to compete with the team of the Queen's Westminster Volunteers (13th Middlesex) at Bisley, England, on July 6 and 7, duly arrived at Plymouth, England, on June 24, where they were met by the personal representative of Major-General Sir James Leech, commanding that district, who was instructed to give them any assistance necessary.

The team proceeded to London, where they had the honor of being presented to the King. They received many courtesies from the Queen's Westminster Volunteers and others, both military and civil. The first stage of the competition, 500 and 600 yards, was shot at Bisley July 6; the second stage, 800 and 1000 yards, on July 7, the total scores being: Queen's Westminster Volunteers, 1490; Seventh Regiment, N. G., N. Y., 1480, out of possibly 1800. Lord Cheylsmore, president of National Rifle Association of Great Britain, acted as referee. General Sir Alfred Turner acted as umpire for the Queen's Westminster Volunteers. Major Twisaday of the Queen's Westminster Volunteers acted as umpire for the Seventh Regiment.

Of the men authorized to go abroad all returned on the steamship ltic, sailing from Liverpool July 12, with the exception of Captain lls and Private F. C. Noble, who will return later.

s an indication of the good feeling prevailing, I will state that American flag was flying on the hall of the Queen's Westminster olunteers during all our stay in England. It was also flown at eir club house at Bisley during the match.

Report of Captain George C. Burnell, Signal Corps, United States Army, on His Tour of Duty with the First and Second Signal Companies, N. G., N. Y., at the Camp of Instruction, Peekskill, N. Y.

WAR DEPARTMENT,
THE MILITARY SECRETARY'S OFFICE,
WASHINGTON, October 12, 1905.

The Adjutant-General, State of New York, Albany:

Sir.—By direction of the Assistant Secretary of War, I have the honor to hand you herewith a copy of the report rendered by Captain George C. Burnell, Signal Corps, of his tour of duty with the First and Second Signal Companies, organized militia of New York, during the encampment held near Peekskill, New York, from June 1st to June 9th, inclusive.

WAR DEPARTMENT,
SIGNAL CORPS, U. S. ARMY, FORT WOOD, N. Y. HARBOR, N. Y., OFFICE OF THE POST COMMANDER,
June 15, 1905.

The Military Secretary, Headquarters Atlantic Division, Governor's Island, New York City:

Sir—In accordance with Sec. 19 (an act to promote the efficiency of the militia, G. O. No. 7, A. G. O., January 24, 1903), I have the honor to submit report as follows:

In compliance with S. O. No. 57, Headquarters Atlantic Division, dated May 15, 1905, I proceeded to the camp of instruction of the organized militia of the State of New York, near Peekskill, N. Y., on June 2, 1905, for the purpose of giving instruction to the 1st and 2nd signal companies of the State of New York.

M. S. E. Frank E. Peters and Sergeant Charles R. Forbes, Signal Corps, U. S. A., also reported to camp the same day.

On June 3rd the 1st signal company (Captain Oscar Erlandsen) and the 2nd signal company (Captain Elliot Biglow, Jr.) of the National Guard of New York arrived and went into camp near Peekskill, N. Y., where they remained until June 10, 1905.

Total strength of 1st company, present and absent. 80; present in camp, 4 officers and 40 enlisted men; absent, 2 officers and 34 enlisted men; average percentage present, 55 per cent.

Total strength of the 2nd company, present and absent, 78; present in camp, 3 officers and 56 enlisted men; absent, 1 officer and 18 enlisted men; average percentage present, 75 3-10 per cent.

For the purpose of instruction, the two companies were organized as a provisional battalion under the command of Maj. Fred T. Leigh, signal officer, on the staff of Maj. Gen'l Charles F. Roe, commanding the National Guard of New York.

The battalion observed regular service calls.

Instruction was had as follows in guard duty from June 3 to 10. There was one post established in the company streets, and 1 noncommissioned officer and 4 privates were detailed for guard duty; 1 officer for officer of the day, and 1 for acting adjutant.

Commencing on the 5th and concluding the 9th, there was company drill (cavalry drill regulations, dismounted), covering the school of the soldier and company, including platoon drill, from 6.30 to 7.30 a. m.

In signal corps work. instruction was given in line construction, the installation of instruments, running out of field lines, practice with the field buzzer, the care and use of field glasses and telescopes, setting up heliographs, instruction in knots and lashing, and in field and road sketching, from 9.00 to 11.30 a.m. For this purpose the available men were divided into seven parties, each under a competent officer or noncommissioned officer.

In visual signaling, two stations were established and maintained from 10.00 a. m. to 10.00 p. m., daily, from the 5th to the 9th, inclusive, using flags, heliographs and acetylene lamps, at first at short range, which was finally increased to a distance of about 6 miles.

In addition to the above, there was a lecture delivered on wireless telegraphy by M. S. E. Frank E. Peters, Signal Corps, U. S. A., and the 1st company constructed a signal tower, for which they deserve a great deal of credit,

Each day all the officers and men not on duty necessitating their absence from drills and instruction were required to attend, and were so detailed that every man received instruction some time during the week in the various subjects already mentioned.

Both companies were armed with revolvers, provided with service uniform, field equipment and bed sacks, all of which were in excellent condition. They had a sufficient supply of good tentage for the number of men in camp; also cooking utensils, field ranges and the necessary Signal Corps equipment.

The manner in which the tents were pitched and ditched indicated that the two companies had been carefully instructed in establishing camp.

The company streets were well policed and the camp generally in good condition. The discipline was good, and the entire command manifested a great deal of interest in their work.

A large percentage of the command has attained a high degree of proficiency, particularly in visual signaling.

Very respectfully,

G. C. BURNELL,
Captain, Signal Corps.

Report of Captain Percy P. Bishop, Artillery Corps, United States Army, on His Tour of Duty with the Thirteenth Regiment, Heavy Artillery, N. G., N. Y., at Fort Terry, Plum Island, N. Y.

WAR DEPARTMENT,
THE MILITARY SECRETARY'S OFFICE,
WASHINGTON, October 11, 1905.

The Adjutant-General, State of New York, Albany:

Sir—By direction of the acting Secretary of War, I have the honor to hand you herewith a copy of the report rendered by Captain Percy P. Bishop, Artillery Corps, of his tour of duty with the Thirteenth Regiment Heavy Artillery, Organized Militia of New York, during the encampment held at Fort Terry, Plum Island, New York, from August 5th to 12th inclusive.

Very respectfully,
W. P. HALL,
Military Secretary.

FORT MONROE, VIRGINIA, August 18, 1905.

The Honorable, The Secretary of War, Washington, D. C.:

Sir—Under the provisions of section 19, G. O. No. 7, A. G. O., January 24, 1903, I have the honor to submit the following report.

1. I was detailed by S. O. No. 36, W. D., February 13th, 1905, to attend the encampment of the 13th Regiment, H. A., N. G., N. Y., during August, 1905. The Regiment arrived at Plum Island, Fort Terry, where I had previously arrived on August 5th.

They began their regular artillery work on Monday the 7th, according to a schedule which I had prepared for their artillery instruction and practice.

On the 5th and 6th, however, for such time as could be allotted to it the officers of the regiment were instructed in their duties in the range finding stations, etc., preliminary to their regular artillery work. The program mapped out for them for their six days work was intended to be progressive—the first three days being given up entirely to instruction and drill and the last three days to firing sub-caliber and service ammunition.

2. Monday the 7th was given to instruction in and nomenclature of guns and carriages and position finding equipment and drill by detachments. The regiment was assisted by the regular troops and regular officers.

Tuesday the 8th. Drill by detachments and by battery, with assistance of regulars.

Wednesday the 9th. Battery drill and fire command drill.

On account of the considerable amount of ammunition to be fired in practice it was necessary to devote the last three days to the actual firing.

Thursday the 10th. Battery drill at the mortar battery and sub-caliber practice for 4.7", 6", and 10" batteries. On this day the following sub-caliber ammunition was fired:

40 rounds from 10" battery.
100 rounds from 6" battery.
100 rounds from 4.7" battery.

Friday the 11th. Service practice with 4.7", 6" and 10" batteries. The following rounds of service ammunition were fired:

10 rounds from 4.7" battery.
20 rounds from 6" battery.
20 rounds from 10" battery.

Saturday the 12th. These rounds of service ammunition were fired:

18 rounds from 12" B.L. Mortar, 7th Zone.
18 rounds from 12" B.L. Mortar, 9th Zone.

3. The regiment was of sufficient strength to man the fortifications with two reliefs, and the work of instruction and artillery practice was equally divided between the reliefs.

The officers and men generally seemed to be considerably interested in the work, and it is considered that they were undoubtedly benefited by their six days practical artillery work.

It was necessary to have all of the firing at fixed targets. A great many of the men of the regiment had never before had actual practice at a sea coast fortification, and though some had received instruction and had participated in firing heavy guns with service charges it had been two years since they had received such instructions. It was, therefore, practically impossible to have all the instruction necessary, preliminary to actual firing. Six days is too short a time to get the best results out of the great amount of work that they did and which they were practically required to rush through in order to finish in the allotted time.

Digitized by Google

4. The work of the gun crews was not as prompt and satisfactory in all cases as it might have been, but this is accounted for by the fact that the men were not hardened by drill and practice in handling service ammunition in actual firing.

Their work, however, was careful and accurate. The results of the practice show this. The ranges varied from about 2,700 yards with rapid fire guns to 9,600 yards with mortars. The six inch battery scored 100 per cent, and the mortar firing was very good, the mortars obtaining in the vicinity of 28 per cent.

5. I consider the work of the regiment on the whole, most satisfactory. They deserve credit for the earnestness shown and the care with which they conducted their artillery practice.

There is in the regiment considerable talent in the nature of civil engineers, electricians, draughtsmen, and others whose business in civil life makes them nimble with the brain and hand in technical work, and who are, therefore, valuable in the work required of artillerymen. In making range scales, etc., as it was necessary to do in some cases, this ability was shown in some cases to an unusual degree.

6. I consider the regiment a valuable organization to the government, and I most earnestly recommend that:

1. They be supplied with plotting boards, range finders, ballistic boards, and other artillery material of the latest approved pattern for sea coast artillery for use in instruction and actual manipulation in the armory, so that they will be prepared to take up work at a sea coast fortification to the best advantage.

2. That they be given opportunity for more frequent use of coast artillery fortifications. As sea coast artillery is in a state of development, two years is too long an interval to make the periods of their actual artillery work. Moreover, six days is too short a period to enable them to carry out successfully a program of preliminary instruction and to fire in the neighborhood of $8,000 worth of ammunition.

The regiment is no small per cent. of the total artillery strength of the country, and every reasonable opportunity should be given them to keep up to date on coast artillery work.

3. They should be supplied with the latest artillery information and literature in the way of drill regulations, etc.

7. For the opportunities the regiment has for manipulating coast artillery material under service conditions, I consider them in a most satisfactory state of efficiency.

P. P. BISHOP,
Captain, Artillery Corps.

APPENDIX "I"

Report of Major Oliver B. Bridgman, Squadron "A," N. G., N. Y., on the Service of His Command at the Inauguration of President Roosevelt, March 4, 1905.

HEADQUARTERS SQUADRON A, NATIONAL GUARD, N. Y.,
MADISON AVE. AND 94TH ST.,
NEW YORK, March 10, 1905.

Adjutant-General, State of New York, Albany, N. Y.:

Sir—In accordance with the request to President Roosevelt, which was approved by General Headquarters, and accepted by the President, Squadron "A" acted as his personal escort on the occasion of the inauguration ceremonies at Washington, D. C., Saturday, March 4, 1905.

Breakfast was arranged for at the armory on Friday morning, March 3rd, at 6.30. Boots and saddles was sounded at 7 o'clock; assembly, 7.30; Adjutant's call, 7.45. The Squadron, including the band of 18 pieces, consisted of 194 horses and men. Each man was allowed a suit case for his full dress uniform and the tin box for his busby. These were sent down on the wagons under charge of the Quartermaster's detail and a guard, loaded on the baggage car, just ahead of the arrival of the Squadron, which left its armory at 8 o'clock, and preceded by the mounted band, marched down Fifth Avenue to 25th Street, then west to the 24th Street ferry house of the Pennsylvania Railroad, where boats were taken to Jersey City, where trains were waiting. Upon arrival in Jersey City, two trains were made up, as follows: Train No. 1 consisted of one baggage car, 5 Arms Palace Horse Cars and two passenger coaches. All the baggage of the Squadron and the horse equipments, packed in the new kit bags, as soon as removed from the horses, were put in the baggage car of this section. The portion of the Squadron assigned to this section was as follows: The commanding officer and staff, the non-commissioned staff, Troop I and half of the band. Train No. 2 was made up of five Arms Palace Horse Cars and three passenger coaches; and the balance of the Squadron, consisting of Troops 2 and 3, the Hospital Corps and half of the band, were assigned to this section.

The first section left Jersey City at 11.50 and the second section about 12.45. The delay in leaving the Pennsylvania station was occasioned by the inadequate facilities for loading horses. The first section arrived in Washington about 9 o'clock that evening, but owing to the congestion of the freight yards horses were not unloaded and saddled ready to leave the station before 11.30 p. m. The second section arrived before the first section had been unloaded, and they left the station about one hour later. The Squadron marched in two sections from the freight yards of the Pennsylvania Road to the stables engaged for the use of the Squadron horses during the stay in Washington, corner D and 14th streets, about three miles from the station. After all the horses were unsaddled and equipments put away and stable inspected, the men were marched to the quarters in the Marcus Notes Furniture Building, corner D and 9th streets, N. W., where three floors had been engaged, arriving there about 2 a. m., Saturday, March 4th. Horses and men were all in good condition. Reveille was sounded at 6 a. m., March 4th, after which the men were permitted to leave the quarters for breakfast; Assembly was sounded at 7.30 at the quarters, when the Squadron was marched to the stables; boots and saddles was sounded at 8 o'clock; assembly at 8.30; Adjutant's call, 8.45.

Owing to our late arrival in Washington, no positive orders had been received from the Grand Marshal's office by the commanding officer as to what time he was expected to report at the White House, but the day before leaving New York he telegraphed Captain Ramsey of the Grand Marshal's staff, asking for any information as to the hour he would be expected to report with his command. Captain Ramsey replied promptly, stating that the Squadron would be expected to report on Pennsylvania Avenue, left resting on 15th street, at 9 o'clock a. m. Previous to the assembly being sounded on March 4th, I endeavored to get the official information by telephone, and finally drove to the War Department, where I received a copy of the order at twenty minutes before 9; drove immediately back to the stables where the Squadron was in waiting mounted; immediately took up the march to the White House, arriving thereat exactly 9 a. m. We remained there until the President entered his carriage, ready for the drive to the Capitol, when the Squadron formed "platoon front" and, preceded by the band, marched at the head of the President's carriage down Pennsylvania Avenue to the Capitol, where it remained until after the ceremonies incident to the inauguration had taken place, when it again formed in the same position and took up the line of march back to the White House. As per instructions from the Grand Marshal, upon reaching the corner of Pennsylvania Avenue and 15th Street, the Squadron was broken into column of fours and took up a brisk trot, turned into the White House grounds, where it remained in rear of the reviewing stand until after the procession had passed, which was not until 6.30 that afternoon, after which it was immediately marched back to the stables, horses unsaddled and the men formed and marched to their quarters, arriving there about 7.20 p. m., when they were excused until the following morning when reveille was sounded at 6.30 a. m. (March 5). After breakfast and packing the equipments, etc., wagons were loaded with the baggage of the Squadron, men then marched to the stables, and the Squadron formed, mounted and marched down Pennsylvania Avenue to the special train in waiting. Horses were loaded and trains made up in the same manner as on the trip to Washington from New York. The two sections left within a half hour of each other, the first section leaving at one o'clock p. m., and the second section at 1.30. The first section arrived in Jersey City at 9.15 p. m. and the second section at 10.15. The horses were unloaded, but the inadequate facilities, and the yard not being lighted, made the work slower than it would have been under ordinary circumstances. Each section, upon its arrival, marched direct to the armory, east through 24th Street and up 5th Avenue, the first section arriving at about 12.45 Monday morning, March 6th, and the second section about one hour later.

All the horses and men were in excellent condition, and considering that this is about the largest number of horses and men taken out under one command for any such distance, and the hours the men were obliged to keep, and the work done in these two days, it was a severe test on the endurance of both horses and men.

Attached hereto, please find a copy of letter from the Chief of Staff, Inaugural Parade.

Respectfully,

OLIVER B. BRIDGMAN,

Major.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 9, 1905.

Major OLIVER B. BRIDGMAN, Commanding Squadron "A," N. G., N. Y., Madison Avenue and 94th Street, New York City.

My Dear Major—On behalf of the Grand Marshal and myself, allow me to congratulate you, your staff, and Squadron "A" upon their splendidly smart appearance as a part of the personal escort to President Roosevelt upon the occasion of his inauguration, March 4, 1905. You met all the requirements of the situation in the most efficient and admirable manner notwithstanding your belated arrival the night before and our inability to impart final instructions to you until you had arrived at your position in front of the White House at 9.30 a. m., March 4th, which speaks well for the quick, intelligent grasp, on the part of all concerned, of the duties you were called upon to perform.

Very sincerely yours,

APPENDIX "J"

Report of Brigadier-General James McLeer, 2nd Brigade, on the Honors Paid to the Remains of Hiram Cronk, the Last of the Soldiers of the War of 1812.

HEADQUARTERS SECOND BRIGADE, N. G., N. Y.,
MUNICIPAL BUILDING,
BOROUGH OF BROOKLYN, N. Y., June 12, 1905.

Assistant Adjutant-General, N. G., N. Y., Capitol P. O., Albany, N. Y.

Sir—In a letter written by General Henry, Adjutant-General S. N. Y., dated December 7, 1904, a copy of which was sent to me through your Headquarters, attention is called to the fact that one Hiram Cronk, living at Ava, Oneida Co., in this State, 104 years old, is the last surviving soldier of the War of 1812, and because of his extreme old age, he may be taken away at any moment, and that it is the request of the Governor that when death comes to this old soldier "a suitable escort" be provided from the National Guard.

In your letter of December 8, 1904, I am directed to detail "a proper escort" upon hearing of the death of Cronk.

As the War Department had authorized one company of infantry to form part of the escort, and my direction was to provide a "suitable escort" it occurred to me that it was not your purpose to limit the detail to the regulation escort for a private soldier, but rather to recognize the fact that Cronk was the last survivor of the soldiers of the War of 1812, and that in paying honors to his remains it was in a measure a tribute to all the soldiers who served in the second war between this country and England. This was evidently the intention of the War Department in the detail of a full company of regular infantry.

With this same thought in view the Board of Aldermen and the Mayor of the City of New York provided that the body should lie in state in the City Hall for twenty-four hours, and that the building be draped in mourning and the flag placed at half staff. Cronk died on Saturday, May 13th, a few days after celebrating his one hundred and fifth birthday. The body was brought to this city on the morning of the 17th, and the burial was in Cypress Hills Cemetery in a plot where sleep some sixty or more of his comrades of the War of 1812.

Therefore, with what seemed to me to be a proper appreciation of the occasion, I caused a detail to be made to consist of the 14th Regiment Infantry, and a Troop of Cavalry. This escort under command of Colonel Kline, formed in front of the City Hall on the morning of the 18th, at 10 o'clock, received the body with due ceremony, and marched to the cemetery, a distance of eight or nine miles. Transportation by cars was provided for the Infantry from the cemetery to their armory.

Respectfully,

JAMES McLEER,

Brigadier-General.

Report of Captain J. W. Miller, Commanding the Naval Militia.

HEADQUARTERS NAVAL MILITIA, N. Y.
U. S. S. GRANITE STATE, FOOT EAST 24TH STREET,
NEW YORK, December 20, 1905.

The Adjutant-General, General Headquarters, Albany, N. Y.:

Sir—I have the honor to submit herewith my report upon the operations and condition of the Naval Militia, N. Y., for the year ending September 30, 1905.

It is satisfactory to note that the organization has become stronger than at any time since the war with Spain, numbering now 651 officers and men.

SERVICE DURING THE YEAR.

There was not any tour of duty during the year, but a plan of weekly cruises by the various divisions of the battalions was carried out. The reports of the commanders of the First and Second Battalions, and the commanding officer of the Second Separate Division, give the extent of these cruises.

The reports from the First and Second Battalions show that the Aileen, which had been used for the purpose, had made, for the Second Battalion, 21 cruises, and steamed 5,265 miles, in which 634 officers and men took part. The Aileen also made one trip for the First Battalion, taking out 14 officers and men, and visited Edgartown, Mattapoisett, Newport, and Providence, the U. S. Torpedo Station, and Training Stations at Newport. The cruises of the Divisions of the Second Battalion extended from Edgartown to Baltimore, and much benefit has been derived from the work, both by officers and men. It will also be noted that considerable launch and boat work alongshore have been done by the New York and Brooklyn Battalions, and by the Second Separate Division in Rochester.

I beg to call attention to the request of the commander of the First Battalion for a suitable cruising vessel to be obtained from the Navy Department. This Battalion now numbers 352 officers and men, the highest figure since September, 1899, and is presumably one of the largest of its kind in the country, and yet it has not been able to obtain from the Navy Department a vessel for necessary practice and general use. My annual reports for several years past have all called attention to the absolute need of a vessel to be permanently assigned to this organization for use by the First Battalion, and I again, in this report, beg to urge upon you the necessity for renewing the request on the Navy Department for a vessel for the First Battalion.

Digitized by Google

SMALL ARMS PRACTICE.

The customary small arms practice has been held, and the report thereof is attached hereto.

The prizes for general figure of merit have been won by the First Division, 2nd Battalion, first prize, score 65.25; Second Division, 1st Battalion, second prize, score 56.99; Third Division, 2nd Battalion, third prize, score 56.87.

I also attach a comparative statement of the figure of merit scores for the Naval Militia for the past four years, showing a marked improvement in the averages, particularly by the Second Battalion.

The total number of qualifications in the Naval Militia for 1905 was:

Headquarters	2
First Battalion	289
Second Battalion	198
Second Separate Division	70
Total	559

Of this number there were subsequently qualified 174 sharpshooters, 76 experts, and 36 distinguished experts, as follows:

	Sharpshooters.	Experts.	Distinguished experts.
1st Battalion	88	57	22
2nd Battalion	50	17	13
2nd Separate Division	36	2	1
	174	76	36

DIVISION AT BUFFALO.

I desire to again bring to your attention the frequent applications made for the establishment of a division of the Naval Militia at Buffalo. As I have said before, the record of the Division at Rochester proves the ability of such organizations to make a good showing should necessity arise.

PRESIDENTIAL INAUGURATION.

A provisional division, composed of detachments from the First and Second Battalions, N. M., N. Y., took part in the inauguration of President Roosevelt, at Washington, March 4, 1905.

In conclusion, I would call attention to the request contained in the report of the commanding officer, Second Separate Division, for a vessel from the Navy Department for service on Lake Ontario; and I would recommend that requisition be made on the Department for any small converted vessel which may at any time be available for the purpose.

Respectfully,

J. W. MILLER,

Captain, Commanding Naval Militia.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE COMMANDING OFFICERS, FIRST BATTALION, N. M., N.Y.

HEADQUARTERS FIRST BATTALION, N. M., N. Y.,
U. S. S. GRANITE STATE,
FOOT OF EAST 24TH STREET,
NEW YORK, November 23, 1905.

Commanding Officer, Naval Militia, New York:

Sir—I have the honor to report as follows on the work of this command for the year ended September 30, 1905.

During the regular drill season on board the U. S. S. Granite State, the officers and enlisted men of the battalion were instructed as far as possible, with our limited facilities, in the theory and practice of navigation, ordnance and gunnery, seamanship—including knotting and splicing, etc., oar and sail drills, infantry, signalling, sword exercise, and armory small arms practice with both rifle and revolver.

The battalion was reviewed and inspected by Brigadier-General Nelson H. Henry, Adjutant-General S. N. Y., on March 28, 1905.

During the month of May the various divisions were exercised weekly in cutters afloat.

On May 30, 1905, the battalion took part in the annual Memorial Day parade.

Digitized by Google

On June 2, 1905, the battalion was mustered and inspected by the commanding officer, Naval Militia, New York.

On June 3, 1905, the battalion proceeded to the State range at Creedmoor for the annual small arms practice.

The final results for the entire shooting season have been most gratifying, the battalion qualified 289 marksmen, 88 sharpshooters, 57 experts and 22 distinguished experts, which is the best record in the history of the battalion.

During the summer months crews from all of the divisions were constantly manning the launches and cutters of the battalion, and cruised about the adjacent waters with much practical benefit to the men.

Through the courtesy of Commander R. P. Forshew, commanding the Second Battalion, N. M., N. Y. the First Division of this battalion had the use of the U. S. S. Aileen in which vessel they made a volunteer cruise from September 23 to October 1, 1905, for details of which see attached report of Lieutenant Russell Raynor.

In conclusion I beg to urge that no efforts be spared to obtain from the Navy Department a suitable cruising vessel for this command.

Respectfully,

W. B. FRANKLIN,

Commander.

U. S. S. GRANITE STATE,

FIRST DIVISION, FIRST BATTALION, N. M.,

NEW YORK, October 30, 1905.

Commanding Officer, First Battalion, Naval Militia, N. Y.:

Sir—I have the honor to submit the following report of a tour of duty performed by the First Division, First Battalion, Naval Militia, N. Y.

The detachment under my command left New York on board the U. S. S. Aileen on September 23, returning to our station on the morning of October 1. We visited the following ports: Edgartown, Mattapoissett, New Bedford, Newport and Providence.

While in Newport an opportunity was given the members of the command to visit the U. S. Torpedo Station, and the U. S. Training Station, where they obtained a large amount of valuable knowledge.

During the cruise instruction was given in deck-work, boat-work, gunnery, rudimentary navigation, conning the ship, and other similar things that a naval militiaman should know.

Digitized by Google

I enclose herewith a copy of the log* of the Aileen for this tour of duty, showing more in detail the work performed.

The men acquired a large amount of very useful information, and I am of the opinion that if it were possbile for this and all the other divisions of the Battalion to make a similar cruise every year that the general knowledge of the enlisted strength of the Battalion would be increased to an extent that could not be obtained by devoting the same amount of time in any other way.

Respectfully submitted,

RUSSELL RAYNOR,
Lieutenant Commanding.

BROOKLYN, November 29, 1905.

Captain J. W. MILLER, Commanding Naval Militia, New York, U. S. S. Granite State, Foot East 24th St., New York City:

Sir—I have the honor to make the following report on the work performed by the Second Battalion, N. M., N. Y., during the past year.

Through the courtesy of Colonel A. L. Kline of the 14th Regiment, N. G., N. Y., divisional and battalion drills were held in that Armory from the beginning of January until about May 1. Indoor rifle practice was held at the 14th and 47th Regiment Armories, and from the record made at Creedmoor during the season it will be seen that much benefit was derived from this practice. Thanks are due the commanding officers of these two organizations for their kindness in allowing us the use of their Armories.

The battalion qualified the following at Creedmoor during the season just closed: 198 marksmen, 50 sharpshooters, 17 experts and 13 distinguished experts.

In the Figure of Merit contest the First Division of this Battalion won the first prize with a percentage of 65.25, and the Third Division won the third prize with a percentage of 56.27. In this connection permit me to call attention to the excellent shooting of the First Division, which I understand is the third highest Figure of Merit percentage in the State for the season, and is the highest Figure of Merit percentage ever attained by a naval militia organization in this State.

The battalion won the Naval Militia match at Creedmoor with a score of 1,424, and the Secondary Battery match on board the U. S. S. Aileen with a score of 15 hits out of 30 shots. The Fourth Division won the Inter-Divisional Secondary Battery match with a score of 11 hits out of 15 shots.

A detachment from this battalion in conjunction with a detachment from the First Battalion, under command of Lieutenant Commander William G. Ford, took part in the inauguration of President Roosevelt at Washington on March 4.

There being no State cruise this year, the plan of weekly cruises on the Aileen by the different divisions was carried out. The First, Second, Third and Fourth Signal Divisions, under command of their own officers each made a cruise of a week. The scope of these cruises was from Edgartown to Baltimore, and from the reports of the division commanders, I consider that much benefit was derived from this work, both to the officers and men. In this connection I have recommended that a vessel of larger tonnage than the U. S. S. Aileen, say a vessel of the Castine type, be assigned to this battalion. I enclose a report from the Commanding Officer of the Second Division in connection with the cruise of that division.

Including these cruises and the Saturday and Sunday cruises, the Aileen made 21 cruises and steamed 5,265 miles, in which 634 officers and men took part.

On account of the increased work on the Aileen, there was not as much small boat work performed as usual, but during the season there were 53 cruises, distance sailed and rowed 650 miles, in which 555 officers and men took part.

The battalion furnished part of the Guard of Honor, all in command of Lieutenant Kingsley L. Martin, in connection with the trip of Rear Admiral Prince Louis of Battenburg to West Point, on November 11.

The armory building for this battalion is progressing very slowly and the battalion will, for the ninth consecutive season, be without a drill place other than it can borrow through the kindness of some National Guard organization.

Respectfully,

R. P. FORSHEW,

Commander, Second Battalion, N. M., N. Y.

SECOND DIVISION, SECOND BATTALION, N. M., N. Y.

BROOKLYN, July 31, 1905.

Captain R. P. FORSHEW, Second Battalion, N. M., N. Y., 255 Sixth Avenue, Brooklyn:

Sir—I have the honor to submit the following report, relative to the cruise of the Second Division, on the U. S. S. Aileen, during the week beginning July 15, 1905.

The Aileen left the dock, foot of 56th street, Brooklyn, at 5.30 on the afternoon of Saturday, the 15th instant. There were also Boatswains Mate Johnson, and two of the deck force of the Aileen, Chief Machinist Winquist, and three others of the engine and fire room force, one cook and one messman.

A watch, station and quarter bill was prepared in advance by Mr. Brexendorff. We anchored for the night at Huntington Harbor, L. I., and spent Sunday morning cleaning ship. All hammocks and bedding were opened and aired. In the afternoon, boats were sent away with a liberty party.

On Monday morning several hours were spent under way, one watch being given instruction at the wheel, while the other was instructed in the use of the lead line. This was followed by boat drill, and practice in landing at a pier in the harbor. To give the men instruction in the use of heaving lines and the hauling of bow stern and spring lines under strain, the Aileen was brought alongside the dock four times from different directions. While tied up to the dock the last time swimming liberty on the beach was granted, and instruction given to beginners.

We then got under way for Greenport, L. I., and anchored there about sunset, in company with several other naval vessels, principally torpedo boat destroyers.

Tuesday morning we ran up Peconic Bay, and continued drills in getting up anchor and bringing ship to anchor, and the use of wheel and lead. This was followed at noon by swimming liberty on the beach and return to Greenport for supplies. At about 3 o'clock in the afternoon we got up anchor and ran to Newport, by way of Block Island, running into and out of the Great Salt Pond, on the north side of the island, to familiarize ourselves with the channel and landmarks.

We arrived at Newport, and anchored to the eastward of Goat Island about 10 o'clock.

Wednesday was given to shore liberty, and on Thursday morning about 6 o'clock we got up anchor and cruised up Narragansett Bay, on the easterly side, rounded Prudence Island, and passed out through the westerly passage to the Brenton Reef Light ship, thence to Hen and Chickens Light ship, and thence to Buzzard's Bay to Clark's Point, where our camp was held last year, and without anchoring, ran out again through Quick Hole into Nantucket Sound, and, before anchoring in Vineyard Haven, spent an hour or more in taking a complete set of Azimuth Sights and also several time sights.

On anchoring off the coal dock at Vineyard Haven, made arrangements for coal and water for the following day.

Friday morning the Aileen was brought alongside of the coal dock and twenty tons of coal taken aboard by the crew.

At 12.30 we got under way for New York passing down Nantucket Sound and taking our departure from Gay Head, made a straight run of 112 miles without changing course to Fire Island Light ship, and entered New York through the Main Ship channel, and made fast to the dock about 7.30 Sunday morning.

At all times while under way careful account was kept of the ship's position by dead reckoning, and this was checked at every opportunity by bow and beam bearings on all available points, and the junior officers and quartermasters thoroughly drilled in this method. The method of two bearings in connection with Bowditch's Tables was also used. The recent adjustment of the compass seems to have been well done, as all positions plotted well on the charts.

Owing to the fact that about one-half of the crew were recent recruits, and the petty officers aboard were junior officers who had had little opportunity to exercise command, none but elementary drills were practiced at length.

The commissary arrangements were unusually good, and there was no complaint whatever on this score.

There was no sickness or accident aboard, and as the weather was everything it could be wished, there being no fog and but one short rain storm, the cruise was one of the most enjoyable in the history of the division, and, owing to the care taken in giving instructions, and the opportunity given the men and the petty officers to learn their duties by frequent practice, with an opportunity to correct their mistakes, it was certainly one of the most profitable.

For further details, as to the courses steered, distance run and routine followed, I beg to refer you to the ship's log, which was kept with great care.

Respectfully,

KINGSLEY L. MARTIN,

Lieutenant.

SECOND SEPARATE DIVISION, N. M., N. Y., STATE ARMORY.
ROCHESTER, November 21, 1905.

On July 21st and 22nd, 1905, seventy out of seventy-one qualified as marksmen: thirty-five as sharpshooters, and since these dates, in supplementary practice, one man qualified as sharpshooter and expert, another as expert and distinguished expert, making the record for this year seventy marksmen: 36 sharpshooters: two experts and one distinguished expert.

Owing to the fact that the construction work at the Summerville Armory interfered with the use of that armory, there were no drills held there during the summer season of 1905, however some boat parties were made up for reconnaisance along the shore, and during the International Cup Races for the Canada's Cup the Naval Division launch, with a crew from this Division, had the duty of logging off the course and setting the buoys, which duty occupied the entire week.

During the year the following deaths occurred: Seaman John N. Sadler, died February 22, 1905. G. C. 1 C. Charles A. Ringland, died April 29, 1905. Seaman Raymond F. Caring, died August 25, 1905.

I would repeat my request in last year's report for an additional cutter, with oars and gear, also a good serviceable dingy, for the reason that I have not sufficient pulling boat capacity for my entire organization in the boats.

The work of betterments and improvements of the armory at the lake is very satisfactory and will be of immense value to the organization. There are a number of details of this work which are not as yet completed, but we feel that we will be comfortably and adequately housed in the ensuing year. The one feature for which we have made several applications that have not proved successful, and which seems eminently necessary to instruct the men in the habits of the sea, is the securing on the waters of Lake Ontario, at the Port of Charlotte, a vessel of some type which will meet the want of a training ship. I would call attention to the fact that the Naval Militia at five points on the chain of lakes, namely of Ohio (two), Michigan, Illinois and Minnesota, have received and are now enjoying the benefits of having such vessels. This is a matter which I desire to urge on the attention of the commanding officers of the Naval Militia.

Would further say that this organization is now in a position to rapidly fill up its ranks to the maximum strength allowed separate naval divisions.

Respectfully,

E. N. WALBRIDGE,

Lieutenant.

FURTHER REQUIREMENTS.

A new armory is required at Albany for Troop B. This organization has its quarters at present in the rear of and under the infantry drill shed of the armory occupied by the Tenth Regiment. These quarters were originally fitted up for and occupied by the late Third Signal Corps, the maximum strength of which was three officers and forty-eight enlisted men. The quarters are altogether too small and totally inadequate for the needs of the troop.

A new roof should be installed on the Albany Armory. Owing to the peculiar construction of the trusses in this building the movement of said trusses caused by expansion and contraction incident to the difference in temperature, continually breaks the slate and entails a large expense for repairs each year. Notwithstanding this fact the roof leaks almost continuously. The installation of a composition roof such as actinolite, sparham, or something similar would seem to be the most practicable and economical method of making the roof tight over the present trusses.

At the Hoosick Falls Armory a new mezzanine floor for lockers is required. The space in the administration part of the building is limited and the lockers should be removed from this part of the armory.

A mess hall and kitchen and additional radiation are required at Cohoes Armory. Also remodeling of the officers' quarters, and provisions made for additional and better toilet facilities.

A new heating plant is required at the Mount Vernon Armory.

The roofs of the Mohawk Armory require immediate attention; also the foundation walls require damp proofing in order to keep the basement dry.

Additional and better toilet facilities are required at the Malone Armory.

A grade entrance and improvements to the basement generally, so as to provide proper mess hall facilities, are required at the Utica Armory.

The rifle range at the Amsterdam Armory should be reconstructed.

At the Schenectady Armory a drainage system should be installed in the basement.

Rensselaerwyck Range—the barn on the property lately acquired at this range should be remodeled so as to provide a suitable range house.

Creedmoor Range—a new dwelling house should be erected for range keeper. The present State building should be remodeled so as to provide proper messing facilities for troops practicing on this range. The 300-yard pit should be rebuilt and a steel shield for the protection of adjoining property owners should be erected.

New field ranges are required at Catskill and Jamestown.

Alterations are required in the administration building of the Newburgh Armory.

Digitized by Google

Extensive repairs and improvements consisting of the reconstruction of the rifle range and changes in the administration building are required at the Twenty-third Regiment Armory, Brooklyn.

The administration building of the Forty-seventh Regiment Armory, Brooklyn, should be reconstructed and remodeled so as to provide larger and more convenient quarters for the companies of the regiment. These improvements will require a special appropriation.

The rifle range in the Hornellsville Armory should be reconstructed, mess hall and kitchen facilities provided, additional and better toilet and bath fixtures installed.

A new gallery should be installed in the Auburn Armory.

GENERAL REMARKS.

The Legislature at its last session provided for new armories at Oswego and Syracuse; for the purchase of additional land and for the enlargement and improvement of the armory at Geneva; and for the purchase of additional land at the Rensselaerwyck Rifle Range.

Sites have been selected and acquired for the new armories, and the additional land adjoining the armory at Geneva and at the Rensselaerwyck Range has been purchased. The drawings and specifications for armories to be erected at Oswego and Syracuse and for alterations at Geneva are being prepared by the State Architect, and it is expected they will be ready for submission to the Armory Commission early next year.

Work under all contracts for the enlargement and improvement of the Saratoga Armory has progressed rapidly and this building will be ready for use early in January.

New mess hall and rifle range have been installed in the Albany Armory in connection with other miscellaneous improvements at this building.

Under the contracts for improvements to the Catskill Armory the basement under drill shed has been excavated, new mess hall and boiler room provided, new heating apparatus and electric light service installed, an addition to the building forming new locker room erected, plumbing remodeled and the building generally renovated and improved.

Under contracts for improving the Kingston Armory new steel trusses in the drill hall will be substituted for wood trusses and a new roof provided. The locker rooms in administration building and officers' quarters remodeled and new lockers installed. The plumbing system throughout the building generally remodeled and made sanitary. The board of supervisors of Ulster County has recently installed new boilers in this armory.

A new heating system has been installed in the Malone Armory.

The new armory at Oneonta was accepted June 22 and turned over to the commanding officer, Third Separate Company. The Gloversville Armory was accepted July 17.

Work on the Sixty-fifth Regiment Armory at Buffalo was progressed as rapidly as practicable. Great difficulty was experienced in getting a sufficient amount of stone to complete the building owing to the failure of the quarry company where the stone was obtained. The building is however now entirely enclosed, the stone work having been completed in November.

The new armories being erected at Flushing and Binghamton are nearing completion.

At Rochester it became necessary to abandon the work in the erection of new armory owing to non-delivery of the steel trusses. The contractors furnishing these trusses promised to erect them early in the year. Work on the general contract will be resumed as soon as weather conditions permit.

The boathouse at Summerville occupied by the Second Separate Division, Naval Militia, was enlarged and new plumbing, heating and lighting apparatus installed during the year.

The Legislature at its last session passed an act which became a law May 18, 1905 (chapter 544), empowering the Armory Commission to convey to the City of Buffalo the old armory site and building upon the completion and occupancy of the new armory by the Sixty-fifth Regiment, National Guard.

Under the provisions of chapters 567, Laws 1898, and 642, Laws 1904, the old armory property in the City of Rochester was transferred to the city by deed November 2, 1905, the State however to retain the use and occupation of the premises conveyed until the completion of the new armory building now being erected at Rochester.

This Commission has been greatly handicapped in the past by the lateness in the season when appropriations for improvements and repairs became available.

Drills and military exercises in the armories are suspended during the summer months, during which time alterations and repairs to buildings are more conveniently and economically made and drills and military exercises are then not interrupted.

Digitized by Google

The appropriations of 1905 became available June 5, and by the time plans and specifications were prepared and contracts let work was not commenced at many of the armories until after drills had been resumed and much military work was interrupted owing to the fact that portions of armories were torn up and not available during these alterations and repairs. It is urgently recommended that appropriations become available early in the session of the Legislature that the above inconveniences may be overcome.

Respectfully,

F. A. McNEELY,
Secretary.

APPENDIX "M"

Report of the Honorable Richard Crowley, State Agent of War Claims.

LOCKPORT, N. Y., October 23, 1905.

Adjutant-General, State of New York, Albany, N. Y.

Sir—Your letter dated October 19, 1905, is received.

The condition of the War claims of the State of New York against the United States, called for in said letter, is fully stated in my annual report to you, dated December 31, 1904, and now on file in your office; also in my letter dated March 13, 1905,* to Governor Higgins, and which I assume he has on the files of his office, if not transmitted to you.

Those two (2) reports fully state the condition of our War Claims down to March 13, 1905, and I know of nothing I can add thereto down to that date.

As you know, the appropriation for conducting the prosecution of these claims was exhausted January, 1905, and no provisions existed therefor until the Legislature, just before its adjournment in April last, appropriated $3,000 to continue their prosecution.

You will remember that by letter dated March 20, 1905, my services as such agent and my salary therefor were suspended pending an appropriation available for that purpose.

In June, 1905, I was informed by letters from you dated June 6 and 16, 1905, that I was redesignated as State Agent, my appointment to date from June 6, 1905, at the rate of $200 per month for services, with actual expenses not exceeding $600 for the year.

Owing to the confused and uncertain situation existing relative to this matter not much was done between January, 1905, and June, 1905, except that during February and the first part of March, 1905, I prepared a supplemental statement of items held in abeyance or rejected by the accounting officers of the Department at Washington in the settlement of our claims growing out of the Spanish-American War. This involved going through the ten (10) Instalments of our claims and such items aggregated $10,414.42 and was authorized by the act of Congress, approved March 3, 1899, entitled "An Act to Reimburse the Governors of States and Territories for expenses incurred by them in aiding the United States to raise and organize and supply and equip the Volunteer Army of the United States in the existing war with Spain."

This instalment was duly certified by the Governor March 15, 1905, but did not reach me until after my services were suspended by your letter of March 20, 1905. No action has been had on such supplemental instalment.

Since my last annual report of December, 1904, and my report to the Governor of March 13, 1905, the Acting Auditor for the War Department has resettled the claim of our State at the sum of $118,585.84 for readjustment of interest on our war claims of 1812 against the United States. The payment of this amount will undoubtedly be provided for at the next session of Congress.

In August last, by letter dated August 15, 1905, I asked the Auditor of the Treasury for the War Department (as I had several times before done) to take up our Eleventh (11th) instalment of the Civil War Claims, amounting to $65,624.24, interest on $1,500,000 bonds, issued by our State under Chap. 456 of the Laws of 1862, and the proceeds of which bonds were used in arming and equipping troops during the Civil War.

The following is a copy of my letter:

The Honorable T. E. RITTMANN, Auditor of the Treasury for the War Department, Washington, D. C.:

Sir—I respectfully call your attention to the Eleventh (11th) instalment of the Civil War Claims, amounting to $65,624.24, being for interest paid on certain bonds issued by the State of New York under Chap. 456 of the Laws of 1862 of the State of New York, and filed in your office December 28, 1891, and for the reimbursement of such moneys under the Act of July 27, 1861 (12 Stat. 276 of the United States). Prior to the filing of said Eleventh Instalment the State of New York had filed a claim for interest paid on certain bonds issued by it and money borrowed by it to aid in the suppression of the rebellion under said Act of July 27, 1861. The government disputed its liability for interest on said prior claim and it was verbally understood and agreed, as I am informed and believe, by my predecessor who was agent for the State of New York and by the Department of Justice and the accounting officers of the Treasury Department, that action should be delayed upon said Eleventh Instalment of $65,624.24 until the decision of the courts on said prior claim involving the question of the United States' liability for interest. This prior claim was first heard in the Court of Claims at Washington and both sides appealed from the decision of that court to the Supreme Court of the United States. The Supreme Court of the United States held in favor of the State of New York and that our State was entitled to recover for interest paid by the State on its bonds and indebtedness incurred in aiding the United States Government to suppress the War of the Rebellion (the State of New York vs. The United States, October Term, 1895; Decision rendered January 6, 1896).

I was appointed State Agent for the State of New York by Governor Morton in the year 1896, and, after the decision of the United States Supreme Court in favor of our State, I asked the Secretary of War, by letter dated at Washington, February 17, 1897, to take up and adjust this second interest claim embraced in said Eleventh Instalment, and, by letter dated February 18, 1897, and directed to the Auditor of the Treasury for the War Department, I requested like action on his part on said Eleventh Instalment. The auditor by letter to me dated February 18, 1897, acknowledging the receipt of my request asked me to furnish: first, a duly certified copy of the State Act under which the bonds were issued; second, a duly certified schedule of the bonds, giving the numbers and dates of issue and dates of redemption; and, third, satisfactory evidence that the funds realized on the sale of the bonds were applied as described. On February 20, 1897, and by letter of that date, and enclosures, I furnished to the auditor the desired information.

Nothing was done by the accounting officers of the Treasury, so far as I have knowledge or information, concerning the settlement of said Eleventh Instalment, and on June 4, 1904, in a letter of that date to the auditor, I again asked that action be taken by the accounting officers on said claim and a final settlement made. Nothing further has been done concerning said claim by your Department and I now respectfully ask that you take the same up for consideration and settlement and I would also respectfully ask that you fix a date convenient to yourself when you will give me a hearing concerning said Instalment at your Department at Washington, should you deem it necessary so to do.

When I was last in Washington and saw you, some question arose as to the sufficiency of my appointment as State Agent under a recent Act of the Legislature of the State of New York, passed in 1904. You undoubtedly remember said conversation and within a few days thereafter you furnished me with copies of your correspondence with the then Attorney-General of the State of New York, Mr. Cuneen, concerning the same. During this past summer the Governor has redesignated me as State Agent in the settlement of War Claims of our State against the United States. I enclose you a letter from our present Attorney-General, Mr. Mayer, written to you upon my request concerning such redesignation.

Kindly let me hear from you at your earliest convenience upon this subject matter as it is one which should be settled.

Believe me,

Respectfully yours,

(Signed) RICHARD CROWLEY,

State Agent for War Claims of the State of New York.

Some days thereafter I received an answer to such letter from the Auditor, of which the following is a copy:

TREASURY DEPARTMENT, WASHINGTON, August 18, 1905.

Hon. RICHARD CROWLEY, Lockport, N. Y.:

Sir—This office is in receipt of your letter of the 15th inst., requesting that the Eleventh Instalment of the Civil War claims of the State of New York, amounting to $65,624.24, being for interest on bonds issued for the purpose of aiding the United States to raise volunteers, be taken up for adjudication, and in reply thereto you are informed that said claim will be examined and settled at the earliest practicable date. Should any further information be desired in connection with this claim, you will be called upon to furnish the same.

Your statement, and also the letter from the Attorney-General of the State of New York, relative to your reappointment as State Agent, are noted, and in that connection it is suggested that you file the original reappointment from the Governor, or a certified copy of the same, for the records of this office.

Respectfully,

(Signed) B. F. HARPER,

M.N.M. Auditor,

E.G.

Since that time I have not heard from the Auditor relative to said Eleventh Instalment Claim.

There is also pending, and undecided, before the Secretary of the Navy a balance of $14,296.86, being part of the expenses incurred by our State in New York Harbor during the Spanish-American

Digitized by Google

War. I have repeatedly asked that a decision be made concerning said balance but none has yet been made.

Since June last, at different times, I have been engaged in the preparation and examination of a petition and bill to be introduced in the Senate and House of Representatives at Washington at the session of Congress, commencing December next, and have prepared such bill and petition and have in shape all the facts relating thereto concerning the claim of our State against the United States for customs duties paid by our State to the United States on arms imported by our State and taken into the service of the United States during the Civil War. The amount of this claim is $49,457.57, but has been stated as a claim for $42,796.87 for the reason that one of the original vouchers has been lost. This claim can only be adjusted through Congressional action.

I have also since last June, with the aid of my clerk and typewriter, examined and prepared a petition and bill to be presented at the next session of Congress referring the suspended and rejected items of our Civil War Claims to the Court of Claims for hearing and adjudication. The amount of these suspended and rejected claims is between seven and eight hundred thousands of dollars ($700,000-$800,000), and it was necessary to go through each and every one of the twelve instalments of the Civil War Claims in order to prepare and intelligently present to the committees of the Senate and House the facts concerning such claims, and the reasons why the same should be referred to the Court of Claims, the accounting officers of the Treasury claiming that under existing laws and regulations they did not possess authority to settle the same.

It has been, and is, my intention, if I continue in the prosecution of these claims, to go to Washington at the opening of the next session of Congress to have the petitions and bills introduced and to appear before the appropriate committees and to give the time necessary, and to do what I can to secure the passage of such bills.

This in substance is the general situation of our Civil War Claims, the balances of our Spanish-American War Claims and the interest claim of the War of 1812.

Respectfully,

RICHARD CROWLEY,

State Agent War Claims of the State of New York.

LOCKPORT, N. Y., March 13, 1905.

The Honorable FRANK W. HIGGINS, Governor of the State of New York, Executive Chamber, Albany, N. Y.:

Governor—Through the courtesy of Mr. Pound and, as he informs me, with your approval, I have read a copy of the letter of the Attorney-General to you, dated March 7, 1905, relative to the war claims of our State against the United States.

FIRST.

As to the war claims of the War of 1812–15: Congress at its session ending March 4, 1905, passed what is known as the "Omnibus Claims Bill," and which contains a clause on page 38 of said bill directing the Secretary of the Treasury to resettle and readjust all claims of the State of New York for or on account of advances and expenditures made by the State in the war of 1812 to 1815 with Great Britain, and in computing interest on said advances shall apply what is known as the "Maryland Rule," adopted by Congress March 3, 1857. That rule is as follows:

"Interest shall be calculated up to the time of any payment made. To this interest the payment shall be first applied, and, if it exceed the interest due, the balance shall be applied to diminish the principal; if the payment shall fall short of the interest, the balance of interest shall not be added to the principal so as to reproduce interest. Second, interest shall be allowed on such sums only on which the State either paid interest or lost interest by the transfer of an interest-bearing fund."

By the title of said Omnibus Claims Act the Secretary of the Treasury is authorized and directed to pay, out of any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, to claimants in the Act named the several sums appropriated therein the same being full for and the receipt of the same to be taken and accepted in each case as a full and final release and discharge of their respective claims.

Under this Act upon a resettlement and readjustment of the claim of our State the same may be at once paid by the Treasury Department to our State without waiting for the action of the next or some succeeding Congress, providing there is money in the treasury not otherwise specifically appropriated.

In my judgment our State should be represented upon such resettlement and readjustment by some authorized agent unless we are prepared to accept what the auditing officers of the treasury may allow as to the amount advanced by our State to the United States and the dates of such advancements, and the dates and amounts of payments thereon by the United States to our State.

Digitized by Google

The present Auditor of the Treasury for the War Department, Mr. T. E. Rittman, in his report rendered to the United States Senate in the Second session of the Fifty-sixth Congress and numbered 2203, in calculating the balance due New York under this claim at $20,773.72 of principal, as of the date of October 26, 1826, follows the report sent by Secretary Windom of the Treasury Department to the United States Senate, at the Second Session of the Fifty-first Congress and dated December 17, 1890. That report gives the advances made by the State of New York to the United States as commencing July 23, 1812, and ending July 1, 1820, and give the payments by the United States to our State thereon as commencing February 3, 1819, and ending October 25, 1826, and makes the balance of principal due thereon October 26, 1826 as $20,773.72, the amount stated by Mr. Rittman in his report.

Other reports made by the Treasury Department to the Congress vary as to the amount of principal due the State of New York October 26, 1826. One gives it as $27,361.81.

For these reasons in the resettlement of said claim our Agent should examine the books and papers in the State Departments at Albany, and particularly in the Comptroller's office, to ascertain the amounts and dates of advances made by our State and the payments made by the United States thereon.

I note what the Attorney-General says in his letter to you concerning other attorneys. I know nothing concerning any attorney or attorneys connected with this claim, other than as hereinafter stated. I employed no one and have contracted no obligation on the part of our State therefor. Whatever I have done or may do therein is paid for in my annual compensation. Last December while in Washington Mr. Hackett, an Ex-Assistant Secretary of the Navy, being such assistant under Mr. Long when the latter was Secretary of the Navy, asked me if I could employ him in this matter. I stated to him that I had no authority to do so but if he would write me a letter I would submit it to the Governor for his consideration and that there was to be no liability unless the Governor approved of his employment. He wrote such a letter and I have furnished the Attorney-General and Adjutant-General with copies thereof. I knew of the pendency of this Omnibus Bill in Congress and knew that Mr. Hackett was the State Agent for Massachusetts and Maine and asked him to ask the committees of Congress to insert our State in such bill. In January, 1905, he wrote me that he had done so and that our State was included in the bill. The Attorney-General and Adjutant-General have copies of such letter. He is the only person of whom I know in connection with this claim in Washington or elsewhere.

As to the other claims of our State growing out of the war of 1812-15 at the verbal request of former Governor Odell I made to him a full and detailed statement of such claims, dated April 3, 1903, of which the following is a copy:

LOCKPORT, N. Y., April 3, 1903.

To the Honorable BENJAMIN B. ODELL, JR., Governor of the State of New York, and the Honorable NELSON H. HENRY Adjutant-General of the State of New York:

Sirs—Referring to our personal interview during the last days of March, at the Executive Chamber, Albany, relating to claims of volunteers and militia of the State of New York, called into the service of the United States in the War of 1812, and requesting me to state the general condition of such claims, the amount thereof, I beg leave to respectfully report as follows:

An Act of Congress approved May 8, 1792, entitled, "An Act more effectually to provide for the national defense by establishing an uniform militia throughout the United States."

Also an Act approved January 2, 1795, entitled, "An Act to regulate the pay of non-commissioned officers, musicians and privates of the militia of the United States, when called into the service of the United States and for other purposes."

Also an Act approved February 28, 1795, entitled, "An Act to provide for calling forth the militia to execute the laws of the United States, suppress insurrection, repel invasions and to repeal the act now in force for those purposes."

Also an Act of Congress, approved February 6, 1812, entitled, "An Act authorizing the Presidents of the United States to accept and organize certain volunteer militia corps."

Also an Act approved April 10, 1812, entitled, "An Act to authorize the detachment from the militia of the United States.

Also an Act approved February 29, 1813, entitled, "An Act authorizing the President of the United States to accept and organize certain volunteer military corps."

Also an act approved February 2, 1813.

Also an act approved April 20, 1818, entitled, "An Act to defray the expenses of the militia when marching to the place of rendezvous."

Are all the Acts of Congress bearing generally on this subject matter and provide for the enrollment and arming and pay of the militia of the States when called to the aid of the General Government.

After the close of the War of 1812 the Legislature of the State of New York, on April 21, 1818, passed an Act known as Chapter 270 of that session and entitled, "An Act for the relief of certain volunteers and militia called into the service for the defense of the frontiers of the States in the late war, and for other purposes."

And an Act of April 9, 1819, being chapter 117 of the Laws of that session, entitled, "An Act to authorize the payment of claims for services rendered and supplies furnished by the militia and volunteers of this State called into the service during the late war."

The next Act of our State Legislature is chapter 597, Laws of 1857 and following that the Legislature enacted chapter 176 of the Laws of 1859 and also following that enacted chapter 470 of the Laws of 1869; also chapter 524, Laws of 1870 and chapter 350, Laws of 1874.

Under chapter 176 of the Laws of 1859, the Adjutant and Inspector Generals of the State of New York audited and allowed, as a Board of Commissioners, 17,228 claims and there was also allowed and audited under the Act of 1872 forty-four additional claims.

Under these various acts of the Legislature claims have been audited and allowed amounting to about the sum of $2,250,000, and certificates for about that amount have been issued by the State.

Under chapter 470 of the Laws of 1869, chapter 524 of the Laws of 1870 and chapter 350 of the Laws of 1874, money was appropriated by the Legislature of the State to the extent of $250,000 for the redemption of these certificates and the balance of about $2,000,000 remains unprovided for.

The Comptroller's office has a full statement of the number and amounts of these $250,000 certificates, paid pro rata, under the Acts aforesaid and the balance unpaid of that amount has been covered back into the State Treasury.

I have from the Adjutant-General's office a book containing the names and amounts due the respective claimants aforesaid. The books in the Comptroller's office show the payments aforesaid.

The Legislature has not provided for the certificates aggregating about two millions of dollars ($2,000,000) and certificates for the same are outstanding and unredeemed.

The Congress of the United States by special Acts has settled claims growing out of the War of 1812 with Maine, Massachusetts, Maryland, Alabama, and Virginia.

In 1877 a General Act was introduced in the House of Representatives to adjust the claims of all the States growing out of the War of 1812, but no action appears to have been had thereon. These claims are now nearly a hundred years old and if our State should present to the General Government any claim therefor there must, in my opinion, be legislation by Congress to authorize the repayment to the State of the $250,000 of such part thereof as has been paid and also for the repayment of said $2,000,000 of outstanding certificates when our State shall have paid them.

It would seem but an act of justice that our State should redeem our outstanding certificates of indebtedness issued, growing out of the war of 1812.

These certificates were issued by State officers under acts of our Legislature and prima facie, are valid obligations against the State.

The foregoing is a brief and condensed statement of Claims growing out of the war of 1812 and I respectfully submit the same, under the verbal request stated in the beginning of this report.

Respectfully yours,

State Agent War Claims.

SECOND.

As to any claim or claims which our State may have against the United States growing out of raids from Canada of Confederate agents, officers, etc., during 1863 and 1864, they are wholly of an equitable nature and our State can secure nothing thereon or therefrom except by Congressional legislation.

THIRD.

As to the claims of our State against the United States for a refund of customs duties paid by our State to the United States on arms imported by the State, at New York City, in 1862–3, and taken into the service of the United States, I would state there is no question as to this being a just and equitable claim against the United States but it can now, in my judgment, be only secured by Congressional legislation.

The Claim should really be for $49,457.57 and the reason why it has been called a claim for $42,796.87 is that one of the original vouchers has been lost but I believe that proper evidence of such loss can be made and the claim should be made for the full amount of $49,457.57.

FOURTH.

I note what the Attorney-General says in his letter regarding the claims of our State against the United States for interest paid on $1,500,000 on interest bearing bonds issued by our State under Chap. 456, Laws of 1862. No demand for this claim is necessary.

On December 24, 1891, my predecessor filed with the Auditor for the War Department a claim for $65,624.24, as the Eleventh Instalment of the Civil War Claims, for interest paid by the State on such bonds. That claim was duly certified by David B. Hill, then Governor of our State, with vouchers, papers, telegrams, etc., in accordance with the rules of the United States adopted in 1861, governing the presentation of claims to the auditing officers of the Treasury Department. At that time our State had a claim pending in the courts at Washington to recover interest on interest bearing bonds for $3,000,000, issued by the State under Chap. 277 of the Laws of 1861, certified to the Court of Claims by the Secretary of the Treasury by authority of Section 1063 of the United States Revised Statutes, and it was verbally understood between the Department of Justice and the counsel representing our State that action on this claim of $65,624.24 might be delayed by the auditing officers until the decision of the Supreme Court was rendered in the suit therein pending to recover interest on the $3,000,000 interest bearing bonds. That decision was rendered in the Supreme Court at the term commencing in January, 1896, and was in favor of our State.

I was appointed State Agent of War Claims by Governor Morton in January, 1896, and on June 26, 1896, the United States paid to our State the payment for interest, amounting to $144,114.90. As soon thereafter as I could and by letter dated February 17, 1897, I called the attention of the Secretary of War to said judgment and its payment and to the understanding for delay in this claim for $65,624.24, and asked that the accounting officers of the Treasury take up such claim for its audit and settlement. I also by letter of February 18, 1897, directed to the Auditor of the War Department, asked that such claim be taken up by him.

By letter dated February 18, 1897, the Acting Auditor of the Treasury for the War Department asked for certain information concerning said claim which necessitated my going from Washington to Albany to examine the books and papers in the State Department there. I went to Albany and by letter dated February 20, 1897, I filed with the Auditor at Washington the information asked for in his letter of February 18, 1897, duly certified by the proper State officers. By a letter dated February 25, 1897, I asked the Auditor that inasmuch as the papers and books were numerous and voluminous that he designate some one from his Department to go to the city of Albany to make the necessary examination and offered to defray the necessary expenses of such person. The department declined to designate or permit any person to go for such purpose.

When the war with Spain broke out in April, 1898, action on the Civil War claims by the auditing officers was largely delayed until this past year and attention given to the War claims of the different States growing out of the Spanish-American war, and no action was taken on this claim until June 4, 1904, when by letter of that date to the auditor I asked him again to take up this claim, but no action has been taken upon it. There is no reason why it should not be settled and determined. The auditing officers have not passed upon the question whether the evidence furnished by me was or is sufficient or not. There has been no litigation regarding it, as the Attorney-General states in his letter.

FIFTH.

As to the Spanish war claims, their status has been fully explained in my annual reports to the Adjutant-General and in the communication which I handed you personally last December.

The following is a synopsis of the general status of the Spanish war claims:

There was collected in cash the sum of $574,406.83. There was returned to the State in arms, under an act of Congress, through the direction of Adjutant-General Hoffman, the entire amount of the third instalment, which was for $49,581.26.

On the settlement of the second instalment by the direction and with the approval of Adjutant-General Hoffman and Governor Roosevelt, there was withdrawn by way of compromise and settlement with the auditing officers of the War Department, the sum of $240,588.05.

There now remains unsettled and pending settlement before the officers of the departments at Washington the sum of $14,296.86 of our naval claims. This is now pending before the Secretary of the Navy.

The sixth instalment has not been audited nor yet acted upon. It amounts to $16,444.93.

There is also unpaid and suspended and pending settlement on the tenth instalment the sum of $757.84.

There is also embraced in a supplemental certificate, made up under the act of Congress approved April 27, 1904, various disallowed items in the first, fifth and eighth instalments, amounting to the sum of $10,414.42, making a total of $41,914.05.

Digitized by Google

There is of the Civil War claims, which has not yet been acted upon, the eleventh instalment, being for interest on $1,500,000 interest-bearing bonds.

In addition, and which has never been presented to the auditing officers of the Treasury, a just and equitable claim for customs duties paid on arms imported at New York in 1862–1863, of $49,457.57.

There is also of the Civil War Claims, which were presented in instalments numbered from 1 to 12, inclusive, balances which have been in part suspended and in part rejected by the accounting officers of the Treasury Department, between seven and eight hundred thousand of dollars ($700,000–$800,000) held up for want of proper evidence which the State has not yet furnished.

These can be collected, probably, only through Congressional action, and, in my judgment, the proper course to pursue relative to them is to ask Congress to pass a bill referring them to the Court of Claims with legal and equitable power to settle and determine them.

The same course, in my judgment, should be taken with reference to the certificates issued by our State growing out of the War of 1812–15, to the extent of at least the $250,000 which the State has paid, in part, at least, upon such certificates to the holders thereof.

The rules of the Treasury Department for the auditing of claims are very rigid. They were adopted as long ago as when Mr. Chase was Secretary of the Treasury, in 1861, and have remained in force ever since, except for a very short time when Mr. Foster was Secretary, who modified them in part, and under such modifications two of the instalments of the Civil War claims were considered, and claims which had been rejected under the rules of 1861 were conditionally allowed to the amount of upwards of $17,000, but before action was taken upon the other instalments his successor, Mr. Carlisle, Secretary under Mr. Cleveland's administration, rescinded Secretary Foster's modifications and restored the original rules, and no action in that direction has since been taken.

The Senate has passed a bill once or more allowing the payment of this $17,000 and upwards, but the same has never become a law.

From what I know of the sentiment of Congress from talks with Speaker Cannon and others, I believe Congress could be induced to pass a law referring all war claims which have been filed with the auditing officers of the Treasury Department and rejected and existing in behalf of the several states, growing out of the Civil War, to the Court of Claims for adjudication. They amount, all told, so far as I am able to gather, to a few millions of dollars.

Permit me also to respectfully state that, in my opinion, under the legislation of Congress relative to the presentation and payment of claims growing out of the Civil War and also the Spanish-American War, no state or territorial legislature has the legal right to invest any state officer or person other than the Governor and his duly authorized agents, to present and receive payment of such claims. The language of the Acts of Congress of 1861 and the joint resolution of 1862, and the Acts of 1898, 1899 and 1904, specify that these claims shall be prepared by and paid to the governor and his duly authorized agents, and to no one else, and no one else is named as possessing such authority.

This limitation does not apply to claims not arising under those two wars.

Respectfully yours,

(Signed) RICHARD CROWLEY.

State Agent War Claims.

The following communication was transmitted by the Governor to the Auditor of the United States Treasury:

STATE OF NEW YORK,

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,

ALBANY, NEW YORK, December 22, 1905.

I hereby certify, to the best of my knowledge and belief, that the State of New York has incurred expenses for services rendered by the officers and enlisted men of said State to and for the United States in the late war with Spain, commencing in April, 1898, and continuing part of said year. That such expenses were incurred and services rendered were necessary, just and reasonable in aiding the United States to raise the Volunteer Army in the then existing war with Spain, by subsisting, clothing, supplying, equipping, paying and transporting, and comfort of troops raised by said State and accepted into the service of the Volunteer Army of the United States in said war with Spain.

The said expenses and services were incurred and rendered in good faith and for the sole purpose of aiding the United States in the raising, organization, transportation, payment and equipment of troops and that the United States is liable for, and promised by Acts of Congress to pay for the same.

That no part of this claim is for interest on any money borrowed or used to pay interest on the same or any part thereof.

That this claim is based upon the Acts of the Congress of the United States approved July 8, 1898, and amended March 3, 1899, and further amended April 27, 1904, and also upon the Acts of May 26, 1898, and July 7, 1898, and is for the pay or compensation claimed to be allowed by the laws of the United States and of the State of New York to the officers and men of the National Guard, or Militia, or Naval Reserve, of the State of New York as pay for such officers and men as appeared and remained at the place of rendezvous and who were afterwards received into the service of the United States, for the period between the date of assembly at the rendezvous and the date they were mustered into the United States service, over and above any payments which they have already received, if any, for said period.

That the State of New York has filed with the accounting officers of the Treasury Department at Washington, D. C., ten (10) instalments, numbered from 1 to 10, inclusive, and that the same are now on file in the office of the auditor for the War Department, at Washington, D. C.

That from such instalments, and vouchers accompanying the same, fully appear the names of the officers and men who were mustered into the Volunteer Army of the United States in the war with Spain. the regiment and organization to which each belonged, the rank of the respective officers, the date of the assembly at the place of rendezvous, the date of the muster into the United States Military service, the pay of each officer and enlisted man, and at what rate and the amount thereof, and by whom paid. That among the vouchers accompanying said instalments were the pay rolls showing payment to such officers and men, and the muster-in rolls of such officers and men, and I, as Governor of the State of New York and the agent of such officers and men under the aforesaid acts of Congress, refer to, and make a part of, this, my certificate, and in support of this claim, said instalments and vouchers accompanying the said pay rolls and muster-in rolls, and the report of the Adjutant-General of the State of New York for the year 1898, all on file with the auditor of the War Department, at Washington, D. C.

And in support of said claim I submit the accompanying statement.

That said claims have not been paid or allowed by the United States to the State of New York, nor to the officers and men entitled to the same, nor to me, as such Governor, or as the agent for such officers and men, nor to my predecessors in office, or to their agent or agents.

From that report appears, as hereinbefore stated, the number of companies comprising each regiment, and the number of officers and men composing the same, and in each regiment; number of officers and men in each troop of Cavalry and each battery of Artillery, the date of assembly of each regiment, troop and battery, and each place of rendezvous and the date of muster into the military service of the United States.

That the date of assembling at the rendezvous and the date of entry and muster into the United States naval service of the Naval Militia of the State of New York, who entered such service, appears in the report of Captain J. W. Miller, Captain of the Naval Militia, to the Adjutant-General of the State of New York, under date of October 10, 1898, and found in the Report of the Adjutant-General for 1898, from pages 237 to 318, which report is herewith submitted and reference is especially made of said report from pages 249 to 288.

APPENDIX "O"

Report of Lieutenant-Colonel N. S. Jarvis, Surgeon, First Brigade, as a Delegate to the Annual Convention of the Association of Military Surgeons of the United States, at Detroit, Michigan.

HEADQUARTERS FIRST BRIGADE, N. G., N. Y.
NO. 50 EAST FIFTY-NINTH STREET,
NEW YORK, November 1, 1905.

To the Adjutant-General, S. N. Y.:

Sir—Having been designated by the Commander-in-chief as a delegate from this State to the annual convention of the Association of Military Surgeons of the United States, which met at Detroit, Mich., September 25–29, I have the honor to submit a brief resumé of its proceedings.

Delegates were present from 20 States, the several government departments and the following foreign countries: England (Army, Navy and Indian Medical service), Japan (Navy), China (Army and Navy), Mexico, France and Dominion of Canada. The presence of Dr. Suzuki, chief medical officer to Admiral Togo, Colonel Havard, U. S. A., one of the observers from the United States with the Russian forces, and Dr. Braisted, U. S. N., with the Japanese Navy, added much to the interest and value of the proceedings.

It is to be regretted that few of the papers touched upon service in the militia, the bulk of contributions being devoted to the war in the East. The latter papers however, in addition to the tragic interest associated with that calamitous conflict, reverse our traditional notions of war statistics.

erely a superficial review of these papers will be attempted in report; it will be seen that Dr. Suzuki's account embraces the ire period of the war from February 1904 to August 1905. The ed in the Japanese Navy totalled 1,891, wounded 1,791, died n wounds 117, or about 10 per cent. Fourteen hundred and ty-five deaths were due to shipwreck caused by mines. Only 563 n were killed in action; of the 1791 wounded, 647 required hospital atment and of these 32 died, about 5 per cent.

Dr. Suzuki condemned any unnecessary interference with wounds until the close of the action and then prompt removal of the badly wounded to the hospital ships. Only 30 per cent. of the wounded were treated by the first aid packet before removal to the operating room. He attributed their remarkable results to the following factors:

(1) The entire crew prior to an engagement was compelled to bathe and don clean clothing.

(2) The conscientious employment of aseptic methods, such as cleansing with normal salt solution, disinfection, when deemed necessary, with sublimate solution of alcohol, careful removal of all foreign particles. Above all, he emphasized the wisdom of saving the integument wherever possible over lacerated wounds, as encouraging prompt healing and greater protection from possible infection. Unless completely pulverized or detached from the periosteum, bony fragments were permitted to remain.

(3) The first aid packet, made up as follows: four pieces of sublimated gauze, 24 inches long, folded into a package 4 inches square. This was wrapped in Japanese paper and kept in a loose packet of "Shibukami," a Japanese paper fabric steeped in the juice of the bitter persimmon.

In addition to the crew proper, all hands on shipboard, such as clerks, servants, riggers, etc., were instructed in the use of the litter and first-aid methods, thus greatly relieving the fighting force.

A variety of stretchers are in use in the Japanese Navy. The traditional method of carrying their young and feeble on the back proves of great utility in such emergencies with those people.

The ears of the gunners were stuffed with sterilized cotton and the eyes frequently cleansed with boracic acid and solution, 1 per cent.

A large classification of wounded included 116 ruptured ear drums; 716 drowned; wounds of face and neck, 818; chest, 167; abdomen, 58; upper limbs, 625; lower limbs, 728; back, 189. Complete pulverization of scald or body, 527. The latter occurred when the Hatsuse and Takasagi were sunk.

Suzuki made the following useful suggestions: Large rolls of cotton for wrapping wounds; the employment of tailors' shears for prompt and easy removal of clothing; strong nippers for cutting zinc splints. The latter splints he said were found extremely useful in immobilizing wounds.

Colonel Havard, U. S. A., gave the Russian losses in four great battles, namely, Liauyang, Sandipu, Sha-ho and Moukden, as 24.21 per cent., while in the same battles the Japanese lost 12.27 per cent.

The ratio of killed to wounded with the Russians was as 1:3.96, with the Japanese, 1:4.5.

The Japanese casualties, derived from Japanese sources, he learned were 10,000 killed, 36,000 wounded. The average of killed and wounded from shrapnel fire among the Russians was 75 per cent. of the total, who required medical treatment.

During the year 1904, 130,439 Russians were reported sick or wounded in the military hospitals around Harbin.

During 1904, the number of Russians killed, exclusive of those at Port Arthur, reached 20,000 men, while those dead from disease were only 2,371, giving a ratio of 7:1, a more favorable showing than the Japanese offered.

During the year 1905, the Russian casualties were 100,000 wounded, 47,000 killed, while the deaths from disease were approximately 6,000; a ratio of 1:8. Of 28 perforating wounds of the abdomen reported, there were only seven deaths. Before the battle of Mukden 500 Russians met death from bayonet and sword wounds.

Surgeon Llyod Thomas, Royal Navy, gave an interesting resumé of his observations upon the injurious effect of gun fire on the English war vessels. In addition to simple rupture of the ear drums, permanent deafness is not uncommon. This condition, termed "gun deafness," is supposed to be due to injury of the fine nerve filaments in the internal ear. Various mechanical devices, such as plugging the external ear with vaseline, wax or cotton, have been tried, but their benefits seem dubious; moreover the men were not inclined to accept these means very cheerfully. There is an undoubted advantage in keeping the mouth open, thus increasing the column of air in the middle ear.

Dr. Louis Seaman, of New York, read an interesting paper containing some additional statistics as to the mortality in the Japanese Army. He quoted the Japanese Minister of War at Tokio in giving a mortality of 43,892 or 7 per cent. of the entire force engaged, wounded, 145,527, or 24 per cent.; four men were killed in battle to each one dying of disease.

Captain Charles Butler, M. V. M., in a valuable paper on camp hygiene, showed that urinal examinations of a large number of typhoid cases indicated that at least 21 per cent. pass infecting urine. He thus emphasized the wisdom of disinfecting the urine of the sick, and pleaded for greater caution in preventing the possibility of infection by careless saturation of the ground.

Surgeon Charles Stokes U. S. N., advocated the organization of a joint medical board from the army, navy and National Guard to suggest uniformity of methods, material and instruction of officers and men.

Surgeon Wm. Braisted, U. S. Navy, detailed as an observer with the Japanese Navy read extracts from an extremely valuable paper confirming the statistics of Dr. Suzuki and describing graphically the work in the great naval hospitals after the battle of the Japan Sea. His report it is understood will be published in the Navy department.

It is impossibly to incorporate in this brief review of the convention the interesting discussions which followed the reading of these papers. The convention adopted resolutions to be presented at the opening of Congress praying for the restoration of light wines and beer at the army canteens and for the increase of the army medical corps, etc.

In connection with the latter resolution, it was shown that while the Army has a war footing at 104,000 men and a peace footing at 65,000, its medical corps and hospital corps provide for the care of only 41,000.

In conclusion, it is worthy of mention that the newly elected president of the Association of Military Surgeons, Brevet-Lieutenant Colonel Albert Briggs is an officer of the New York National Guard. Although this State has more medical officers than any other in the Union, it is proverbially neglectful of the opportunities which these meetings offer. Usually two to four medical officers from New York, attend, while many of the western states, such as Illinois, have as many as six representatives.

Upon careful inquiry from many of the state medical officers, it was learned, that with few exceptions, the delegates were provided with traveling and hotel expenses, and in some instances drew State pay in addition for the time absent.

Too much encouragement cannot be given this progressive association and it is to be hoped that the next annual meeting in Buffalo, will show a large representation from the medical staff of this State. Surely if foreign governments, so remote as China, are conscious of the value of these meetings it does not speak well for the medical men of this State to so largely ignore them.

Very respectfully,

N. S. JARVIS,
Surgeon, First Brigade.

THIRTEENTH REGIMENT, HEAVY.

(Twelve Companies.)

(Attached to Headquarters National Guard.)

Armory, Corner Sumner and Jefferson Avenues, Brooklyn.

This regiment was organized July 5, 1847; there were changes in the organization a few years later, again in April, 1859, and in 1860. It was disbanded May 7, 1898, except one battalion of four companies, which had volunteered to enter the United States service; and authority was given to reorganize it May 15, 1898. November 28, 1898, such portion of the regiment as had been organized was disbanded, and authority was given to re-establish the regiment, the battalion which was in the United States service forming the nucleus of the new organization. Companies L and M were organized March 11, 1899; February 8, 1900, it was constituted a regiment of heavy artillery and designated 13th Regiment of Heavy Artillery of the National Guard, New York. The regiment was in the service of the United States for three months from April 23, 1861, and was mustered out August 6, 1861; again from May 28 to September 12, 1862, and for the third time from June 20 to July 20, 1863, for thirty days; it was in the State service during the Draft riots in July and August, 1863; the Orange riots, July 12, 1871; the Railroad riots, July, 1877; the Switchmen's strike at Buffalo, August, 1892; the Quarantine disturbances at Fire Island, September, 1892, and the Motormen's strike at Brooklyn, January, 1895. The battalion which volunteered to enter the United States service as part of the 22d Regiment, New York Volunteer Infantry, in the war with Spain, was mustered into such service May 24, 1898, and was mustered out November 23, 1898.

The regiment has received authority to place a silver ring on the lance of its National Color engraved as follows: Spanish-American War, 1898.

(Ten Companies.)

Armory, Park Avenue and Sixty-seventh Street, New York City.

Companies A, B, C and D were organized during the excitement created by the firing of British at American vessels off Sandy Hook in April, 1806, as the first, second, third and fourth companies, and June 25th they were officially recognized by the State as part of the uniformed militia of the State, and attached to the battalion of artillery commanded by Major Andrew Sitcher. April 5, 1807, the battalion, in the organization of the 3d Regt. of New York Artillery, became its 2d Battalion. When war with England became imminent in 1807, these four companies, with other volunteers, were temporarily organized as a regiment, commanded by Colonel Peter Curtenius, and remained thus detached until April 20, 1809. In 1812 the 3d became the 11th Regt. of Artillery, the four companies remaining the 2d Battalion. Aug. 25, 1824, the battalion was named "Battalion of National Guards" (its distinctive name until, in 1862, the Legislature appropriated it for the uniformed militia), and in December, 1824, the fifth company was organized and Captain Stevens' company of the 11th New York Artillery transferred to it as the sixth company. In January, 1825, the battalion was transferred to the 2d New York Artillery. Oct. 1, 1825, the battalion was detached and organized as a separate and independent battalion, and during the month the seventh company was organized. May 4, 1826, the organization of the eighth company was completed, and May 6th the battalion was organized into a regiment, the 27th Artillery. April 17, 1838, a troop of cavalry was admitted to the regiment, which, in 1861, became the ninth company. In 1843 the State furnished the regiment with arms, it having heretofore provided them itself. July 27th the designation of the regiment was changed to 7th Regt. In April, 1849, an engineer corps was organized, which, in 1861, became the tenth company. The regiment was frequently ordered to hold itself ready for service, and did active service for the United States, the State and New York city, as follows: In United States service from Sept. 15 to Dec. 15, 1812; from Sept. 2 to Dec. 2, 1814; from April 19 to June 3, 1861; from May 26 to Dec. 5, 1862; from June 17 to July 21, 1863. In support of State or municipal authority: Execution of James Reynolds, Nov. 19, 1825; at the Election riots, April 10, 1834; Abolition riot, July 11 to 12, 1834; Great conflagration in New York city, Dec. 17, 1835; Stevedore riot, Feb. 24, 1836; Flour riots, Feb. 6 and March 6, 1837; Anti-rent war, Dec. 9 to 10, 1839; Croton water riot, April 22 to 23, 1840; fire in New York city, July 19 to 21, 1845; Astor Place riot, May 10, 12 and 14, 1849; Police riot, June 16, 1857; Dead Rabbit riot, July 5, 1857; Quarantine war, Jan. 3, 1859; preserving order at camp of Spinola Brigade, Sept. 12 to 19, 1862; Draft riots, July, 1863; Orange riots, July, 1871; Labor riots, July, 1877; Motormen's strike, Brooklyn, January, 1895; and at strike, Croton Dam, April, 1900.

SIXTY-NINTH REGIMENT.

(Nine Companies.)

Armory, Third Avenue and Seventh Street, New York City.

The 69th Regiment was organized October 12, 1851. In 1858 it was reorganized as an artillery regiment, doing duty as infantry. It was mustered in the United States service May 9, 1861, at Washington, D. C., to serve three months, and mustered out August 3, 1861, during which service it took part in actions at Blackburn's Ford and Bull Run. In August, 1861, about 800 men of this regiment joined the 69th N. Y. Vols., to serve three years. The regiment was again recruited and re-entered the service of the United States May 26, 1862, to serve three months; it was mustered out of service September 3, 1862. On the return from this service again the major part of the regiment entered the service of the United States for three years as the 69th National Guard Artillery, or 182d N. Y. Vols. The regiment having been reorganized, was mustered in the service of the United States for thirty days, from June 25 to July 25, 1863. July 6, 1864, it was again mustered in the United States service for three months, and mustered out October 6, 1864. The regiment has rendered the State service during the Quarantine riots in 1858; the Draft riots, 1863, and the Quarantine disturbances in 1892. It was reduced December 6, 1893, to a battalion of five companies, A, C, D, I and K. The battalion was on duty at Brooklyn during the Motormen's strike in January, 1895. New companies were organized for the battalion as follows: Co. B, June 5, 1894; Co. G, June 10, 1895; Co. E, June 11, 1895, and Co. F, September 7, 1900. The battalion was reconstituted a regiment September 4, 1895. April 28, 1898, the regiment received authority to organize as a twelve-company regiment, preparatory to its entry in the United States service, in which service it was mustered May 19, 1898, as the 69th Regiment, N. Y. Vol. Inf., and mustered out January 31, 1899. Companies L and M were disbanded April 12, 1899; Co. F, February 8, 1900, and Co. B, March 5, 1900. Co. F was reorganized and mustered in May 31, 1900.

UNITED STATES NAVY PAY TABLE.

ACTIVE LIST: OFFICERS OF THE LINE OF THE NAVY.

RANK.	On sea duty or shore duty beyond sea.	On shore.
Captains	$3,500 00	$2,975 00
Commanders	3,000 00	2,550 00
Lieutenant-Commanders	2,500 00	2,125 00
Lieutenants	1,800 00	1,530 00
Lieutenants, (junior grade)	1,500 00	1,275 00

REMARKS.

1. All officers paid under this table below the rank of rear-admiral are entitled by law to 10 per centum upon the full yearly pay of their grades for each and every period of five years' service, as increase for length of service, or "longevity pay," computed upon their total actual service in Army, Navy and Marine Corps; provided that the total amount of such increase shall not exceed 40 per centum upon the full yearly pay of the grade; and provided further that the pay of a captain in the Navy shall not exceed $4,500 per annum, and that of a commander in the Navy $4,000 per annum.

2. Naval officers of the line, Medical and Pay Corps receive 15 per centum less than the full pay (salary and increase) of their rank when on shore, and full pay when on sea duty or when detailed for shore duty beyond seas. The reduction of pay on shore does not apply to chief boatswains, chief gunners, chief carpenters and chief sailmakers, who receive full pay on shore also.

3. Section 13 of the act approved March 3, 1899, entitled "An act to reorganize and increase the efficiency of the personnel of the Navy and Marine Corps of the United States," is hereby so amended as to provide that nothing therein contained shall operate to reduce the pay which, but for the passage of said act, would have been received by any commissioned officer at the time of its passage or thereafter. (Act June 7, 1900.)

4. Officers of the line, Medical and Pay Corps of the Navy retired prior to the passage of the act approved March 3, 1899, continue to receive the same pay on the retired list that they received before the passage of said act. Those retired subsequently receive 75 per centum of pay (salary and increase) of their rank.

(a) During a period of twelve years from the passage of this act any naval officer on the retired list may, in the discretion of the Secretary of the Navy, be ordered to such duty as he may be able to perform at sea or on shore, and while so employed shall receive the pay and allowances of an officer of the active list of the grade from which he was retired. (Act June 7, 1900.)

5. ALLOWANCES.—The monthly commutation allowance for quarters of the Admiral of the Navy is fixed by law at $125. All other commissioned officers of the line and of the Medical and Pay Corps of the Navy, and all officers of the Marine Corps, receive the same allowances, except forage to naval officers, as are or may be provided by or in pursuance of law for the officers of corresponding rank in the Army. When quarters in kind are not supplied, commutation is allowed therefor at the rate of $12 per month per room.

Prohibiting Discrimination Against Members of the National Guard.

PENAL CODE.

§ 171b. A person, who, either by himself or with another, wilfully deprives a member of the national guard of his employment, or prevents his being employed by himself or another, or obstructs or annoys said member of said national guard, or his employer, in respect of his trade, business, or employment, because said member of said national guard is such member, or dissuades any person from enlistment in the said national guard by threat of injury to him in case he shall so enlist in respect of his employment, trade, or business, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

§ 171c. No association or corporation, constituted or organized for the purpose of promoting the success of the trade, employment, or business of the members thereof, shall by any constitution, rule, by-law, resolution, vote, or regulation, discriminate against any member of the national guard of the State of New York because of such membership in respect of the eligibility of such member of the said national guard to membership in such association or corporation, or in respect of his right to retain said last mentioned membership; it being the purpose of this section and the section immediately preceding to protect a member of the said national guard from disadvantage in his means of livelihood and liberty therein but not to give him any preference or advantage on account of his membership of said national guard. A person who aids in enforcing any such provision against a member of the said national guard with the intent to discriminate against him because of such membership, is guilty of a misdemeanor.
